Delancey Street Academy's approval to operate as a private post-secondary school in the State of California is based on provisions of the California Private Postsecondary Education Act (CPPEA) of 2009, which was effective January 1, 2010. The Act is administered by the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education, under the Department of Consumer Affairs. Delancey Street Academy is a private institution and is approved to operate by the BPPE and that approval to operate means compliance with the standards as set forth in the CEC and 5, CCR.

Mission Statement

Delancey Street Foundation provides long-term residential housing and vocational training, education and basic life skills to former drug/alcohol abusers, homeless and others. Residents obtain a minimum of high school equivalency and gain on the job and life skills needed to return to various communities as decent, law abiding citizens.

What We Believe

First and foremost, we believe people can change. When we make a mistake we need to admit it and then not run from it, but stay and work to fix the mistake. And though no one can undo the past, we can balance the scales by doing good deeds and earning back our own self-respect, decency, and a legitimate place in mainstream society.

We believe that people can learn to live drug free, crime free lives of purpose and integrity. Rather than following a medical model or a therapeutic model, we've developed an educational model to solve social problems. We teach people to find and develop their strengths rather than only focusing on their problems.

Rather than solving one issue at a time (e.g., drugs or job skills) we believe that all aspects of a person's life interact, and all people must interact legitimately and successfully with others to make their lives work. Delancey Street is therefore a total learning center in which residents learn (and teach) academics, vocational skills, and personal, interpersonal, practical and social survival skills. We believe the best way to learn is to teach; and that helping others is an important way to earn self-reliance. Person A helps person B and person A gets better.

Delancey Street functions as an extended family, a community in which every member helps the others with no staff of experts, no "program approach". Everyone is both a giver and a receiver in an "each-one-teach-one" process.

Economic development and entrepreneurial boldness are central to our model's financial self-sufficiency and to teaching residents self-reliance and life skills.

Delancey Street is value-based in a strong traditional family value system stressing the work ethic, mutual restitution, personal and social accountability and responsibility, decency, integrity and caring for others in a pro bono public approach.

Overview

History

In 1971 Delancey Street began with 4 residents, a thousand dollar loan, and a dream to develop a new model to turn around the lives of people in poverty, substance abusers, former felons, and others who have hit bottom, by empowering the people with the problems to become the solution.

We began by taking residents into a small apartment in San Francisco, run by an ex-felon, John Maher, a visionary, fiery orator and charismatic leader. Rather than following the traditional non-profit model of hiring a staff and procuring funding, we chose instead to follow an extended family model. Those of us who could work did traditional jobs and contributed our salaries. (Mimi Silbert, for example, had a doctorate in Criminology and had numerous consulting, teaching and other professional experiences. She worked and contributed her salary.) Everyone did something to contribute to our community. Someone who could cook became our “head chef”. Someone who knew how to hold a hammer became the “head of construction”. Whoever could read tutored those who could not. We pooled our talents and our funds and within 2 years, we purchased our first building and had 80 residents, all learning, teaching and helping each other.

In 1978 we bought a 17-acre ranch within a reservation on the San Juan Pueblo, in northern New Mexico and opened our first “satellite” campus. We brought 15 residents from San Francisco, ranging in stay from 5 years to 5 months and using the same process we started with in San Francisco, whoever could cook became the head of Food Service, whoever had held a hammer became the Head of Construction.

Along the way, we started business training schools like a moving school and a restaurant that would teach our folks marketable skills, encourage positive interactions between our residents and people in the communities where we lived, and provide funding for Delancey Street by pooling all monies we earned. In 1973 we were awarded a federal charter with the National Credit Union Administration as the first credit union run by and for ex-convicts.

We became active in community issues. John Maher was a consistent speaker at Cesar Chavez’s Farm Worker rallies. Mimi Silbert developed police training programs where Delancey Street residents enacted simulated crime scenes and took the cases all the way through to moot courts to help train police recruits. We spoke at schools to do drug and crime and violence prevention, and took seniors on day trips. We developed a Delancey “Insecurity Service” where we used former thieves to teach business owners how to better protect their merchandise from future thieves. We were helping our community and our community was helping us. Doctors and dentists and hair stylists started volunteering services. Corporations started donating products and friends donated money. People started using our moving school and buying trees from the lots we set up every Christmas. Our little moving school grew from one rented truck to some purchased big rigs and we began setting up Christmas tree lots up at every facility around the country as we garnered community support. Some of our first graduates were back in the community driving trucks and programming computers. Our academic classes started expanding from just high school equivalency to liberal arts college classes. We were struggling but we were slowly helping one another turn our lives around to become productive members of the mainstream of society.

More than 48 years later we remain true to our mission. We have been taking in as residents representatives of our society's most serious social problems and, by a process of each one helping another, with no professionals, no government funding, and at no charge to the clients, we have been solving these problems: generations of poverty, illiteracy, lack of job skills, hard core substance abuse, homelessness, crime, violence, teen pregnancy, and emotional and physical abuse. After an average of 4 years (a minimum stay of 2 years), our residents gain an academic education, 3 marketable skills, accountability and responsibility, dignity, decency, and integrity.

Location of Classes:

600 Embarcadero
SF, CA 94107

The Delancey Street Academy is housed in a complex built by the Delancey Street Foundation at 600 Embarcadero Street. This facility, facing the waterfront in the newly developing South Beach neighborhood of San Francisco, contains state-of-the art classrooms.

All courses are taught as a combination of classroom and experiential instruction. Classroom instruction will occur at one office designated rooms, each for small discussion purposes, holding about 20 to 25 people. Lectures occur in the Screening Room holding 150 students with state-of-the-art video, audio, and film capabilities. Large lectures are held in the Town Meeting Hall, holding up to 500 students. One specific classroom is developed as a Computer Learning Center for special instruction in computer literacy. This room is equipped with various computers, printers and software. Additionally, a special room was built for simulation training. Here, in a room holding 50 people, a video taping area has been designed so that role-playing can be video taped and played back for detailed instruction in fields such as customer relations in the moving and sales field. Experiential learning occurs in the appropriate setting for each skill being taught. For example, culinary skills are taught in a full service restaurant on the Embarcadero premises. You will find the classroom information under the programs in the course catalog.

Progress Policy and Academic Progress

Satisfactory academic progress is necessary in order to receive a certificate from Delancey Street Academy. Satisfactory progress is measured on a modular basis. The Academy defines all students maintaining the following standards as “making satisfactory progress”:

1. A student must have a minimum of “satisfactory” for each semester or “module” The grading system by which the student is evaluated is “fail” “satisfactory”, “average” , “excellent” , “pass” , and “fail”. More than one “fail” will force the student to repeat the class. Evaluation for satisfactory progress will be made at the completion of each semester or “module” of instruction. Delancey Street Academy charges no tuition and students do not receive financial aid, so academic progress does not affect you financially.
2. Students who do not pass with a satisfactory will not receive a certificate at the end of the Delancey Street program.

Conditions for interruption for unsatisfactory progress: When the progress of a student is unsatisfactory for a semester (4 months), the student will be placed on probation. If, during the next semester the student's progress is still unsatisfactory, the student can be interrupted at the discretion of the Academy management. Reenrollment will be approved only after evidence is shown to the Director's satisfaction that the conditions, which caused the interruption for unsatisfactory progress, have been rectified.

Final Examinations

All educational programs offered will have a final examination during the last week of classes. California statute requires that a student who successfully completes a course of study be awarded an appropriate certificate/diploma verifying the fact.

Student Tuition Recovery Fund

The State of California established the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (SFRF) to relieve or mitigate economic loss suffered by a student in an educational program at a qualifying institution, who is or was a California resident while enrolled, or was enrolled in a residency program, if the student enrolled in the institution, prepaid tuition, and suffered an economic loss. Unless relieved of the obligation to do so, you must pay the state-imposed assessment for the STRF, or it must be paid on your behalf, if you are a student in an educational program, who is a California resident, or are enrolled in a residency program, and prepay all or part of your tuition.

Since no fees are charged to students, students will not need to participate in the Student Tuition Recovery Fund and there will not be a state imposed assessment for the Student Tuition Recovery Fund.

You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are not a California resident, or are not enrolled in a residency program.

It is important that you keep copies of your enrollment agreement, financial aid documents, receipts, or any other information that documents the amount paid to the school. Questions regarding the STRF may be directed to the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education, 2535 Capitol Oaks Drive, Suite 400, Sacramento, CA 95833, (916) 431-6959 or (888) 370-7589.

To be eligible for STRF, you must be a California resident or are enrolled in a residency program, prepaid tuition, paid or deemed to have paid the STRF assessment, and suffered an economic loss as a result of any of the following:

1. The institution, a location of the institution, or an educational program offered by the institution was closed or discontinued, and you did not choose to participate in a teach-out plan approved by the Bureau or did not complete a chosen teach-out plan approved by the Bureau
2. You were enrolled at an institution, or a location of the institution within the 120 day period before the closure of the institution or location of the institution, or were enrolled in an educational program within the 120 day period before the program was discontinued.
3. You were enrolled at an institution or a location of the institution more than 120 days before the closure of the institution or a location of the institution, in an educational program offered by the institution as to which the Bureau determined there was a significant decline in the quality or value of the program more than 120 days before closure.
4. The institution has been ordered to pay a refund by the Bureau but has failed to do so.
5. The institution has failed to pay or reimburse loan proceeds under a federal student loan program as required by law or has failed to pay or reimburse proceeds received by the institution in excess of tuition and other costs.
6. You have been awarded restitution, a refund, or other monetary award by an arbitrator or court, based on a violation of this chapter by an institution or representative of an institution, but have been unable to collect the award from the institution.
7. You sought legal counsel that resulted in the cancellation of one or more of your student loans and have an invoice for services rendered and evidence of the cancellation of the student loan or loans.

To qualify for STRF reimbursement, the application must be received within four (4) years from the date of the action or event that made the student eligible for recovery from STRF.

A student whose loan is revived by a loan holder or debt collector after a period of noncollection may, at any time, file a written application for recovery from STRF for the debt that would have otherwise been eligible for recovery. If it has been more than four (4) years since the action or event that made the student eligible, the student must have filed a written application for recovery within the original four (4) year period, unless the period has been extended by another act of law.

However, no claim can be paid to any student without a social security number or taxpayer identification number.

Delancey Street Academy charges no tuition and no fees, loans, grants, or trade is owed from the student during the entire school period. All housing, books, tests, are free of charge to the Delancey Street Foundation resident. Although the information for the STRF is made available in this catalog, it does not apply in the case of Delancey Street.

Refund Policy

Although CEC 94920 states that an institution should provide mandatory cancellation, withdrawal, and refund policies, Delancey Academy does not collect any fees and thus a refund policy is not applicable.

Academic Information

The education is provided at no charge and therefore does not offer state or federal financial aid assistance to students. Delancey Street Foundation will act as the sponsor for all student-related fees for the Academy, such as supplies and required textbooks.

If a student obtains a loan to pay for an educational program the student will have to repay the full amount of the loan plus interest, less the amount of any refund, and that, if the student receives federal student financial aid funds, the student is entitled to a refund of the money's not paid from federal financial aid funds. HOWEVER, Delancey Street academy charges $0 for all education and educational materials. No student of Delancey Street Academy, while enrolled in the institution, will request or receive state or federal funding.

Students may enroll any day, as instruction is offered in continuous modules, allowing students entry at any time. A student must be a resident of the Delancey Street Foundation

If the certificates that you earn at this institution are not accepted at the institution to which you seek to transfer, you may be required to repeat some or all of your coursework at that institution. For this reason you should make certain that your attendance at this institution will meet your educational goals. This may include contacting an institution to which you may seek to transfer after attending Delancey Street Academy to determine if your certificate will transfer.

Delancey Street Academy is a process of the Delancey Street Program. There is no award of credit for prior experiential learning.
