Habitual tardiness (three (3) unexcused tardies per component course) will be grounds for dismissal. Attendance is recorded at every session.

Absences for reasons other than illness or bereavement will not be excused. The daily demonstration of the Montessori equipment is unique and requires the presence of the student teacher to assimilate the information.

In addition, the student must make arrangements with the instructor to see the presentations during practice sessions if presentations have been missed.

If a student must take a leave of absence for more than the twelve (12) allowed hours, the student will not be allowed to complete the particular component(s) or sit for the incomplete component(s) final exam. Thereby meeting the attendance requirements necessary to receive their diploma.

Practicum Phase- No part of the student teaching practicum may precede the student's entry into academic coursework, student teaching must be preceded by sufficient and appropriate coursework to prepare the student for a successful experience. The general requirement for the practicum phase is 540 hours. Practice teaching is a mandatory component of the course. Students are required to practice teach under supervision, for one academic year (nine months). Attendance is recorded on a daily basis.

The materials are self-correcting and are structured so as to meet the need of each period of growth and development.

Work with these materials promotes the sensorial development required for the successful mastery of writing, reading and mathematics skills. The materials also provide an opportunity to present classified nomenclature which enriches the child's vocabulary with terms and concepts related to the content areas of language arts, math, geometry, geography and biology. Students will observe an on-site laboratory classroom where children are working with the materials.

A theoretical framework for understanding the physiological and psychological stages of development of the child will be discussed. The sensitive periods of development, the most powerful time for learning, will be explained and the use of materials that enhance development during those critical periods of growth will be demonstrated. Teaching strategies for the presentation of all the manipulative material will be modeled. Students will have hands-on experience with all the materials and will receive lesson plans for every presentation.

CLASS SEQUENCE:

The scientific foundations for effective teaching, which deal with the relationships between child development and the learning process, will be discussed. The ways in which these concepts can serve as the integrating principle for the effective teaching of children from 2 ½ - 6 years of age will be explained. Students will be taught to prepare the learning environment and to present materials which have been designed to help children refine their five senses and to develop their sensorial and perceptual skills.

This content-based language arts program is integrated with the content area of Geography, Biology, Social Studies, Geometry and Mathematics. This structured sequence of activities makes it possible for children to achieve maximum development of language and literacy skills at the same time that they are building vocabulary, developing classified nomenclature and learning concepts related to the content areas of the course. Students will have opportunities to observe an on-site laboratory classroom where children are working with the materials.

A theoretical framework for the acquisition of language and literacy skills in the primary language will be discussed.
