History, Minor

The history minor is designed to be flexible so that students may focus on a tailored course of study. There are no prerequisites: Complete five history courses (20 semester hours), of which at least two must be at or above the 2000 level and must be taken at Northeastern. Students are encouraged to choose a cluster of courses around a particular theme. Existing themes include global conflict and war, ancient and early modern worlds, global cultural history, public history, commodities and capitalism, and global security. Students may also focus on particular areas such as the Americas, Europe, East Asia, and Africa.

Minor Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified.

Required Courses

Complete five history courses, of which at least two must be taken at Northeastern and must be numbered HIST 2000 or higher. History minors must have a total of 20 semester hours in history.

GPA Requirement

2.000 GPA required in the minor

Human Services

Website (<https://cssh.northeastern.edu/humanservices/>)

The program in human services strives to provide a holistic educational experience for our students, preparing them for a career in social change by providing the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Consistent with the College of Social Sciences and Humanities' Experiential Liberal Arts (p. 1557) emphasis, our students combine Northeastern University's signature focus on experiential learning, grounded in cooperative education, with the rigorous study of society, culture, politics, and ethics in a way that is mutually reinforcing. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, and internship opportunities. Upon completion of the degree, students apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development.

Human Services, BA

The human services major prepares students for careers in social change by providing the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Upon completion of the degree, students apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Students have an opportunity to develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at individual and structural levels. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, and internship opportunities. All students declare a specialization within the major that reflects their particular focus in the field.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Political Science and Human Services, BA

The combined degree is designed to prepare students with skills and tools to advocate for social issues at all levels of society. Human services program students prepare for fields in the social change arena (nongovernment organizations [NGOs], counseling, and political advocacy). Political science students prepare to change and shape the domestic and international political landscape in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, internship, and study-abroad opportunities. Upon completion of the degree, successful students apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Successful students are positioned to pursue law school, graduate school, careers in government and the nonprofit sector, as well as in teaching, journalism, legislative or lobbying positions, public relations activities, and work in international corporations and NGOs.

Human Services and Sociology, BA

Students pursuing a combined major in human services and sociology will integrate the theoretical understandings of these two fields to better understand organizational and group behavior and their implications for individuals and communities utilizing human services. The human services coursework prepares students for careers in social change by providing students with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. The sociology coursework prepares students to rigorously analyze the social, political, and economic spheres of society at the local and global levels. Students will develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at the individual and structural levels. The combined major provides students with the conceptual and practical tools to understand how various features of society affect its members as well as how people create social change.

Human Services, BS

The human services major prepares students for careers in social change by providing the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Upon completion of the degree, students apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Students have an opportunity to develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at individual and structural levels. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, and internship opportunities.

American Sign Language and Human Services, BS

American Sign Language (ASL) is estimated to be the third most used language in the United States and its visibility in society is on the rise in recent years. There are roughly 500,00 to 2,000,000 Deaf, DeafBlind, or hard of hearing people in the United States who use ASL as their primary language, and a large number of non-Deaf signers use or learn ASL as a second language. A disproportionate percentage of Deaf people experience socioeconomic disadvantage due to their dual status as members of both a cultural linguistic minority group and a disability group. As a result, there is a broad societal misunderstanding of Deaf, signing people's minority language and culture—their lived experience—which creates barriers to educational and economic opportunity. While state and federal legislation enables improved civic engagement by Deaf, hard of hearing, and DeafBlind individuals, there is continued need to elevate quality of life, equity, and the rich contributions of the diverse members of the American Deaf communities.

The Bachelor of Science in American Sign Language and Human Services is an integrated program of study dedicated to preparing individuals to interact in a positive and supportive manner with members of the American Deaf Community. The curriculum is designed to assist students in acquiring competence in ASL, developing an understanding of the diverse American Deaf communities and Deaf culture, and applying linguistic and sociocultural skills and knowledge to the discipline of human services, in order to contribute to civic engagement and social justice for Deaf people.

The combined major offers a wide array of courses as well as volunteer, internship, and practicum opportunities to learn from Deaf people's lived experiences through community and industry connections. The program provides opportunities that will allow students an opportunity to acquire the linguistic, cognitive, and ethical decision-making skills as well as the sociocultural knowledge necessary to work in Deaf Community, sign-language-related disciplines. Students pursuing a combined major in human services integrate their foundation in ASL and the Deaf Community with human service organizations.

Economics and Human Services, BS

This combined degree in human services and economics provides students with the opportunity to obtain the skills and knowledge related to each of these areas of study and an in-depth understanding of how these fields inform and impact each other. The study of economics provides students with an understanding of how individuals, firms, governments, and other organizations behave and interact with each other at both a macro and micro level. The study and practice of human services organizations focus on the impact of economic conditions on individuals, families, and communities. Human services organizations and policies use economic theory to inform responses to societal and economic challenges. Students will pair this knowledge with an understanding of how economics uses data and economic reasoning to help decision makers, businesses, and governments develop better public policy. This degree provides students with both the theoretical and practical curricula utilizing interdisciplinary thinking about inequality and nonprofit/government responses.

Human Services and Communication Studies, BA

The intersection of human services and communications studies spans several domains. Nonprofit organizations depend on communications professionals to effectively represent their work to the community, partner organizations, and funders. Knowledge and skills developed in communications studies also service human services professionals working in the political realm as they seek to promote impactful social policies.

The human services and communication studies combined major is designed to prepare students for careers in social change by providing them with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Students will develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at the individual and structural levels. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, and internship opportunities.

Human Services and Criminal Justice, BS

A combined major in human services and criminal justice appeals to students interested in the intersection of social and legal issues and institutions. The human services major prepares students for careers in social change by providing students with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Students with criminal justice course work gain a rigorous interdisciplinary and experiential education in the causes and consequences of crime and the responses of criminal justice. The addition of human services course work complements a criminal justice perspective and considers the role of social services and community-based organizations to prevent, intervene, and treat the causes and consequences of crime. The degree allows students to combine interests in the justice system, political advocacy, and community development. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, and internship opportunities.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Human Services and Psychology, BS

Overview

Students pursuing a combined degree in human services and psychology integrate the theoretical frameworks and skills relevant to both of these areas of study. This degree curricula focuses on clinical and policy interventions that promote wellness on the individual and community levels. Situated in a social justice framework, this curricula emphasizes how structural forces impact psychological and social well-being, barriers to treatment, and inequities in mental health outcomes. Through courses, service-learning, co-op, and research experience, students synthesize theoretical knowledge with practical skills used when working with individuals across the life span and in multiple settings.

Human Services and Sociology, BS

Students pursuing a combined major in human services and sociology will integrate the theoretical understandings of these two fields to better understand organizational and group behavior and their implications for individuals and communities utilizing human services. The human services coursework prepares students for careers in social change by providing students with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. The sociology coursework prepares students to rigorously analyze the social, political, and economic spheres of society at the local and global levels. Students will develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at the individual and structural levels. The combined major provides students with the conceptual and practical tools to understand how various features of society affect its members as well as how people create social change.

Program Requirements

Political Science and Human Services, BS

The combined degree seeks to prepare students with skills and tools to advocate for social issues at all levels of society. Human services program students are well positioned to pursue fields in the social change arena (nongovernment organizations, or NGOs; counseling; and political advocacy). Political science students are also well positioned to change and shape the domestic and international political landscape in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, internship, and study-abroad opportunities. Upon completion of the degree, students can apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Successful students are poised to pursue law school, graduate school, careers in government and the nonprofit sector, as well as in teaching, journalism, legislative or lobbying positions, public relations activities, and work in international corporations and NGOs.

Human Services, Minor

The human services minor is designed to prepare students for careers in social change by providing the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. Students have an opportunity to develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at individual and structural levels. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning. The minor provides a nice complement to students who are interested in the role of social change through counseling, nonprofits interventions, or social policy as it relates to their major.

The minor in human services may help lead to careers in many diverse areas of social change or to graduate programs in social work, health, counseling, rehabilitation, and law. Human services professions are among the fastest-growing occupations in the nation. Society recognizes the necessity, value, and reward of dedicating time and energy to helping people and communities. Combining a human services minor with any major gives students the opportunity to learn about the individual, community, and political interventions for social change.

International affairs is an interdisciplinary major in the College of Social Sciences and Humanities. The program is designed to prepare undergraduate students with the academic knowledge, cross-cultural awareness, and skills needed to thrive and lead in a diverse world society while promoting global citizenship and social responsibility. Our internationally diverse faculty has a wide-ranging scholarly expertise, with strengths in conflict resolution and peace building; international law; and global politics of gender, ethnicity, and cities.

International affairs at Northeastern University challenges students to engage across intellectual and geographic boundaries, while also asking them to think and act locally through academic coursework, experiential opportunities, and language proficiency centered in a particular world region. Our students are well positioned as the next generation of global leaders—within NGOs, governments, international organizations, businesses, and classrooms—finding meaningful ways to solve problems and meet the challenges of today and tomorrow.

Academic Progression Standards

It is recommended that students majoring in international affairs maintain a minimum 3.000 grade-point average until the beginning of their international experience in order to be eligible for the majority of the study-abroad options.

Cooperative Education

Cooperative education is recommended for all students pursuing a major or combined major in international affairs.

International Affairs, BA

The international affairs program provides a rigorous inter- and multidisciplinary curriculum while also giving students flexibility to select the courses and disciplines that interest them most. The curriculum fosters an awareness of global affairs and international issues since the early 20th century through diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations: conflict, cooperation, hierarchies; civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations: democracy, authoritarianism, inequalities, citizenship.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

BA Language Requirements

All BA students are required to complete the BA language requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/ba-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

International Affairs Major Requirements

Courses used to fulfill major requirements may not be used to satisfy the global dynamics requirement. See department for additional courses.

International Affairs Foreign Language Requirement

Complete coursework in a language through at least intermediate-level two. Note: Completing this requirement satisfies the language requirement for the BA degree.

International Affairs Major Credit/GPA Requirement

Complete 52 semester hours in the major with a 2.000 GPA.

Upper-Division Electives

Complete three general electives at the 3000 level or above that do not double count with the major or NUpath.

Experiential Liberal Arts

All students in this College of Social Sciences and Humanities program are required to complete the Experiential Liberal Arts Requirement (p. 1557).

Data Science and International Affairs, BS

Overview

This combined degree offers both a strong data science foundation and an interdisciplinary understanding of global affairs and international issues. Students study the collection, manipulation, storage, retrieval, and computational analysis of data in its various forms, including numeric, textual, image, and video data from small to large volumes. Utilizing these skill sets allows students to address topics such as interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, social justice and inequalities, citizenship). Upon graduation, students are equipped with the skills and knowledge needed to work across national cultures in fields that relate to utilizing data to address complex regional and international issues.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

International Affairs with Middle East Studies Concentration, BA

This combined major fosters an awareness of global affairs related to the Middle East and North Africa since the early 20th century and in the aftermath of the Arab Spring. This is accomplished through diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations: conflict, cooperation, hierarchies; civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations: democracy, authoritarianism, inequalities, citizenship.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

BA Language Requirements

International Affairs and Criminal Justice, BA

This combined major fosters an awareness of crime and justice issues within their international, transnational, and global contexts since the early 20th century. The scope and sequence of international affairs courses provide students with a foundation in topics such as interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, social justice and inequalities, citizenship). Criminal justice courses provide a foundation for understanding individual and systemic aspects of criminology and criminal justice. Upon graduation, students are equipped with the skills and knowledge needed to work across national cultures in fields that relate to understanding and addressing criminal behavior.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

International Affairs and Cultural Anthropology, BA

This combined major offers undergraduates the opportunity to develop an awareness of contemporary cultures within their international, transnational, and global contexts since the early 20th century. The combined major addresses diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, social justice and inequalities, citizenship).

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

BA Language Requirements

All BA students are required to complete the BA language requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/ba-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

International Affairs Requirements

International Affairs and History, BA

This combined major fosters an historically contingent awareness of global affairs and international policy issues since the early 20th century through diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations, state-society relations, the future of democracy, the nature of citizenship and rights, the origins and conduct of war, the foundations of racial and ethnic conflict and tolerance, and poverty and prosperity. This combined major highlights the importance of understanding the intersection between global issues and local traditions and is designed to prepare students to be politically, culturally, historically, and linguistically sensitive to their interaction.

Political Science and International Affairs, BA

Through this combined major, successful undergraduates will develop an awareness of global affairs and international relations since the early 20th century. The combined major addresses diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; political processes, institutions, and actors; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, inequalities, citizenship).

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

Sociology and International Affairs, BA

Through this combined major, successful undergraduates develop an awareness of societies within their international, transnational, and global contexts since the early 20th century. The combined major addresses diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, social justice and inequalities, citizenship).

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Middle East and Mediterranean Studies, Minor

The minor in Middle East and Mediterranean studies is an inter- and cross-disciplinary program, drawing on courses from within the International Affairs Program as well as departments and units across the college. The program provides an in-depth study of the Middle East and North Africa (Arab world, Israel, Iran, and Turkey); its place within the broader Mediterranean region; and its relations with other world regions. As such, it seeks to enhance students' understanding of this culturally diverse and politically important region of the world. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the university's study-abroad and Dialogue of Civilizations programs (faculty-led summer programs) in Egypt, Morocco, Tunisia, Jordan, Turkey, Israel and Palestine, and other approved programs in the region.

Jewish Studies

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/jewishstudies/>)

Jewish studies offers the opportunity to explore Jewish history, religion, and cultures. Because of the geographic, ethnic, racial, and cultural diversity of the Jewish people, as well as the long timeline of Jewish history, Jewish studies provides students with rich possibilities for cross-cultural and comparative study. Jewish studies is an interdisciplinary program embracing history, music, literature, political science, international affairs, sociology, gender studies, religion, philosophy, Hebrew, and more. The program also explores the evolving interactions between Judaism and other religions and offers exciting courses in both Israel studies and the history and cultures of Diaspora Jewish communities around the world. A wide range of elective courses is available through the relevant departments.

The Jewish studies program offers both a minor and a preapproved template for a combined major. A unique feature of the minor is the Jewish studies module, in which students create an original project that brings an aspect of Jewish studies together with an aspect of their major field.

Jewish studies classes seek to help students develop a more critical and analytical understanding of the religious and secular world around them. They are designed to prepare students for any field that requires critical thinking and cross-cultural understanding, including careers in education, social services, politics, museums and archives, and Jewish communal organizations, as well as for graduate and professional studies.

Study abroad, either through the Dialogues of Civilization program in Israel, Germany, and/or Poland, or through traditional study-abroad programs, is a significant aspect of Jewish studies. Experiential learning in the Jewish studies program includes these study-abroad opportunities, as well as internships or co-ops at Jewish organizations. The Ruderman merit-based scholarship supports selected Jewish studies majors and minors; the Gideon Klein award supports a student in research on music and the Holocaust.

For more information, visit the department website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/jewishstudies/>).

Jewish Studies and Religion, BA

The combined major in Jewish studies and religion offers students an integrated program of study of two naturally complementary fields. Study of Judaism as a religion is enhanced by broad familiarity with the world's religious traditions; conversely, in-depth knowledge of Jewish history, identity, and cultures provides students of religion with valuable insight into the ways in which religion interacts with a wide variety of forces to shape the experiences of the adherents of a particular faith. The combined major is designed to enable students to understand the history, cultures, and religion of the Jewish people; analyze and apply theoretical understanding to the interaction between religious, social, and historical factors that have shaped the experiences of the Jewish people; and demonstrate fluency in understanding the major religious traditions of the world. The combined major in Jewish studies and religion is designed to prepare students for graduate work in Jewish studies, religion, or many of the other disciplines that make up Jewish studies or for work within the Jewish community or in communal organizations associated with other religions.

Jewish Studies, Minor

The Jewish studies minor provides an excellent broad-based introduction to the history, religion, and cultures of the Jewish people while also offering a unique opportunity to bring students' major fields of study to bear on Jewish studies topics. In our innovative 1-credit capstone Jewish studies module, minors integrate their work in Jewish studies into their major field—for example, bringing together Jewish studies and psychology through a service-learning project with Gateways, a nonprofit that offers Jewish educational resources for children with special needs, or combining Jewish studies and history through a research project on the role of Jewish women in the women's health movement.

Minor Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified.

Philosophy addresses questions and theories related to morality, society, religion, and the natural and social sciences. Coursework in philosophy provides students with an understanding of the methods and traditions of philosophical thought, as well as with opportunities to critically and collaboratively reflect on the nature of the world and the human situation in it. Through readings, discussion, and writing, students examine questions concerning the validity of moral judgments, political ideas, and scientific theories, as well as questions about values and policy in such areas as law, medicine, environment, and technology. Coursework in philosophy significantly strengthens study in other areas. The major emphasizes development of analytic, reasoning, and communication abilities, and it is designed to enable students to tailor it to their particular interests.

Religious studies offers students the opportunity to acquire an understanding of religious experience within its social, historical, literary, and political context. Courses in religious studies examine specific religious traditions such as Judaism, Islam, and Hinduism, and using a comparative approach they explore themes across faith traditions. The religious studies major at Northeastern University emphasizes the lived religious experience, or how religion permeates and impacts people's lives through everything from politics and economics to fashion, relationships, and music. Through the major, students have the opportunity to study a range of religions and a variety of methods of understanding the key dimensions of religious life.

Information on experiential learning opportunities, student life, and department faculty can be found at the department website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/philosophy/>).

Academic Progression Standards

A minimum cumulative grade-point average of 2.000 is required to remain in good standing in the major.

Philosophy Major

The department offers five ways to take the stand-alone major in philosophy: the standard major; the concentration in law and ethics; the concentration in ethics; the concentration in formal methods (e.g., game theory, social choice theory, and logic); and the concentration in religious studies. More information on these can be found on the program page.

Religious Studies Major

The religious studies major is designed to introduce students to a wide variety of religious experience and expression in the world. Through this major, students are exposed to the basic features of the world's religions and the ethical systems that accompany them. Students also have an opportunity to explore diverse methodological approaches to the study of religion.

Combined Majors

The analytical and critical skills gained from the study of philosophy are a valuable complement to any other area of study. So, too, is having an understanding of the history of ideas and of alternative world views and value systems. For this reason, the department offers combined majors with political science, economics, physics, environmental studies, history, English, computer science, behavioral neuroscience, criminal justice, sociology, anthropology, and media and screen studies. Details regarding these majors can be found on the program pages.

The combined majors in religious studies bring together knowledge of religious traditions, awareness of religious experience, and methods of understanding the key dimensions of religious life with other areas in which religion plays a large role. The department currently offers combined majors in religious studies with history, international affairs, Africana studies, sociology, anthropology, and Jewish studies. More information on these majors can be found on the program pages.

Minors

The Department of Philosophy and Religion offers minors in philosophy and religious studies, as well as popular minors in ethics and information ethics. Each of these minors is structured to be highly flexible and to complement study in other majors, while also providing depth of knowledge in philosophy, religion, and ethics. The department also collaborates with the Department of Applied Psychology on a minor in mindfulness studies. Information on these minors can be found on the program pages.

Philosophy, BA

Philosophy is a basic field of inquiry. Its range encompasses ideas and issues in every domain of human experience, and its methods apply to problems of an unlimited variety. The major in philosophy can develop not only philosophical skill and sophistication but also critical thinking and writing abilities that are readily applicable to pursuits in other academic areas, useful in careers far removed from philosophy, and valuable in everyday social and personal life. The study of philosophy can profoundly affect both the thinking one does and the kind of person one is.

There are varieties of concentrations of the philosophy major that students may choose from in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests. These include:

- Philosophy major (no concentration)

Offers students a maximum number of electives so they may choose in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests

- Philosophy major with a concentration in law and ethics

Focuses elective coursework in the areas of law, social and political philosophy, and applied ethics

- Philosophy major with a concentration in ethics

Focuses elective coursework in the areas of ethical theory, applied ethics, and social and political philosophy

- Philosophy major with a concentration in religious studies

Uses electives to explore a variety of both religious expressions and methods of inquiry

- Philosophy major with a concentration in formal methods

Focuses elective coursework in areas of logic and formal methods

- Combined majors in media and screen studies and philosophy, economics and philosophy, environmental studies and philosophy, political science and philosophy, English and philosophy, history and philosophy, computer science and philosophy, criminal justice and philosophy, and physics and philosophy

Religious Studies, BA

The program in religious studies offers the opportunity to acquire an understanding of religion within various cultural, historical, and political contexts through comparative approaches and an engagement with religion in everyday life. The major in religious studies is designed to enable students to not only gain a breadth of knowledge across a variety of religious traditions but also to pursue in-depth mastery of particular traditions in their practical and cultural dimensions, including the various normative and ideological issues that arise out the manifestation of religion in human affairs. In addition to the study of particular religious traditions, religious studies majors will be expected to gain a general knowledge of the theoretical and methodological approaches employed in the academic study of religion. Through the major, a student will enhance the ability to think, interpret, and write critically about a range of religious traditions through diverse methodological approaches.

- The standard religion major offers students a maximum number of electives so they may choose in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests.
- Combined majors are offered in Jewish studies and religion, history and religious studies, religious studies and African American studies, and international affairs and religious studies.

Jewish Studies and Religion, BA

The combined major in Jewish studies and religion offers students an integrated program of study of two naturally complementary fields. Study of Judaism as a religion is enhanced by broad familiarity with the world's religious traditions; conversely, in-depth knowledge of Jewish history, identity, and cultures provides students of religion with valuable insight into the ways in which religion interacts with a wide variety of forces to shape the experiences of the adherents of a particular faith. The combined major is designed to enable students to understand the history, cultures, and religion of the Jewish people; analyze and apply theoretical understanding to the interaction between religious, social, and historical factors that have shaped the experiences of the Jewish people; and demonstrate fluency in understanding the major religious traditions of the world. The combined major in Jewish studies and religion is designed to prepare students for graduate work in Jewish studies, religion, or many of the other disciplines that make up Jewish studies or for work within the Jewish community or in communal organizations associated with other religions.

Philosophy, BS

Philosophy is a basic field of inquiry. Its range encompasses ideas and issues in every domain of human experience, and its methods apply to problems of an unlimited variety. The major in philosophy can develop not only philosophical skill and sophistication but also critical thinking and writing abilities that are readily applicable to pursuits in other academic areas, useful in careers far removed from philosophy, and valuable in everyday social and personal life. The study of philosophy can profoundly affect both the thinking one does and the kind of person one is.

There are a variety of ways to major in philosophy that students may choose from in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests. These include:

- Philosophy major (no concentration)

Offers students a maximum number of electives so they may choose in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests

- Philosophy major with a concentration in law and ethics

Focuses elective coursework in the areas of law, social and political philosophy, and applied ethics

- Philosophy major with a concentration in ethics

Focuses elective coursework in the areas of ethical theory, applied ethics, and social and political philosophy

- Philosophy major with a concentration in religious studies

Uses electives to explore a variety of both religious expressions and methods of inquiry

- Philosophy major with a concentration in formal methods

Focuses elective coursework in areas of logic and formal methods

- Combined majors in media and screen studies and philosophy, economics and philosophy, environmental studies and philosophy, political science and philosophy, English and philosophy, history and philosophy, criminal justice and philosophy, computer science and philosophy, and physics and philosophy

Behavioral Neuroscience and Philosophy, BS

The behavioral neuroscience and philosophy combined degree program engages students in the interdisciplinary study across the biology, psychology, and philosophy departments. The major provides rigorous training in both disciplines with a specific focus on understanding seminal questions concerning human nature and the mind. Courses in the basic sciences will lay a strong foundation in biology, chemistry, and data analytics that are relevant to neuroscience. In behavioral neuroscience core courses, students will examine the structure and function of the human nervous system in order to explore brain mechanisms that give rise to behavioral functions, including cognitive processes, as well as pathological states. In philosophy courses, successful students will develop core analytics skills, including ethical reasoning; learn to recognize and question deep theoretical assumptions at the heart of scientific theories and practice; and explore the social and ethical dimensions of neuroscience and scientific practice more broadly. The fields of behavioral neuroscience and philosophy are further bridged with course work that is designed to enable students to apply neuroscientific concepts to philosophical, moral, and ethical questions.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

Computer Science and Philosophy, BS

The computer science and philosophy combined major offers an opportunity to obtain a fluency in formal logic, including logical proofs and the ability to represent arguments clearly and evaluate them for cogency. Students will find that logic plays a fundamental role in computer science as they experience an in-depth programming foundation. The philosophy curriculum also focuses on oral and written communication, as well as ethical and social issues related to computing and information technologies.

Criminal Justice and Philosophy, BS

The School of Criminology and Criminal Justice and the Department of Philosophy and Religion offer a combined major in criminal justice and philosophy. This combined major educates students in criminal justice and philosophy and in the interface between the two disciplines. The scope and sequence of philosophy courses provide students with a foundation in topics such as social and political philosophy, philosophy of law, and moral philosophy, while also developing robust analytical and evaluative skills. Criminal justice courses provide a foundation for understanding individual and systemic aspects of criminology and criminal justice. Students completing this program should have depth of knowledge with respect to analyzing and addressing criminal behavior, as well as with respect to the philosophical and ethical aspects of topics such as law, punishment, justice, and social institutions.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

Criminal Justice Major Requirements

Code	Title	Hours
Introduction to Crime, Law, and the Justice System
What do we know about crime and justice? In these three courses, students have an opportunity to develop a foundational understanding of three related phenomena: why crime exists, how our criminal justice system responds to crime, and the constitutional and legal oversight of this process.
CRIM 1100	Introduction to Criminal Justice	4
CRIM 1110	Criminal Due Process	4
CRIM 1120	Criminology	4
Current Crime and Justice Issues
These courses introduce students to topical issues related to crime and justice.
Complete one of the following:		4
CRIM 1300	The Death Penalty
CRIM 1500	Corruption, Integrity, and Accountability
CRIM 1700	Crime, Media, and Politics
Crime Problems and Criminal Justice Institutions
The 2000-level courses in this list ask how does justice work and for whom? These courses introduce students to the systems and institutions tasked with providing justice. Each includes experiential learning components in cooperation with local criminal justice institutions. The 3000-level courses in this list provide students with a deeper look at a range of crime problems.
Complete one of the following:		4
CRIM 2310	Courts: The Third Branch of Government
CRIM 2320	Youth Crime and Justice
CRIM 2330	Punishment in the Age of Mass Incarceration
CRIM 2340	Corporate Security: Securing the Private Sector
CRIM 2350	Policing a Democratic Society
CRIM 2370	Restorative Justice: Transforming the System
CRIM 3010	Criminal Violence
CRIM 3030	Global Criminology
CRIM 3040	Psychology of Crime
CRIM 3050	Organized Crime
CRIM 3060	Political Crime and Terrorism
CRIM 3070	Corporate and White-Collar Crime
CRIM 3540	Addiction and Recovery

Systemic Issues

These courses consider systemic issues facing the criminal justice system.

Complete one of the following:	4
CRIM 3110	Gender, Crime, and Justice
CRIM 3120	Race, Crime, and Justice

Creating Knowledge About Crime and Justice

How do we know what we know about crime and justice—and how do we develop new knowledge? These courses study how to harness data to learn about issues, identify solutions, and advocate for change.

CRIM 3600	Criminal Justice Research Methods	4
CRIM 3700	Analyzing and Using Data on Crime and Justice	4

Co-op Integration Seminars

Co-op students should complete the seminars below. Non-co-op students should complete a 4-semester-hour CRIM elective.

Complete two of the following courses. CRIM 2000 and CRIM 3000 are required for the first co-op. CRIM 4000 is required if a second co-op is taken. 2-4

EESH 2000	Professional Development for Co-op
CRIM 3000	Co-op Integration Seminar 2
CRIM 4000	Co-op Integration Seminar 3

Solutions and Reform

How do we reinvent criminal justice institutions and their practice? The capstone experience is project based and solution oriented, drawing on knowledge gained in the classroom and through co-op and other experiences.

Economics and Philosophy, BS

Both philosophy and economics are the disciplines of critical thinking—thinking in concrete and abstract terms to help put the world in perspective. The combined economics and philosophy major provides students with training to critically evaluate and assess policies and issues on both economic and ethical grounds, including issues such as globalization, immigration, environmental protections, the minimum wage, a fair and just tax, just working environments, and many more.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

Physics and Philosophy, BS

The combined major in physics and philosophy provides a strong foundation in classical and modern physics, including studies of the various physical phenomena including electromagnetism, dynamics, building blocks of matter, energy, and radiation. It also provides students with an understanding of the methods and traditions of philosophical thought, as well as with opportunities to critically and collaboratively reflect on the nature of the world and the human situation in it. Students will be able to describe the method by which physical "law" is made manifest in the sciences, how this knowledge compares with other epistemological models studied in other contexts, and philosophical views on the status and source of physical "law."

Politics, Philosophy, and Economics, BS

Website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/ppe/>)

617.373.3636

617.373.4359 (fax)

The PPE major at Northeastern University brings together three of the most important approaches to understanding the world around us: political science, philosophy, and economics. The PPE major is an interdisciplinary degree that not only provides students with the analytic tools from three different disciplines but also teaches students to make connections across disciplines and to keep multiple perspectives in mind when analyzing complex social phenomena. This interdisciplinary perspective and set of skills are indispensable in our increasingly interconnected world and are essential in addressing the kinds of complex global problems future leaders will need to tackle.

There are a number of varieties of the PPE major that students may choose from in accordance with their own backgrounds and interests. These include:

- environment and energy policy
- international political economy
- law and justice
- logic and game theory
- political philosophy
- public and economic policy
- racial justice

Philosophy, Minor

Philosophy addresses questions and theories related to morality, society, religion, and the natural and social sciences. Course work in philosophy provides students with an understanding of the methods and traditions of philosophical thought, as well as opportunities to critically and collaboratively reflect on the nature of the world and the human situation in it. Through readings, discussion, and writing, students examine questions concerning the validity of moral judgments, political ideas, and scientific theories, as well as questions about values and social policy in such areas as law, medicine, and technology.

Course work in philosophy significantly strengthens study in other areas. Many students find that their studies in their major can be beneficially supplemented by pursuing studies in philosophy. Declaring a minor in philosophy will allow you to continue your philosophical studies throughout your time at Northeastern University.

Minor Requirements

Religious Studies, Minor

The religious studies minor provides a short form of the religious studies major that can be tailored to the needs of the student.

The minor in religious studies offers the opportunity to acquire an understanding of religion within various contexts through comparative approaches and an engagement with religion in everyday life. Through the minor, a student will enhance their ability to think critically about a range of religious traditions through diverse methodological approaches.

Ethics, Minor

The Department of Philosophy and Religion offers a minor in ethics for students who are interested in exploring the ethical dimensions of contemporary issues. From medicine and the environment to business and religion, the minor provides a range of courses that speak to issues you care about and provides you with the tools to explore them. The minor includes courses in ethical theory (e.g., moral philosophy, social and political philosophy, and philosophical problems of law and justice); applied ethics (e.g., environmental ethics, business ethics, moral and social problems in healthcare, and technology and human values); and religious ethics (e.g., ethics east and west and cults and sects). It emphasizes developing critical analytical and evaluative skills.

Political science teaches the art and science of politics in the United States and throughout the world. Experiential opportunities include a seven-week summer program at the United Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, and internships at the White House or in the British Parliament. Majors may write opinion pieces for a student political journal or participate in one of the top Model NATO League teams in the United States. Political science is a discipline and a subject of study that has worldwide applications and exciting and experiential job opportunities. Politics matter wherever there are groups of people trying to get things done.

Political science majors start their journey with core courses on American government, comparative politics, international relations, and research methods. After that, students choose from a wide variety of courses on specific topics from international security to legal studies to public policy.

Political science co-ops include responsible positions in local, state, and federal government agencies; law firms; nonprofit institutions; and corporations. Many students complete either a co-op position or an internship with a congressional representative, a senator, a governor or other elected public officials, or at an international organization or nonprofit.

Political science students are among the most active on campus through extracurricular programs designed to expand their leadership ability, including the Political Science Student Association, International Relations Council, Pi Sigma Alpha honor society, Model United Nations, Model Arab League, Model NATO, student government, College Democrats and Republicans, and other student groups. With these experiences on their resumés, students are prepared to succeed in law school; graduate school; careers in government and the nonprofit sector; as well as in teaching, journalism, legislative or lobbying positions, public relations activities, and work in international corporations and nongovernmental organizations.

Academic Progression Standards

Same as university-wide standards described under "Academic Status (p. 50)."

PlusOne Program (MA) in Political Science

Political science majors at the end of their sophomore year or the beginning of their junior year may qualify for application to the PlusOne program that combines the BA with the master's degree in political science. Students interested in this option should consult with the departmental graduate coordinator.

Africana Studies and Political Science, BA

The combined major in Africana studies and political science offers students the opportunity to integrate their studies of both disciplines and explore the historical, practical, and theoretical relationships between the two disciplines. In addition to considering the significant points of contention, students explore the ways in which insights from Africana studies can be brought to bear on the disciplinary issues and questions of political science. Within the combined major, students may also choose to concentrate their studies on a range of topics related to political behaviors and institutional developments in the United States, the Americas, Europe, Africa, and across the global African Diaspora.

Political Science and Human Services, BA

The combined degree is designed to prepare students with skills and tools to advocate for social issues at all levels of society. Human services program students prepare for fields in the social change arena (nongovernment organizations [NGOs], counseling, and political advocacy). Political science students prepare to change and shape the domestic and international political landscape in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, internship, and study-abroad opportunities. Upon completion of the degree, successful students apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Successful students are positioned to pursue law school, graduate school, careers in government and the nonprofit sector, as well as in teaching, journalism, legislative or lobbying positions, public relations activities, and work in international corporations and NGOs.

Political Science and International Affairs, BA

Through this combined major, successful undergraduates will develop an awareness of global affairs and international relations since the early 20th century. The combined major addresses diverse and cross-disciplinary theories of interstate relations (conflict, cooperation, hierarchies); civil society, transnational advocacy networks, global social movements; political processes, institutions, and actors; and state-society relations (democracy, authoritarianism, inequalities, citizenship).

Program Requirements

Biology and Political Science, BS

In the BS biology and political science program, science courses lay the groundwork for strong basic training in mathematics, chemistry, and physics that are relevant to biology. In biology courses, students broadly explore the organization and processes of life—from molecules and cells through organs and organ systems to populations, ecosystems, and evolution. In political science courses, students pursue core concepts of American government, comparative politics, international relations and political thought. Coursework in quantitative techniques is also required. Students choose from a range of advanced subject electives. An appreciation of the intersection of biology and political science is provided through advanced courses in science, technology and public policy, and in environmental politics and policy.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

Criminal Justice and Political Science, BS

This combined major educates students in criminal justice and political science and in the interface between the two disciplines. The scope and sequence of political science courses provide students with a foundation in topics such as American government, comparative politics, international relations, and security and resilience. Criminal justice courses provide a foundation for understanding individual and systemic aspects of criminology and criminal justice. Students completing this program should be able to understand the relationships between the fields as they relate to understanding and addressing criminal behavior.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

Criminal Justice Requirements

Political Science and Human Services, BS

The combined degree seeks to prepare students with skills and tools to advocate for social issues at all levels of society. Human services program students are well positioned to pursue fields in the social change arena (nongovernment organizations, or NGOs; counseling; and political advocacy). Political science students are also well positioned to change and shape the domestic and international political landscape in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. Students engage in an integrated educational program that emphasizes experiential approaches to learning through service-learning, co-op, internship, and study-abroad opportunities. Upon completion of the degree, students can apply professional skills in counseling roles, nonprofit management, political advocacy, or organizational and community development. Successful students are poised to pursue law school, graduate school, careers in government and the nonprofit sector, as well as in teaching, journalism, legislative or lobbying positions, public relations activities, and work in international corporations and NGOs.

Sociology and cultural anthropology provide the critical perspective needed for studying the social and cultural arrangements in which people live, for understanding how societies function, for investigating the conditions under which people change their institutions, and for describing the modes and conditions of cooperation that make social life possible.

Courses in the program examine such areas as urbanization, the environment, health, globalization and human rights, gender and sexuality, social movements, the cultural underpinnings of science and technology, new media, and the comparative analysis of advanced capitalist societies. Many courses are directly relevant to majors in other fields, including economics, political science, philosophy, literature, criminal justice, and business.

The major in sociology or cultural anthropology seeks to prepare students for careers in public or private service, including such fields as law, teaching, social work, administration or management, and research.

Sociology and cultural anthropology both participate in a number of combined majors, which can be found listed under the Programs tab on this page.

Sociology, BA

Sociology is the scientific study of society. It begins with the premise that individuals are deeply affected by the social structures, institutions, and cultural milieus surrounding them. Sociology provides students with the conceptual tools to understand how various features of society, including inequalities based on race, class, or gender, affect its members. In so doing, sociology also provides conceptual tools that can be used to foster social change and the empowerment of historically marginalized groups.

Human Services and Sociology, BA

Students pursuing a combined major in human services and sociology will integrate the theoretical understandings of these two fields to better understand organizational and group behavior and their implications for individuals and communities utilizing human services. The human services coursework prepares students for careers in social change by providing students with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. The sociology coursework prepares students to rigorously analyze the social, political, and economic spheres of society at the local and global levels. Students will develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at the individual and structural levels. The combined major provides students with the conceptual and practical tools to understand how various features of society affect its members as well as how people create social change.

Media and Screen Studies and Sociology, BA

The Media and Screen Studies Program and the Department of Sociology and Anthropology offer a combined major in media and screen studies and sociology. The combined major integrates the analysis, research, and production of traditional and emerging media along with the critical perspective needed for studying the social and cultural arrangements in which people live, for understanding how societies function, for investigating the conditions under which people change their institutions, and for describing the modes and conditions of cooperation that make social life possible.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

BA Language Requirements

All BA students are required to complete the BA language requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/ba-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/>).

NUpath requirements Interpreting Culture (IC), Societies and Institutions (SI), and Difference and Diversity (DD) are met through the major course requirements.

NUpath requirements Creative Expression/Innovation (EI), Analyzing and Using Data (AD), and Ethical Reasoning (ER) may be met through electives in the major.

NUpath requirements Natural and Designed World (ND) and Formal and Quantitative Reasoning (FQ) must be met through general electives.

Sociology, BS

Sociology is the scientific study of society. It begins with the premise that individuals are affected by the social structures, institutions, and cultural milieus surrounding them. Sociology provides students with the conceptual tools to understand how various features of society affect its members as well as how people create and maintain those same features.

Cultural Anthropology, BS

Anthropology is the holistic, cross-cultural study of humanity that explores the multiple ways humans live and create meaning in the world. The anthropology major at Northeastern exposes students to diverse cultural perspectives from past and present societies; fosters student engagement with key contemporary issues such as global inequality, development, urbanization, and cultural change; and provides greater appreciation for the complexities of the world in which they live.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Universitywide Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the Universitywide Requirements (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/undergraduate/university-academics/university-wide-requirements/>).

NUpath Requirements

Criminal Justice and Sociology, BS

This combined major educates students in criminal justice and sociology and in the interface between the two disciplines. The scope and sequence of sociology courses provide students with a foundation in social theory and social systems. Criminal justice courses provide a foundation for understanding individual and systemic aspects of criminology and criminal justice. Students successfully completing this program should be able to understand the ways that crime and the justice system are situated in larger social systems and structures.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified and complete any additional courses needed beyond specific college and major requirements to satisfy graduation credit requirements.

Health Science and Sociology, BS

The combined Bachelor of Science in Health Science and Sociology integrates social scientific perspectives to the study of health, illness, and healthcare. Students explore basic sociological concepts relevant for the study of health and healthcare, such as social construction and medicalization. Students explore why, for instance, despite having the most expensive healthcare system, the United States ranks comparatively low in life expectancy and health and well-being outcomes. Provides students with an opportunity to explore the ways that societal factors such as race, class, and gender interplay with health, healthcare, and health disparities.

Human Services and Sociology, BS

Students pursuing a combined major in human services and sociology will integrate the theoretical understandings of these two fields to better understand organizational and group behavior and their implications for individuals and communities utilizing human services. The human services coursework prepares students for careers in social change by providing students with the theoretical and skill-based background necessary for practice and research. The sociology coursework prepares students to rigorously analyze the social, political, and economic spheres of society at the local and global levels. Students will develop a holistic understanding of preventative and reactive responses to social inequality and an understanding of how to impact change at the individual and structural levels. The combined major provides students with the conceptual and practical tools to understand how various features of society affect its members as well as how people create social change.

Linguistics and Cultural Anthropology, BS

The combined major in linguistics and cultural anthropology focuses on the relationship of culture to the institutions, interpersonal relations, and practices that make up their social structure while emphasizing the structure of human language and its involvement in social interaction and culture. Students examine how language both reflects and influences cultural phenomena and how it can be used as a tool to study those phenomena; and they apply their interests across a range of connected courses, co-op opportunities, and potential research projects.

Sociology and Cultural Anthropology, BS

The sociology/anthropology department at Northeastern University offers a combined major in sociology and anthropology. Students learn the disciplinary histories, practices, and methods of sociology and sociocultural anthropology, identify foundational and contemporary debates within and across these two disciplines, and evaluate their contributions to our understanding of local and global societies and cultures. The combined major offers students various opportunities for community engagement, experiential learning, and for gaining research skills using quantitative and qualitative methods.

Cultural Anthropology, Minor

The cultural anthropology minor at Northeastern focuses on the study of culture as it is located in issues of race, ethnicity, class, gender, history, and globalization. Students develop proficiencies in widely applicable skills and frameworks, such as cultural relativism, comparative analysis, cross-cultural communication, research design, and ethnographic field research. Students have the opportunity to work with faculty members with regional expertise in Latin America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and North America and who teach courses on contemporary issues such as globalization, digital technologies, consumerism, sports, gender and sexuality, tourism, and social movements. This minor can complement a wide range of majors throughout the university, providing students with regional expertise and a depth of cultural understanding.

Minor Requirements

Students minoring in Cultural Anthropology must complete Peoples and Cultures (ANTH 1101), plus any three ANTH electives, at least one of which must be at the 3000 level of above.

Required Courses

Science and Technology Studies, Minor

The science and technology studies (STS) minor offers an interdisciplinary program of study focused on the critical role of science and technology in contemporary societies. Rather than viewing science and technology as autonomous or self-generating domains, STS traces the complex interplay that exists between science and technology and the social, political, and cultural contexts in which they are formed. Combining coursework in such fields as sociology, history, philosophy, engineering, and the humanities, the STS program offers students an opportunity to obtain a deeper understanding of the norms, values, and beliefs that often lie hidden within scientific knowledge and engineering designs. In this way, the program is designed to equip students to anticipate and address the many ethical and policy dilemmas that scientific and engineering knowledge provoke, especially as these bear on health, the environment, and community life around the world.

The STS minor is relevant for students embarking on STEM careers as well as those majoring in social science or humanities fields. The curriculum is flexible, enabling students to customize their studies in accordance with their individual interests.

Sociology, Minor

The sociology minor at Northeastern helps students to understand how to apply empirical evidence to address a wide range of social problems. Sociology minors can take courses in quantitative and qualitative research methods and theoretical and empirical reasoning. Elective courses draw on our faculty's expertise in violence, family life, health and illness, the environment, technology, gender and sexuality, occupations and professions, social movements, the law, and social inequality. This minor can complement a wide range of majors throughout the university, providing students with a range of skills to better understand their place in complex social environments.

Accelerated Bachelor/Graduate Degree Programs

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities offers a number of bachelor's/graduate degree programs that allow students to accelerate the attainment of the graduate degree by applying graduate credits taken as an undergraduate toward both the undergraduate and graduate degrees. Degrees are earned sequentially, with the bachelor's degree attainment followed by coursework to complete the graduate degree. See additional information on accelerated bachelor/graduate degree programs (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/plusone-program-accelerated-bachelorgraduate-degree-programs/>).

General Information

The Northeastern University Catalog contains the university's primary statements about approved academic programs and degree requirements, as authorized by the president or the Board of Trustees.

The Northeastern University Catalog contains current information about the university calendar, admissions, degree requirements, fees, and regulations; however, such information is not intended and should not be regarded to be contractual. Course information was current as of June 17, 2022. For updated course information, students and advisors should consult the Banner course catalog (<https://nubanner.neu.edu/StudentRegistrationSsb/ssb/term/termSelection/?mode=courseSearch>).

ACCREDITATION

Please visit the Accreditation (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/graduate/appendix/statements-accreditation/>) page of this catalog for details of Northeastern University's accreditation status.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Northeastern University permits its students to inspect their records wherever appropriate and to challenge specific parts of them when they feel it is necessary to do so. Specific details of the law as it applies to Northeastern are discussed in this section of the catalog (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/archive/2022-2023/graduate/academic-policies-procedures/ferpa/>).

PERSISTENCE RATES UNDER THE STUDENT RIGHT-TO-KNOW ACT

In the fall of 2021, the persistence rate for undergraduate students who entered in the fall 2020 cohort was 96.8%.

TUITION DEFAULT POLICY

In cases where the student defaults on their tuition, the student shall be liable for the outstanding tuition and all reasonable associated collection costs incurred by the university, including attorneys' fees.

NONDISCRIMINATION POLICIES

Northeastern University is committed to providing a living, learning, and working environment free from discrimination and harassment and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, genetic information, sex, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, national origin, ancestry, disability, or veteran status in admission to, access to, treatment in, or employment in its programs and activities. The university will not tolerate any conduct that violates rights guaranteed by law, or any of the university policies that prohibit discrimination, including the Policy on Equal Opportunity (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Equal\_Opportunity.pdf), Policy Prohibiting Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_Prohibiting\_Sexual\_and\_Gender-Based\_Harassment.pdf), Policy on Rights and Responsibilities Under Title IX (https://cpb-us-w2.wpmucdn.com/sites.northeastern.edu/dist/b/620/files/2020/09/Policy\_on\_Rights\_and\_Responsibilities\_Under\_Title\_IX.pdf), and the Policy on Non-Fraternization (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Non-Fraternization.pdf). Furthermore, university policy also includes prohibitions of retaliation for filing complaints of discrimination with the Office for University Equity and Compliance. Links to the university's nondiscrimination policies and its grievance procedures are available at the OUEC (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>). Inquiries regarding the university's nondiscrimination policies may be directed to:

Office for University Equity and Compliance (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>)

Northeastern University
Boston, Massachusetts 02115
617.373.4644
ouec@northeastern.edu

The university strongly encourages any person to report information relating to alleged discrimination or harassment to the OUEC (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>) by completing the form available here (https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?NortheasternUniv&layout\_id=7) or through any of the contact options listed above. OUEC's policies, as well as other helpful information, can be found at the OUEC website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>).

DISABILITY RESOURCE CENTER

The Disability Resource Center provides a variety of disability-related services and accommodations to Northeastern University's students with disabilities.

Northeastern University's compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 are coordinated by the senior director of the Disability Resource Center. Persons requiring information regarding the Disability Resource Center should contact the center at 617.373.2675 or drc@northeastern.edu.

CLERY ACT

Northeastern University is committed to assisting all members of the university community in providing for their own safety and security. Information regarding campus security and personal safety, including topics such as crime prevention, university police law enforcement authority, crime reporting policies, crime statistics for the most recent three-year period, and disciplinary procedures, is available in the Annual Security & Fire Safety Reports, located on the NUPD website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/annual-reports/>).

EMERGENCY INFORMATION

The university is prepared to respond to emergencies and urgent situations that require immediate action with a trained team of police officers, EMTs, health and counseling experts, student affairs and residential life staff, and other professionals from a coordinated group that is able to manage a wide range of potential situations.

In case of emergency or crisis situations that require immediate notification, university officials will deploy the NU Alert system, which sends email, voice mail, and text messages to students, faculty, and staff. NU Alert is intended to communicate pertinent information and, when appropriate, provide directions to those in the affected area(s).

A record of past Timely Warning and NU Alert Emergency Notifications for our campus community can be found on the NUPD website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/safety-notifications/>).

Examples of crisis situations range from snowstorms to national emergencies that have a local impact.

Additional information on the university's emergency information systems can be found on the university's Emergency Information (<https://www.northeastern.edu/emergency-information/>) website.

MISSION STATEMENT

To educate students for a life of fulfillment and accomplishment.

To create and translate knowledge to meet global and societal needs.

Accreditation

Northeastern University has maintained its status as a member in good standing of the New England Commission of Higher Education, Inc. (NECHE), previously New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC), since it was awarded its initial accreditation in 1940. The university was last reviewed by NECHE in 2018 and will be reviewed again in fall 2028.

Northeastern University possesses degree-granting authority in Massachusetts, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education.

Required Disclosures

VIRGINIA

Northeastern has processes in place to ensure that student grievances are treated with respect and addressed in a fair and professional manner. Students can report concerns to the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution (<https://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/>) or the University Ombuds (<https://provost.northeastern.edu/ombuds/>). At the Arlington campus, students can contact the on-site student support specialist or the campus principal.

If a student's problem has not been resolved in pursuance of the Northeastern grievance policy, they may contact the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia. SCHEV representatives can be reached via telephone at (804) 225-2600; via fax at (804) 225-2604; at this website (<https://www.schev.edu/index/students-and-parents/resources/student-complaints/>); or by mail at 101 N. 14th Street, 10th Floor, James Monroe Building, Richmond, VA 23219.

NORTH CAROLINA

Northeastern has been evaluated by the University of North Carolina and is licensed to conduct higher education degree activity in the state. The university's guaranty bond for unearned prepaid tuition is on file with the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina and the Office of the General Counsel at Northeastern. North Carolina students may view a copy of the Tuition Guaranty Bond by contacting Northeastern's Risk Services at 716 Columbus Avenue (Columbus Place), Suite 301 CP, Boston, MA 02120.

If students are unable to resolve a complaint offered by the Northeastern grievance procedures, they can submit a complaint through the online student complaint form at <https://studentcomplaints.northcarolina.edu/form> (<https://studentcomplaints.northcarolina.edu/form/>), or by mail to North Carolina Post-Secondary Education Complaints, 140 Friday Center Drive, Chapel Hill, NC, 27517. <https://www.northcarolina.edu/post-secondary-education-complaints/>.

CALIFORNIA

Any questions a student may have regarding this catalog that have not been satisfactorily answered by the institution may be directed to the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education (<http://www.bppe.ca.gov>), 1747 N. Market Blvd. Ste 225, Sacramento, CA 95834; P.O. Box 980818, West Sacramento, CA, 95798-0818, (888) 370-7589, or by fax (916) 263-1897.

NOTICE CONCERNING TRANSFERABILITY OF CREDITS AND CREDENTIALS EARNED AT OUR INSTITUTION

The transferability of credits you earn at Northeastern is at the complete discretion of an institution to which you may seek to transfer. Acceptance of the degree you earn in the educational program is also at the complete discretion of the institution to which you may seek to transfer. If the credits or degree that you earn at this institution are not accepted at the institution to which you seek to transfer, you may be required to repeat some or all of your coursework at that institution. For this reason you should make certain that your attendance at this institution will meet your educational goals. This may include contacting an institution to which you may seek to transfer after attending Northeastern to determine if your credits or degree will transfer.

The Office of Student Assistance and Relief is available to support prospective students, current students, or past students of private postsecondary educational institutions in making informed decisions, understanding their rights, and navigating available services and relief options. The office may be reached by calling (888 370 7589) or by visiting <https://osar.bppe.ca.gov/> (<https://nam12.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fosar.bppe.ca.gov%2F&data=05%7C01%7Ch.daly%40northeastern.edu%7Cc9dac5e580c4248b5b408dad2e6a885%7Ca8eec281aaa34daeac9b9a398b9215e7%7C0%7C0%7C638054185359665932%7CUnknown%7CTWFpbGZsb3d8eyJWljiMC4wLjAwMDAiLCJQIjoiV2luMzliLjB1Ii6Ikl1haWwiLCJXVCi6Mn0%3D%7C3000%7C%7C%7C&sdata=n4Fe2%2Bvx%2BcTduTQHCNhgK9Mjcm0dZFLkEskysya1TMxF0%3D&reserved=0>).

WASHINGTON

Northeastern is authorized by the Washington Student Achievement Council and meets the requirements and minimum educational standards established for degree-granting institutions under the Degree-Granting Institutions Act. This authorization is subject to periodic review and authorizes Northeastern to offer specific degree programs. The council may be contacted for a list of currently authorized programs. Authorization by the council does not carry with it an endorsement by the council of the institution or its programs. Any person desiring information about the requirements of the act or the applicability of those requirements to the institution may contact the council at P.O. Box 43430, Olympia, WA 98504-3430 or by email at degreeauthorization@wsac.wa.gov.

The transferability of credits earned at Northeastern is at the discretion of the receiving college, university, or other educational institution. Students considering transferring to any institution should not assume that credits earned in any program of study at Northeastern will be accepted by the receiving institution. Similarly, the ability of a degree, certificate, diploma, or other academic credential earned at Northeastern to satisfy an admission requirement of another institution is at the discretion of the receiving institution. Accreditation does not guarantee credentials or credits earned at Northeastern will be accepted by or transferred to another institution. To minimize the risk of having to repeat coursework, students should contact the receiving institution in advance for evaluation and determination of transferability of credits and/or acceptability of degrees, diplomas, or certificates earned. The Washington Student Achievement Council has authority to investigate student complaints against specific schools. WSAC may not be able to investigate every student complaint. Visit <http://www.wsac.wa.gov/student-complaints> (<http://www.wsac.wa.gov/student-complaints/>) for information regarding the WSAC complaint process.

General Admission and Transfer Credit

- Admission (p. 6)
- Admission Requirements for Undergraduate Degrees and Certificates (p. 8)
- Seeking More Than One Certificate or Degree (p. 9)
- Transfer Credit Policy (p. 10)

Admission

The goal of the admission process at the College of Professional Studies is to provide access to a Northeastern University education worldwide and to create an environment where you will grow and create lasting opportunities for your future. To support this, we take a friendly and supportive approach to admissions and are here to guide you through the process and help you achieve your goals. There are no application fees. No GREs, GMATs, or SATs required. And there are multiple start terms per year.

When to Apply

DOMESTIC APPLICANTS

The College of Professional Studies admissions process operates on a rolling basis. However, it is recommended that all required documents are received:

- Six weeks prior to your desired start term for transfer applicants
- Four weeks prior to your desired start term for applicants not transferring credits

INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

As an international applicant, there are important deadlines you must meet in order to begin classes during your desired start term. International applicants who will be studying in the United States on a student visa must abide by the deadlines found on the College of Professional Studies website (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/admissions/international/>).

Application Information

Applicants should refer to the following information to submit application documents:

Mail supporting documents to the following address:

Northeastern University—College of Professional Studies
Graduate Application Processing Center
P.O. Box 8150
Portsmouth, NH 03802

If you are unable to send it to a P.O. Box, mail supporting documents to the following address:

Northeastern University—College of Professional Studies
Graduate Application Processing Center
360 Huntington Avenue
Boston, MA 02115-9959

It is important to include “College of Professional Studies” in the address when sending mail or requesting transcripts from previous institutions.

FAX

Fax supporting documents to the following number: 617.373.8574.

EMAIL

Supporting documents that we recommend you submit via the Applicant Inquiry Form (<https://northeastern-network.force.com/GraduateAdmissionsFAQ/s/>):

- Unofficial transcripts
- Copy of diploma
- Statement of purpose
- Recommendation letters

TRANSCRIPTS

Transcripts must be mailed from the originating institution in a stamped and sealed envelope or emailed through “escript.”

IMPORTANT CODES

Note the following codes:

- TOEFL code: 4999
- FAFSA code: 002199

ADMISSIONS CONTACT

Questions? Please visit the Graduate Admissions Support Center (<https://northeastern-network.force.com/GraduateAdmissionsFAQ/s/>).

APPLICATION WITHDRAWAL DUE TO INACTIVITY

An application can be incomplete for up to one year before it is automatically withdrawn due to inactivity. An applicant who would like to reactivate their application has one year to do so from the time of his or her application withdrawal.

If an applicant has any questions or would like to reactivate their application, call 617.373.2400, 877.668.7727, or submit an email (cpsadmissions@northeastern.edu).

Request to Withdraw an Application

An applicant can request to withdraw their application for admission at any time. An applicant who would like to reactivate their application has one year to do so from the time of their application withdrawal.

To request to withdraw your application, call 617.373.2400, 877.668.7727, or submit an email (cpsadmissions@northeastern.edu).

Admissions Acceptance Deferral

A student who is not able to start their studies during the academic term for which they gained acceptance must contact the Office of Admissions to request a deferral of admission. A student may request a deferral for up to one year, unless otherwise noted for specific programs. Check with the Office of Admissions for more information.

If a student does not get approved for an acceptance deferral and does not begin their studies within two academic terms of acceptance into a program, they forfeit that acceptance and must reapply to the program for a future term. It is important for the student to inform the Office of Admissions about deferral requests as this may impact the student's time limit on program completion and financial aid.

Conditional Admission

Students who have not submitted required admissions documents, such as official transcripts, prior to admission must do so within 30 days of the start of the academic term. A student who has been admitted on condition to provide admissions documents will not be permitted to register for a future term.

Curricular Requirements

Admitted students are required to follow the program requirements that are in effect the term for which they have been admitted or, in the case of a formal deferral, the future term to which they have deferred. Students are encouraged to review the curricular requirements at the beginning of their start term to ensure they have the most up-to-date information.

The college reserves the right to rescind an offer of acceptance if the student is no longer considered in good academic or disciplinary standing between the time of acceptance and matriculation.

Admission Requirements for Undergraduate Degrees and Certificates

Admissions requirements include the following:

- Online application
- Academic transcripts—submit one of the following:
  - Official high school transcript
  - Official GED
  - Official associate degree transcript, stating degree conferral and date
- Transfer credit documents—transfer students must submit the following:
  - Academic transcripts—official U.S. transcript from each institution you previously attended and from which you are requesting transfer credit
  - Foreign transcripts—official transcripts and English translation; we recommend you submit a course-by-course evaluation of your diploma(s) and transcript(s)
  - College-level examinations—official examination
  - Military evaluation
- Proof of English-language proficiency—students for whom English is not their primary language must submit one of the following:
  - Official associate degree transcript from an accredited college or university in the United States, stating degree conferral and date
  - Official TOEFL or IELTS scores
  - NU Global Exam scores
  - Pearson scores

Additional information regarding English-language proficiency test score requirements may be found on the English Language Requirements webpage (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/admissions/international/english-language-proficiency.php>).

Seeking More Than One Certificate or Degree

An undergraduate student can be enrolled in only one undergraduate program at a time.

Undergraduate students seeking more than one certificate or degree after having completed a program should note that undergraduate credits earned toward:

1. A certificate earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a bachelor's degree, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.
2. A certificate earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a second certificate with a cap of 6 credits, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.
3. A bachelor's degree earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a second bachelor's degree with a cap of 50% of the requirements for the second degree, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.

Transfer Credit Policy

The College of Professional Studies awards transfer credits for eligible courses completed successfully at regionally and programmatically accredited institutions. The Council for Higher Education Accreditation provides information about the organizations responsible for these two forms of accreditation. Official transcripts from all institutions should be sent directly to the College of Professional Studies Office of Admissions at the time of application.

Credits earned at institutions outside the United States are considered for transferability on a case-by-case basis. Students should submit an official English evaluation completed by an approved credential evaluator. Course descriptions and/or syllabi also should be translated into English and submitted to the College of Professional Studies Office of Admissions.

Once a new student has been accepted into a program, a major has been declared, and all official transcripts and/or exam results have been received, the College of Professional Studies Office of Registrar Operations conducts an official transfer credit evaluation within the first academic term. Students may be required to provide additional documentation for transfer credit evaluation.

The College of Professional Studies reserves the right to revise transfer credit awards due to course duplication, a student's change in program of study, or other reasons deemed necessary by the college.

Students who wish to transfer credits earned at the College of Professional Studies to another institution need to consult with that institution to determine eligibility.

For more information about transferring credit and the transfer credit award process, visit the College of Professional Studies Admissions webpage (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/admissions-aid/>).

Undergraduate Transfer Credit

Undergraduate students who wish to make a request for transfer credits must provide an official academic transcript for credits earned at another institution and an official report of exam results for credits earned through college-level proficiency examinations.

Undergraduate transfer credit awards are granted on a case-by-case basis employing the following guidelines:

- The minimum course grade acceptable for transfer credit is C, or 2.000 on a 4.000 scale.
- Courses completed on a pass/fail scale are not eligible for transfer.
- Credits earned in science and technology courses are valid for a period of seven years. Science and technology courses completed more than seven years ago may be considered for transfer at the discretion of the program director. Courses successfully completed in other subject areas are not subject to timelines.
- Transfer credits also may be earned through:
  - Prior Learning Assessment
  - College-Level Examination Program
  - The Excelsior College Examination Program (formerly Regents College)
  - DANTES Examination Program of the Educational Testing Service
  - Advanced Placement Examination Program of the College Entrance Examination Board
- Credits earned from any college within Northeastern University other than the College of Professional Studies are granted under the following guidelines:
  - Minimum grade of a C–, or 1.667 on a 4.000 scale.
  - If the undergraduate transfer student is only transferring credits earned at another Northeastern college, they complete a minimum of 24 semester hours (residency) for a bachelor's degree at the College of Professional Studies.
- Students must complete at least 50% of the total credits required for a bachelor's degree at the College of Professional Studies.
- Students may transfer up to 6 semester hours toward an undergraduate certificate.
- In addition to exceptions for approved academic partnerships, an undergraduate student who is on active military duty may transfer up to 75% of the total credits required for an undergraduate certificate or degree at the College of Professional Studies.

Prior Learning Assessment

Students may be eligible for PLA credit if they have accrued a foundation of knowledge and skills equivalent to the content of courses offered by the College of Professional Studies.

Awarded credits are incorporated into a student's degree plan as transfer credits and are subject to the university's residency requirement. PLA credit is limited to a maximum of 30 semester hours for undergraduate students. Acceptable credits for PLA review are determined from approved certificates, training, and a portfolio review of prior work experience. As part of the consideration for PLA credits, faculty will evaluate and map learning outcomes and achievement in alignment with New England Commission of Higher Education accreditation requirements.

Potential PLA credits should be considered and discussed as part of a student's transfer credits at the time of enrollment. Interested students should contact their career and academic advisor for more information.

The Northeastern University Library is at the hub of campus intellectual life. Resources include over 900,000 print volumes, 206,500 e-books, and 70,225 electronic journals. The Snell Library building welcomes 1.5 million visitors a year on the Boston campus, and the library's website serves users around the world. The library provides award-winning research and instructional services, a growing focus on networked information, and extensive special collections that document social justice efforts in the greater Boston area. The library has an ambitious vision to expand its digital initiatives by developing its digital repository, digitizing unique collections, constructing integrated collaborative spaces, and fostering the adoption of digital media and the creation of new knowledge. The Northeastern University Library leads the way in redefining library service in the 21st century.

Snell Library is also the primary study environment on campus, open 24/7 to the whole university community, year-round. Spaces include group, quiet, and silent work areas, with more than 30 group study rooms with whiteboards and plug-in displays for collaborative group work. Individual study rooms are available for graduate students on a long-term reservation basis, as well. In partnership with Information Technology Services, the library supports the Digital Media Commons and InfoCommons computing areas, providing high-level media creation and editing capabilities. The Digital Media Commons also includes a 3D printing studio with a full suite of fabrication technologies and professional-level audio and video recording studios.

Services provided by Snell Library include both on-site and distance reference, the latter including 24/7 live chat with a reference librarian; subject specialist librarians who provide in-depth consultation and research support for each academic program at the university; and an interlibrary loan system for providing materials not readily available at Northeastern. Digital scholarship project support and tools are also available through an institutional repository and data management services. The library also teaches workshops on digital media tools and resources and instructional sessions about library research for students and faculty.

The School of Law Library, located on five floors in the Knowles Law Center, includes a comprehensive collection of U.S. legal materials in print and in electronic format. Of particular note is the library's collection in the areas of public interest law; international human rights law; and public health, death penalty issues, and progressive lawyering. Access to print and electronic materials is provided through Scholar OneSearch, the university's online library catalog. More information can be found on the library website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/law/library/>).

Office of Academic Advising

617.373.2400

617.373.5545 (fax)

cps-adviser@northeastern.edu

Website (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academic-resources/advising/>)

The mission of the Office of Academic Advising is to provide comprehensive services to enable students to take ownership of their education and to make sound decisions and judgments that further their individual academic and professional success.

Each student accepted in a degree or certificate program has a designated career and academic coach who serves as the student's primary contact and partner at the university to work together toward the student's success by:

- Navigating curriculum/program requirements
- Planning a course load
- Choosing a major
- Determining the best path for degree completion
- Petitioning for transfer credit, course substitution, and course overloads
- Researching and locating resources that are important to the student

The Office of Academic Advising offers student enrichment opportunities throughout the year to satisfy educational, social, and networking desires/needs. For more information about the Office of Academic Advising, visit the College of Professional Studies website (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/student-resources/OAA.php>).

Students are encouraged to communicate regularly with their academic advisors.

Tutoring Services

Website (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academic-resources/tutoring-services/>)

Tutoring can benefit skilled professionals and beginning students alike. Whether you're struggling with organic chemistry, working on a long paper, or putting the finishing touches on a presentation, NU offers many opportunities for you to enhance your academic work and professional skills through free one-on-one academic support on and off campus.

International Tutoring Center

617.373.2455

globalss@northeastern.edu

Website (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academic-resources/global-student-success/international-tutoring/>)

Tutors provide high-quality ESL writing instruction and tutoring for international students who need assistance with papers, assignments, TOEFL writing, and research projects. Students can meet one-on-one with an ESL tutor for 50-minute appointments. This is a free service for Northeastern international students.

The Writing Center

617.373.4549

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/writingcenter/>)

The Northeastern University Writing Center is open to any member of the Northeastern community and exists to help writers of any level, from any academic discipline, become better writers. There are many ways to enjoy our services. You can book in-person or virtual sessions with a WC consultant, send us your writing through our email submissions, or browse our online content and multimedia resources on Facebook and Pinterest.

Career Services

617.373.2430

617.373.4231 (fax)

careerservices@northeastern.edu

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/careerservices/>)

Career Services provides resources, guidance, and opportunities that help students and alumni with the following:

- Choose a major and explore career options that fit their unique attributes
- Make career decisions that will engage them in productive and fulfilling work
- Prepare for and conduct successful job searches
- Create meaningful and effective engagement with employers
- Contribute to meeting global and societal needs

Northeastern University's Career Services does not guarantee employment nor does it refer students to prospective employers regarding job openings.

Disability Resource Center

617.373.2675

617.373.2730 (TTY)

617.373.7800 (fax)

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/drc/>)

The Disability Resource Center strives to create an environment in which all are empowered to make their unique contributions to the rich academic and social life of Northeastern University. Its staff takes a creative approach to assisting students who have disabilities or who are Deaf or hard of hearing by providing services that will enable them to succeed.

In accordance with federal laws and guidelines, services cannot be provided unless acceptable documentation is submitted to the DRC. Students must provide recent diagnostic documentation indicating that the disability substantially limits one or more major life activities. They must also register with the DRC and meet with a counselor.

Students who are disabled, Deaf, or hard of hearing are strongly encouraged to contact the DRC upon their acceptance to Northeastern. It is also most beneficial to schedule a meeting with a DRC counselor at least three months prior to arriving on campus in order to register and request services. Early contact with the center will allow enough time to assemble the required diagnostic documentation, register at the DRC, and set up services.

Services are individually tailored on a case-by-case basis to meet each student's needs. Support services are available for, but are not limited to, students with a documented diagnosis of learning disabilities, blindness or visual disabilities, mobility disabilities, deafness or hard-of-hearing disability, head injuries, psychiatric disorders, degenerative or chronic conditions, HIV-positive status or AIDS, and temporary disabilities.

The center's services include examination modification and accommodation; disability-related academic advising and course modification; note-taking services; readers and scribes; sign-language interpreters and transliterators; computer-aided, real-time information about classrooms' accessibility; advising and referral services; campus orientations; acquisition of assistive listening devices, Braille materials, taped textbooks, and raised-line drawings; and assistive technology, such as the Reading Edge machine. The center also provides liaison, advocacy, and training services for faculty, staff, and administration and coordinates special-interest groups.

The DRC does not provide personal care assistance services; the center will provide referral to local PCA service agencies, such as the Boston Center for Independent Living (<http://bostoncil.org/>).

Northeastern does not offer transportation services; however, public transportation in greater Boston is run by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, which offers a curb-to-curb transportation service known as The RIDE for persons with disabilities. Several stops on the Orange Line branch of the MBTA subway system are very convenient to the Northeastern campus. Please visit the MBTA website (<http://www.mbta.com/>) for more information.

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/wecare/>)

We Care assists students who are experiencing unexpected challenges to maintain their academic progress. The staff works with students to coordinate among university offices, to offer appropriate referrals, and to help develop viable options to support their continued success at the university. We Care also provides guidance to faculty and staff in identifying Northeastern resources and policies to help students succeed.

Center for Spirituality, Dialogue, and Service

617.373.2728

csds@northeastern.edu

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/spirituallife/>)

The Center for Spirituality, Dialogue, and Service (<http://www.northeastern.edu/spirituallife/>) serves and supports the diverse spiritual, religious, and social justice commitments of all Northeastern University community members. The center is home to the Sacred Space (<http://www.northeastern.edu/spirituallife/our-spaces/sacred-space/>) (200 Ell Hall), a beautiful award-winning spiritual area for worship, private contemplation and reflection, group meetings, dialogue, yoga, meditation, service projects, and special events. The center also oversees the Social Justice Resource Center (<http://www.northeastern.edu/sjrc/>) (106 St. Stephen Street) and supports the Hillel Center (<http://www.northeasternhillel.org/>), The Foundation for Jewish Life (70 St. Stephen Street), and the Catholic Center (<http://www.nucatholics.neu.edu/>) (68 St. Stephen Street).

CSDS sponsors over 25 student organizations representing the world's spiritual, religious, and humanist traditions. The center builds partnerships across university departments and disciplines and with religious communities and public service agencies locally, nationally, and internationally to help students become engaged citizens, peace builders, and equipped as leaders to tackle pressing global problems. The work of the center is organized into two mutually reinforcing spheres:

- Sphere of Spirituality and Interfaith Engagement

- Offers students, faculty, and staff opportunities to explore their personal spirituality, diverse religious traditions, learn ethical reflection and decision making, and develop interfaith appreciation and competence

- Sphere of Service and Social Action—coordinated by the SJRC

- Serves as an inclusive hub of innovative justice-minded thinking, collaboration, and action that empowers students, faculty, and staff to help enact a society that is equitable and peaceful

For more information, visit the website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/spirituallife/>), call 617.373.2728, submit an email (csds@northeastern.edu), or visit 203 Ell Hall.

Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution

617.373.4390

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/>)

The Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution administers the Code of Student Conduct (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/code-of-student-conduct/>) and the student disciplinary process. The code establishes and defines university community expectations for standards of behavior and responsibility, as well as rights and remedies provided to all university community members. The office is also responsible for the design, development, and implementation of the university mediation program.

Programs and services provided by the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution are designed to support the academic mission of the university by enhancing each student's academic achievement and personal, ethical, and character development. These programs are intended to promote community standards of behavior; positive and productive conflict management and resolution; civility; respect for self; respect for others; and an appreciation for being a part of a diverse, flourishing community.

Academic Calendar

The College of Professional Studies undergraduate programs are offered on a semester calendar consisting of three 15-week terms (with the option for half-term sessions offered in an accelerated format as well as a 7-week term in the summer).

For calendar details, please visit the Office of the University Registrar (<http://www.northeastern.edu/registrar/calendars.html>).

Campus Resources

Office of the University Registrar

617.373.2300

617.373.5360 (TTY)

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/registrar/>)

The Office of the University Registrar provides an important link between the university's academic programs and policies and the student. It administers a number of specific services including class scheduling, registration, record functions, verification of enrollment, reporting, transcript services, and Commencement.

The registrar's office utilizes the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) and public campus computers to provide students convenient access to information and services, including class schedules and registration, most recent grades, and unofficial transcripts. Additional information is available on the registrar website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/registrar/>).

Northeastern University Bookstore

617.373.2286

Website (<http://www.northeastern.bncollege.com>)

The bookstore operates during the entire academic year, but days and hours may vary in accordance with the university's calendar.

Purchases can be made by cash, check, American Express, MasterCard, Visa, Discover, or Husky Card.

Campus Recreation

617.373.4433

Website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/campusrec/>)

Exercise your body, mind, and spirit. The campus recreation program provides many outlets to help clear your mind and recharge your spirit. Our fitness facilities, unique among Boston-area colleges and universities, are open year-round. All programs were designed with you in mind, so whether you enjoy group fitness classes, ice hockey or street hockey, basketball, weight training, or swimming, Campus Recreation has something for everyone.

Full-time Northeastern University students, in good standing, have access to the Marino Recreation Center, Cabot Center, and the Badger and Rosen SquashBusters Center when they are enrolled in classes and co-op or scheduled for vacation and have paid the campus recreation fee. Part-time students, in good standing, will have access during any academic term in which they are enrolled and attending classes, as long as they have requested and paid the campus recreation fee. Help us maintain a safe and secure environment. Your Northeastern photo ID card must be a current, valid, and active card that needs to be swiped upon arrival in order to enter all facilities.

Russell J. Call Children's Center

617.373.3929

The Russell J. Call Children's Center is available to faculty, staff, and students; children from two years and nine months to five years of age are eligible to attend.

The center is licensed by the Massachusetts Department of Early Education and Care and staffed by professional teachers and co-op and work-study students.

For more information, contact Regina Nazzaro, Director of the Children's Center, at 617.373.3929 or via email (r.nazzaro@neu.edu).

Parking

617.373.2366

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/parking/>)

Parking spaces in the university lots and garages are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. To park in a university lot or garage, students must have a valid parking permit displayed on their vehicles. A parking permit does not guarantee a parking space.

New students may purchase a day parking permit. Only eligible students will receive a permit. To be eligible, students must be registered for a class or on co-op. The cost of the permit will be charged to the student's tuition account.

Overnight parking permits are limited, and preference is given to those students on co-op or clinical internships. Upperclass students in classes may be denied overnight parking due to limited availability.

Applications for term and overnight parking permits are available online (<https://www.applyweb.com/applyweb/>).

To park in a handicap space, individuals must purchase a parking decal and display a state-issued handicap license plate, placard, or hangtag. Handicap parking spaces are located throughout campus.

Operators of vehicles driven or parked on university property are responsible for knowing and complying with university driving and parking regulations.

Refer to the parking website for more information, or contact University Police at 617.373.2121.

John A. and Marcia E. Curry Student Center

617.373.2663

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/curry/>)

This campus “living room” serves as a hub of student activity. It is the crossroads of community life at Northeastern, offering cultural, social, and recreational programs and services.

The center offers ATM machines, an art gallery, the afterHOURS late-night club, food court and cafeteria, game room, lounge space, meeting rooms, student organization offices, TTY machines, and WRBB-FM.

Student center facilities may be reserved by recognized student organizations and university departments. The university reserves the right to limit the use of its facilities when the general public is involved.

Information for International Students

Office of Global Services

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/ogs/>)

617.373.2310

617.373.8788 (fax)

The Office of Global Services offers a vast array of programs and services to more than 18,000 international students and scholars who represent approximately 146 nations.

OGS also works to promote meaningful interaction and intercultural understanding among citizens of all countries and their peers from the United States, providing educational and cultural enrichment opportunities for all members of Northeastern University and the community at large. OGS advances the international community of Northeastern by ensuring immigration compliance while providing transformational academic services and cultural experiences for student satisfaction and successful graduation.

OGS maintains the SEVIS (Student and Exchange Visitor Information System) records of nonimmigrant students and scholars at Northeastern, as mandated by the U.S. federal government. OGS provides information and services to ensure compliance with regulations and procedures affecting those international students and scholars in specified nonimmigrant visa classifications.

OGS serves as a "home away from home" for all international students. Affiliation with OGS begins with admission to the academic program and continues throughout the student life cycle at Northeastern and beyond for alumni who apply for Optional Practical Training. OGS offers academic support services; cultural acclimation support; and events and initiatives, including the cultural festival "Carnevale" in the spring, which celebrates the cultural diversity of the entire university community. For a list of OGS services and programs, visit the OGS website. (<http://www.northeastern.edu/ogs/>)

International students must maintain full-time status at Northeastern to be in compliance with immigration regulations. Also, they must not engage in any type of employment unless timely authorized by OGS. Note that timely registration for courses is especially important so that students may remain in compliance with current federal regulations. They should consult with OGS if they have questions about their individual status.

Coming to Northeastern

Preparing to study at Northeastern is exciting, and students have many things to do in preparation. Here are some of the key items students should do to prepare.

- Obtain F-1 or J-1 visa from the U.S. embassy or consulate in the home country to be eligible to study in the United States. An international student may attend Northeastern in a nonimmigrant status other than F-1 or J-1, as long as U.S. immigration regulations allow for study in the United States under that specific visa classification. Some international students must apply and be approved for a change of status (e.g., from B-2 to F-1) before beginning the program at Northeastern. For detailed information/instructions specific to a student's current nonimmigrant status, eligibility to participate in co-op, or other forms of experiential learning, contact OGS (<http://www.northeastern.edu/ogs/>).
- Acquire Student Health Insurance: Since September 1989, Massachusetts law (M.G.L. c.15A, § 18) has required every full-time and part-time student enrolled in a certificate, diploma, or degree-granting program in a Massachusetts institution of higher learning to participate in a Student Health Insurance Program or in a health benefit plan with comparable coverage. The Student Health Insurance Program defines a part-time student as a student enrolled in at least 75% of the full-time curriculum (College of Professional Studies graduate students—7 credits, part-time graduate students—6 credits).
- Complete health report: Prior to entering Northeastern, all enrolled students must complete and submit a health report to University Health and Counseling Services. It must be completed and returned by the stated deadline. The required record of immunity section is necessary for compliance with the Massachusetts immunization requirements for college-age students. Failure to meet the requirement will prevent future course registration. Additionally, further documentation of immunity is mandatory for students in Bouvé College of Health Sciences. Visit the UHCS webpage (<http://www.northeastern.edu/uhrs/>) to access the health report online.

Planning Information

New international students are expected to arrive by the program start date stated on the I-20 issued by Northeastern or on the DS-2019 issued by Northeastern or by the sponsoring agency/government.

When making travel arrangements, international students should not enter the United States more than 30 days prior to the program start date listed on the I-20 or DS-2019, and international students should not arrive after the program start date on the I-20 or DS-2019.

All international students will need to attend the mandatory international student orientation program and complete the international student Immigration Clearance E-Form. For further details on the OGS international student orientation and the immigration clearance process, and for other information pertinent to international students, check the OGS website (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/new-students/arrival/>).

International Student Orientation and Cultural Events

OGS (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>) organizes a mandatory orientation for all F-1 or J-1 international students. International students will receive an overview of the F-1 or J-1 immigration compliance requirements along with information and resources to support academic success, student life, campus safety, and cultural adjustment.

F-1 or J-1 international students should plan to arrive on campus no more than 30 days prior to the program start date listed on the I-20 or DS-2019, in order to attend the international student orientation and complete the mandatory Immigration Clearance E-Form. International orientation dates will be listed on the OGS website.

Throughout the year, OGS hosts cocurricular events that celebrate culture and the rich diversity of the campus. These events are encouraged as a way to gain familiarity with Northeastern in a cross-cultural context while also facilitating the formation of friendships across cultures.

U.S. citizens, who have been living abroad, are not required to complete OGS orientation sessions but are welcome to participate in cocurricular events. For more information and to register, check the schedule of events on the OGS website. (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>)

SEVIS Compliance

OGS is required to comply with immigration regulations governing student status and must report information every semester as required by the Department of Homeland Security.

OGS: Your Resource for SEVIS Advice and Assistance

OGS advises students on the complexities of immigration compliance and interfaces with various U.S. government agencies. OGS maintains and updates the SEVIS records and advises students on relevant issues related to nonimmigrant student status by individual appointments or through workshops and information sessions. Check the OGS website (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>) for important updates and/or contact OGS with questions relating to nonimmigrant student status or any aspect of SEVIS compliance.

Housing

Students at Northeastern University College of Professional Studies are not eligible for on-campus housing at Northeastern. There are, however, a number of housing resources (https://offcampus.sites.northeastern.edu/#\_ga=27530702616185382701655137444-17388489651533905991) students may consult if seeking off-campus housing.

Information Technology Services

IT Services is the university's central group that provides technology services, solutions, and support to all Northeastern University students. Visit the Connect To Tech guide (https://connect-to-tech.northeastern.edu/students/?utm\_source=fy23&utm\_medium=catalog&utm\_campaign=connect) for information and key technology resources that are particularly helpful to students, such as Northeastern accounts, email, laptop recommendations and discounts, software, and good-to-know websites and mobile apps.

Technology Support and IT Service Desk

Tech Service Portal (https://service.northeastern.edu/tech/?utm\_source=fy23&utm\_medium=catalog&utm\_campaign=connect) (for self-service, requests, chat support, and other technology assistance)

help@northeastern.edu

The IT Service Desk is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to assist with technology questions and issues—call or email anytime for support. Outside of the Boston area, international and toll-free calling options are available (https://services.northeastern.edu/tech/?id=kb\_article&sys\_id=18ace88a1bd4b0100813a643b24bcb11).

Visit the Tech Service Portal (<https://services.northeastern.edu/tech/>) to search for how-tos and FAQs, borrow a laptop or other equipment, start a live chat, and search other resources.

Occasionally, interrupts to university systems, services, and tools can happen—when they do, get updates about them through Northeastern's IT status page (<https://northeastern.statuspage.io/>).

New Admitted Students Site

In addition to participating in New Student Orientation, students are strongly encouraged to review the New Admitted Students (<http://www.orientation.cps.northeastern.edu/>) site provided by the Office of Academic Advising.

This is a tool and resource intended to help new students prepare for their first term of enrollment, as well as provide information that students can reference throughout their time at Northeastern University and beyond. The site is organized with checklists students may use during different points in their academic career.

New Student Orientation (On-Ground and Online)

New students taking courses on-ground receive an invitation to the on-ground orientation, which typically takes place in the week before the term begins. The purpose of New Student Orientation is to provide information and tools for each student's success from the point of program entry to degree completion. Some parts of the orientation may be virtual.

Each regional campus has their own on-ground orientation.

All new on-campus students are expected to attend the on-ground orientation. If students cannot attend the on-ground orientation, they should thoroughly review the New Admitted Students (<http://www.orientation.cps.northeastern.edu/>) site and any virtual/recorded parts of the orientation.

Online students should thoroughly review the New Admitted Students (<http://www.orientation.cps.northeastern.edu/>) site, as well as the Online Orientation Module (https://rise.articulate.com/share/V3mBBz5BO1T4O\_RfYWT-0c-vNI958kUi/#/).

International students are also expected to attend a separate orientation with the Office of Global Services (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>).

Public Safety

Northeastern University Police Department

100 Columbus Place
 617.373.3333 (EMERGENCY—police, fire, medical)
 617.373.3934 (TTY emergency or nonemergency)
 617.373.2121 (nonemergency regular business)

Website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/>)

Public Safety Division Administrative Offices
 617.373.2696

Personal Safety
 617.373.2121

The Public Safety Division is committed to working with Northeastern University faculty, students, staff, and neighbors to build relationships and keep our campus thriving. Our work extends far beyond Boston, as we support learners in their academic and experiential endeavors around the world. The Public Safety Division is comprised of three sections: Police Department, Emergency Management, and International Safety.

The Northeastern University Police Department (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/>) is a full-service and accredited police agency that comprises patrol and investigative divisions providing 24-hour service. NUPD has developed robust crime-detection and prevention strategies centered on technology and campus community engagement. Our well-trained officers are ready and willing to assist all members of our community.

A personal safety escort (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/our-services/safety-escort-services/>) can be provided from one on-campus location to another, any time of day, whenever personal safety is a concern. You'll need to provide your name, Northeastern ID number, and location. Safety escorts usually arrive in 10 to 15 minutes. A special, nighttime off-campus escort service, called the RedEye, runs from dusk to dawn to transport students to their residence within two miles from the center of campus. Every night from 7 p.m. until 6 a.m., the RedEye van will pick students up at the Snell Library. In order to use this escort, you must book a ride in advance using the RedEye app, or you can book a ride at the RedEye dispatch center located at the Northeast Security office in the Ruggles Substation.

SafeZone (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/safezone/>) is a mobile safety app that is unique to Northeastern. SafeZone is a smartphone app that any student or staff member can download and use for free. This app will connect you directly to the NUPD should you need our assistance or emergency support while you are on campus.

NUPD encourages you to not only familiarize yourself with all of the services provided by NUPD but to also utilize the services and safety-related tips provided. If you see something that does not look or feel right, NUPD encourages you to say something by contacting NUPD at 617.373.2121 or utilizing the SafeZone app.

LOST AND FOUND (HTTPS://NUPD.NORTHEASTERN.EDU/OUR-SERVICES/LOST-AND-FOUND/)

If you have lost an item on Northeastern's Boston campus, call 617.373.3913. If your item has been turned in, we will contact you by telephone or email. If you have found an item on campus, return it to our headquarters located at 100 Columbus Place. If you suspect the item has been stolen, call the NUPD at 617.373.2121 to report the theft.

UNIVERSITY EMERGENCY INFORMATION (HTTP://WWW.NORTHEASTERN.EDU/EMERGENCY/)

617.373.2000 (snow emergencies)
 617.373.3333 (police, medical, or fire emergencies)

Northeastern is committed to providing members of its community with a safe and secure place in which to live, work, and study.

The university is prepared to respond to emergencies and urgent situations that require immediate action. A trained team of police officers, EMTs, health and counseling experts, student affairs and residential life staff, and other professionals form a coordinated group that is able to manage a wide range of potential situations.

NU Alert, emergency broadcast communication messages, are sent to the email addresses and telephone numbers students, faculty, and staff have provided the university. For more information on NU Alert and Emergency Planning, visit the NUPD website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/safety/emergency-planning/>).

We Care

617.373.7591

wecare@northeastern.edu (we_care@northeastern.edu)

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/wecare/>)

We Care assists students who are experiencing unexpected challenges to maintain their academic progress. The staff works with students to coordinate among university offices, to offer appropriate referrals, and to help develop viable options to support their continued success at the university. We Care also provides guidance to faculty and staff in identifying Northeastern resources and policies to help students succeed.

Financial Information

- Bill Payment (p. 27)
- Delivery of Services (p. 30)
- Financial Aid Assistance (p. 31)
- General Financial Aid Policies and Procedures (p. 33)
- Northeastern University Student Health Plan (NUSHP) (p. 34)
- Tuition and Fees (p. 35)

Bill Payment

Office of Student Financial Services

617.373.2270

617.373.8735 (fax)

studentaccounts@northeastern.edu

Full payment of tuition and other related charges is due prior to the start of the term as specified on the original bill. For questions related to overload charges, the billing process, late fees, payment methods, tuition payment plan, and refunds, contact us at the above phone and email address.

E-Bill

Tuition bills are only generated electronically and are available via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>). Paper bills are not generated.

For additional information regarding the e-bill, please visit the Billing Frequently Asked Questions webpage (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/billing-faq/>).

Payment of Tuition

Payments will be accepted for billed charges only. The university is not able to process payments for more than the balance due on the student's account. Please note, a past-due balance may result in late fees, prevention of registration, prevention of grade release, prevention of participation in global study programs, or withdrawal from the university.

Accepted methods of payment are:

- Electronic check and credit card: Electronic check and credit card payments can be made online via NUPay on the Student Hub. Accepted credit cards include MasterCard, Visa, American Express, and Discover. If you are paying with a check or money order, please ensure that it is made payable to Northeastern University.
- International payments using Flywire: Northeastern has partnered with Flywire to streamline the international wire payment process to the university. This service provides students and their families a safe, cost-effective, and convenient method of making payments to Northeastern in foreign currencies. To learn more about international payments through Flywire, visit the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/payment-methods/>).
- Monthly payment plan: The monthly payment plan, administered through Flywire, allows students to divide costs into more manageable installments. For additional information, visit the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/financing-options/>).
- Supplemental loans: There are a number of supplemental educational loan programs available to assist students and families in financing their education. Review options at the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/financing-options/>).

For additional information regarding available payment and financing options, visit the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/>).

Student Financial Responsibility Agreement

As compelled by federal law, all students who enroll in classes at Northeastern are required to complete and accept the Student Financial Responsibility Agreement (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/sfra/>). This agreement must be completed once per academic year and is located on the Student Hub. Failure to complete the SFRA will result in a hold that prevents attendance.

Northeastern's Monthly Payment Plan

Northeastern offers a monthly payment plan, administered through Flywire, which allows students to divide their educational costs into smaller, more manageable installments. For additional information, visit the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/financing-options/>).

Tuition Reimbursement

Many companies, embassies, and agencies directly reimburse students for their educational expenses upon successful completion of courses. In these situations, the student is responsible for paying the bill in full at the beginning of the term or selecting another payment option. Tuition may not be left unpaid pending reimbursement by a third party. Check with your human resources department to see if you qualify.

If your company requires an official transcript to process the tuition reimbursement, you may request your transcript (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/transcript-requests/>) through the Office of the Registrar. Transcripts should be requested prior to the due date on your initial billing statement. Should there be a balance due on your account after the due date, your account may be subject to holds and a transcript will not be available until the balance due is resolved.

Tuition Remission/Third-Party Payer

When a third party pays tuition directly to the university, the student must provide the Office of Student Accounts with a purchase order, or a written statement of intent to pay by the third party, prior to the first week of classes. If there are stipulations associated with the payment agreement, such as a minimum grade level, then the student must either pay the university directly or enroll in one of the payment options.

Documents pertaining to a third-party agreement can be emailed to thirdparty@northeastern.edu, faxed to 617.373.8735, or mailed to the address below:

Student Financial Services
 Northeastern University
 ATTN: Third-Party Billing

 Boston, MA 02115

VA Education Benefits

In accordance with Title 38 USC 3679 (e), covered individuals utilizing Chapter 31 or Chapter 33 education benefits at Northeastern University will not have any penalty imposed on their account nor will they be required to take out additional funding due to pending or late payments from the Department of Veterans Affairs as long as the Dolce Center for the Advancement of Veterans and Servicemembers has a current Certificate of Eligibility or VRE Authorization on file AND a Request for VA Benefit Certification is submitted through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) portal.

COEs must be submitted before the start of the student's first term but do not need to be resubmitted unless entitlement information changes. Students are also required to complete the Request for VA Benefit Certification form through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) portal before the start of each term they wish to use VA benefits. Students may have a hold placed on the account if there is an outstanding balance after payment from the VA is received by Northeastern.

Discrepancies in Your Bill

Discrepancies in your bill should be addressed in writing via email (studentaccounts@northeastern.edu) to the Office of Student Financial Services. Include your name, Northeastern ID, permanent home billing address, Northeastern email address, dollar amount in question, date of invoice, and any other relevant information.

Responses will be sent to the student's Northeastern email address. If there is a discrepancy in your bill, pay the undisputed part of the bill to avoid responsibility for any late fees or financial holds.

Late Fees

Late fees can be placed on accounts any time after the due date if the account remains fully or partially unpaid. The university typically waits, however, until after the conclusion of the add/drop period, for the specified semester, prior to assessment of late fees. These fees are based on the amount past due at the time of assessment and can range from $75 to $200. Late fees are assessed once per term.

If a student or payer wishes to dispute a late fee assessment, they must do so, in writing, to studentaccounts@northeastern.edu. Please be sure to include the student's name, Northeastern ID, and reason for the dispute in the email.

Refund Policies

To be eligible for a refund, a student must drop their course(s) before the course drop deadline. There is no partial tuition refund or credit. Once the course drop date passes, the student is responsible for 100% of tuition and associated charges. Refer to the academic calendar (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/group/calendar/>) for course registration dates. Credit balances will be refunded to the student unless otherwise directed by the student or the bill payer. Note the following exceptions:

- Payment plans, Parent PLUS Loans, and supplemental loans: Credit balances created from Parent PLUS Loans, supplemental loans, or overpayment to the monthly payment plan will be refunded to the bill payer on record unless a completed Refund Authorization form (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/forms/>), stating that funds may be released directly to the student, is received from that borrower. Please note that anticipated credits are funds that have not been received by the university and, therefore, cannot be refunded.
- International payments: Credit balances created from an international payment must be returned to the originating bank by the payment method used.
- Credit cards: Credit balances created from an overpayment with a credit card must be returned to the credit card used at the time of payment.

Official Withdrawal Adjustments

Students who officially withdraw, either from a course or from the university, during an academic term will receive a tuition refund based on the policy specified in this catalog. Institutional funds awarded by Northeastern will be adjusted based on the actual charges incurred during the term. Funds from federal Title IV programs will be returned to the government according to federal regulations. The federal government Return of Funds Policy dictates that a student's eligibility for federal financial aid is determined by the number of days enrolled during the term. The refund will be calculated from the day the student submits a notification of withdrawal to the Office of the Registrar.

Credit policies vary according to the duration of the course. Typical tuition adjustments are made according to the schedule described below.

Fifteen-Week and Seven-Week Courses

The College of Professional Studies will permit students to drop a 15-week and 7-week course within 14 days from the start of the term in Eastern Standard Time and receive a 100% refund. After the 14th day of the term, any student seeking to withdraw from a 15-week or 7-week course will be ineligible for a refund. Should a student decide to withdraw from a course, they are expected to do so via the Student Hub. For specific dates in each term, refer to the academic calendar (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/group/calendar/>).

Students who experience difficulty adding, dropping, or withdrawing from a course should promptly email (registrar@northeastern.edu) the Office of the Registrar. If it is determined that there is an issue with Student Hub access, they need to contact the Service Desk at the following:

help@northeastern.edu
 Information Technology Services (<https://its.northeastern.edu/>)

Students with holds (e.g., financial, judicial) may have restricted access to add, drop, or withdraw from a course. In such instances, students are responsible for resolving the hold immediately and to meet the established course registration deadlines.

Courses Meeting for One Week or Less

With the exception of Education Summer Institutes and one-day courses, the College of Professional Studies will permit students to drop a course meeting for one week or less through the first day of the course in Eastern Standard Time and receive a 100% refund. After the first day of the course, any student seeking to withdraw from an intensive course meeting for one week or less will be ineligible for a refund.

Students who experience difficulty adding, dropping, or withdrawing from a course should promptly email (registrar@northeastern.edu) the Office of the Registrar. If it is determined that there is an issue with Student Hub access, they need to contact the Service Desk at the following:

help@northeastern.edu
 Information Technology Services (<https://its.northeastern.edu/>)

Students with holds (e.g., financial, judicial) may have restricted access to add, drop, or withdraw from a course. In such instances, students are responsible for resolving the hold immediately and to meet the established course registration deadlines.

Note: Nonattendance does not constitute official course dropping or withdrawal. A student who registers for a course, completes the "I Am Here" process, or begins attendance and does not officially drop from the course before the deadline is responsible for paying 100% of the tuition charges and applicable fees. A student in this situation may earn an F grade that will be part of the student's permanent academic record.

Like all grades for courses attempted and/or completed, a grade earned due to nonattendance impacts a student's academic progression, an international student's visa eligibility, and a federal financial aid recipient's aid eligibility and award.

Delivery of Services

Northeastern University assumes no liability for delay or failure to provide educational or other services or facilities due to causes beyond its reasonable control. Causes include, without limitation, power failure, fire, strikes by university employees or others, damage by natural elements, and acts of public authorities. The university will, however, exert reasonable efforts, when it judges them to be appropriate, to provide comparable services, facilities, or performance; but its inability or failure to do so shall not subject the university to liability.

In the event that Northeastern determines it must suspend or alter its operations in whole or in part due to epidemic, pandemic, other public health emergency, extreme weather, natural disaster, acts or threatened acts of terrorism or war, or any single act or combination of events beyond the University's control, Northeastern may suspend, reduce, terminate and/or modify its operations in whole or in part, which may or may not include offering online or other alternative learning options, in its discretion. In any such event, Northeastern University is under no obligation to refund or credit any portion of tuition, fees, or other charges paid or owed, but it may do so in its discretion.

Northeastern University reserves the sole right to promulgate and change rules and regulations and to make changes of any nature in its program; calendar; admissions policies, procedures, and standards; degree requirements; fees; and academic schedule whenever necessary or desirable, including, without limitation, changes in course content and class schedule, the cancellation of scheduled classes and other academic activities, and the substitution of alternatives for scheduled classes and other academic activities. In any such case, the university will give whatever notice is reasonably practical.

Northeastern University will endeavor to make available to its students a fine education and a stimulating and congenial environment. However, the quality and rate of progress of an individual's academic career and professional advancement upon completion of a degree or program are largely dependent on his or her own abilities, commitment, and effort. In many professions and occupations, there are also requirements imposed by federal and state statutes and regulatory agencies for certification or entry into a particular field. These requirements may change while a student is enrolled in a program and may vary from state to state or country to country. Although the university stands ready to help its students find out about requirements and changes in them, it is the student's responsibility to initiate the inquiry.

Financial Aid Assistance

Student Financial Services

617.373.2897 (College of Professional Studies)

617.373.5714 (TTY)

sfs@northeastern.edu (cpsfs@northeastern.edu)

studentfinance.northeastern.edu (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/>)

Northeastern University is committed to assisting students in developing a plan for financing their Northeastern education. Through a variety of options—including federal financial aid, Northeastern's monthly payment plan, supplemental loans, and your own resources—a plan can be designed that will make your education costs affordable.

Federal Financial Aid

To apply for federal financial aid programs, students must submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (<https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa/>) annually and include Northeastern's FAFSA school code, 002199. To electronically sign your FAFSA, you will need an FSA ID. If you do not have one or have forgotten your FSA ID, visit the Federal Student Aid website (<https://studentaid.gov/apply-for-aid/fafsa/filling-out/>) to obtain one before starting the FAFSA online.

Students must meet the following criteria to be eligible for federal financial aid:

- Be enrolled in at least 6 credits, applicable toward a degree-granting program, per term for federal financial aid, unless you are enrolled in a full-time or part-time stand-alone course
Note: Although some programs may consider students enrolled in 4 credits to have half-time status, in order to qualify for federal financial aid, students must be enrolled in a minimum of 6 credits.
- Be a U.S. citizen or eligible noncitizen
- Be matriculated in a degree-granting program

Please note that students in certificate and nondegree programs are not eligible for federal financial aid.

- Have received a high school diploma or GED and be able to document upon request
- Be registered with Selective Service (if required)
- Not be convicted of a drug-related crime in the last year
- Not be in default from previous student loans
- Maintain satisfactory academic progress (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/policies-procedures/satisfactory-academic-progress/>)

Awarding Timelines

For information regarding your financial aid status, visit the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>).

New students are awarded on an ongoing basis after we have been notified that they have been admitted into their program. Awarding will commence as detailed below, and award notifications for new students will be sent to the email address provided during the admissions process.

Term of Entry	Earliest Award Availability
Fall	July
Spring	October
Summer	May

Award notifications for returning students will be available beginning in June and will be sent to their Northeastern email address.

Federal Loans

All students eligible to receive federal financial aid are awarded a Federal Direct Loan, provided they have not exhausted aggregate loan maximums. Eligibility for a need-based Federal Direct Loan is determined by the information provided on the FAFSA and academic level. Students must be registered for at least 6 credits each term to be eligible for a federal loan. Additionally, all credits taken must count toward their current degree program for students to be eligible for federal financial aid.

Supplemental Student Loans

There are a number of educational loan programs available to assist students in covering their expenses over and above any federal financial aid that may be awarded to them from the Office of Student Financial Services. Most private lenders have credit and income requirements that must be met before being approved for these programs.

Additional information regarding supplemental loans is available on the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/billing-payments/financing-options/>). The Office of Student Financial Services recommends to students that, when researching the loan and lender that best meets their needs, they make sure they take into consideration the interest rate; the quality of customer service; the amount needed for borrowing; as well as origination, disbursement, and/or repayment fees.

General Financial Aid Policies and Procedures

Financial Aid Policies

Student Financial Services reserves the right to adjust a student's initial offer of assistance based upon information brought to the office's attention subsequent to extension of the offer, including the receipt of outside scholarships or revised family financial data.

Return of Title IV Funds

Northeastern University is required by federal statute to recalculate federal financial aid eligibility for students who withdraw, drop out, are dismissed, or take a leave of absence prior to completing 60% of a term. Recalculation is based on the percentage of earned aid using the Federal Return of Title IV funds formula. Federal regulations require students to obtain at least an A, B, C, D, or S in at least one course for the term; students who receive all unsuccessful grades for a term (F, NE, W, I, U) may be considered unofficially withdrawn from the term and subject to an aid recalculation, including the possible loss of financial aid for that term.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

To continue receiving financial aid, undergraduate students must have a 2.000 grade-point average and have earned academic credit in 67% of the courses attempted. SAP will be evaluated once per academic year. Refer to the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/policies-procedures/satisfactory-academic-progress/>) for more information about how satisfactory progress affects financial aid.

Change in Enrollment Status

Students must notify the Office of Student Financial Services about any changes to their enrollment, whether due to withdrawal from a class, a leave of absence, a change in coursework, or withdrawal from the university. Students should be aware that any change in enrollment status may result in the loss of all or part of their federal and/or institutional aid eligibility. It is the student's responsibility to notify the Office of Student Financial Services about any change in enrollment status and understand the ramifications of such changes.

It is highly recommended that whenever possible, students discuss the impact of such changes with the Office of Student Financial Services before making them.

Unusual Enrollment

Some FAFSA applications will be flagged for "unusual enrollment history" by the U.S Department of Education as a result of the student having received Federal Pell Grants or Federal Direct Loans at multiple institutions in recent years. These files will need to be reviewed by the Office of Student Financial Services; if necessary, additional documentation may be required. We will not be able to award students with federal financial aid assistance until the unusual enrollment history has been resolved.

Ability to Benefit

In general, students who have received a high school diploma, GED, associate degree, or higher may be eligible for federal financial aid assistance. As a part of the application process, students will have to document receipt of one of these credentials in order to be admitted into the College of Professional Studies. If appropriate documentation was not provided during the admission process, our office will request proof of high school diploma, GED, or college degree. Aid cannot be disbursed until this process is completed.

Appeal/Change in Circumstances

If the student feels that the aid process does not accurately reflect their situation, or if family circumstances change during the year, the student should notify the Office of Student Financial Services for further evaluation. We may request additional documentation from you that might indicate a change in financial circumstances.

Outside Sources of Aid

Students must notify the Office of Student Financial Services of any aid received from outside sources, such as scholarships. Receipt of outside sources of financial aid may require that financial aid offered by Northeastern be adjusted.

Reapplication Process

Students must reapply for financial aid each year by filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (<https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa/>).

Verification

If a student is selected for verification (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/federal-verification-process/>), the Office of Student Financial Services may be required to collect tax transcripts and other financial documents to verify the information provided on the FAFSA. We will not be able to award students with federal financial aid assistance until this process has been completed.

Northeastern University Student Health Plan (NUSHP)

General Information

Since September 1989, Massachusetts law (M.G.L. c.15A, § 18) has required every full-time and part-time student enrolled in a certificate, diploma, or degree-granting program in a Massachusetts institution of higher learning to participate in a Student Health Plan or in a health benefit plan with comparable coverage.

The Student Health Plan defines a full-time student as having full-time student status and enrolled in any amount of credits of a full-time curriculum.

The Student Health Plan defines a part-time student as having part-time student status and enrolled in at least 75% of credits of the full-time curriculum (CPS undergraduate students—9 credits, CPS graduate students—6 credits).

The health fee is assessed each term on a student's account based on these definitions unless the student has previously waived the health plan fee in the current academic year.

Students on co-op or on study abroad are considered active students and will be enrolled in and billed for NUSHP each year.

Students enrolled in online programs are not eligible for NUSHP. Courses that would normally be held in the classroom and are currently being offered online or remotely due to COVID-19 are considered in-classroom courses and may make students eligible for and assessed the NUSHP fee.

Health Insurance Waiver

Eligible students are automatically enrolled in NUSHP each academic year and may waive NUSHP via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) once they have been billed for NUSHP. In addition, to be eligible to waive, comparable coverage must be effective from the beginning of the term the student meets Student Health Program requirements.

The burden of proof that the alternative insurance is adequate falls upon the student choosing to waive. By submitting the waiver form, the student will be accepting responsibility for all medical expenses incurred, and neither Northeastern University nor its Student Health Plan will be responsible for these expenses.

Northeastern reserves the right to verify that the student's insurance meets the criteria indicated. Disciplinary action may be taken if a student knowingly waives NUSHP without comparable coverage.

Visit the NUSHP website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/nushp/>) for waiver deadlines.

Tuition and Fees

Your total tuition due for the semester is dependent upon the total number of credit hours in which you are enrolled. Course tuition is assessed just prior to the start of each class. Fees typically are assessed each semester.

To calculate the total tuition for an individual class, you would multiply the total number of credit hours for the course by the cost per credit hour.

Example: The 2022–2023 tuition for an on-campus undergraduate class that is 3 semester hours is  $$541 \times 3 = $1,623$ .

College of Professional Studies Undergraduate Tuition Rates (2022–2023)

These tuition rates are for the 2022–2023 academic year, which begins with the fall 2022 semester. For a complete listing of tuition and fee rates, visit the College of Professional Studies website (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/tuition-financial-aid/>). Tuition and fees are subject to revision by the president and Board of Trustees at any time.

Course Type	Tuition per Credit Hour
Undergraduate CPS course	$541
Lab course (science lab or writing lab)	$781

Fees

- Campus Recreation Fee: An $18 per semester campus recreation fee will be assessed for all students at Northeastern University's Boston Huntington Avenue campus. This fee covers admission to home athletic events, use of the Marino Fitness Center, SquashBusters athletic facility, and the Cabot Gym (fitness and pool). This fee will also support the maintenance of existing athletic fields and facilities.

Academic and Research Integrity

Essential to the mission of Northeastern University is the commitment to the principles of intellectual honesty and integrity. Academic integrity is important for two reasons. First, independent and original scholarship ensures that students derive the most from the educational experience and the pursuit of knowledge. Second, academic dishonesty violates the most fundamental values of an intellectual community and depreciates the achievements of the entire university.

Accordingly, Northeastern views academic dishonesty as one of the most serious offenses that a student can commit while in college. Academic dishonesty includes cheating, fabrication, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, participation in academically dishonest activities, and facilitating academic dishonesty.

All members of the Northeastern community—students, faculty, and staff—share the responsibility to bring forward known acts of apparent academic dishonesty. Any member of the academic community who witnesses an act of academic dishonesty should report it to the appropriate instructor or to the director of the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution.

Violations of the Academic Integrity Policy will result in disciplinary action, which may include a failing grade in the assignment or course, academic probation, suspension, or immediate dismissal from the program. No student may withdraw from a course in which he or she is found responsible for violating the Academic Integrity Policy.

The university's complete Academic Integrity Policy (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/academic-integrity-policy/>) is available through the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution.

Students unclear as to whether or not a source requires citation should speak with their instructor; consult a writing resource (e.g., Writing Center, University Library); and/or utilize the Northeastern Citation and Academic Integrity Checklist. (https://www.northeastern.edu/oeprd/demo/CPS\_AIRS/Citation%20and%20Academic%20Integrity%20Checklist/story.html)

Code of Student Conduct

The Code of Student Conduct can be found on the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/code-of-student-conduct/>).

Academic Honors

Dean's List

A dean's list for the undergraduate programs is compiled at the end of each fall and spring term to recognize students' academic accomplishments.

The requirements to be on the dean's list are:

- 3.500 or higher term GPA
- In good academic standing
- Enrolled in at least half-time (6 semester hours per full semester)
- No incomplete grades
- No grade below C–
- No grade on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory (pass/fail) basis, except when there is no alternative or when required by the program

Dean's list recognition is noted on the student's official academic record.

Graduation with Honors

Graduation with honors is reserved for bachelor's degree candidates who have completed 60 semester hours in residence and who meet the following GPA requirements to graduate with honors:

GPA	Honor Conferred
3.500–3.699	Graduate with honor (cum laude)
3.700–3.849	Graduate with high honor (magna cum laude)
3.850–4.000	Graduate with highest honor (summa cum laude)

Residency Requirement

In addition to meeting all degree and major requirements, students must earn a minimum of 50% of the total hours required for graduation at the College of Professional Studies in order to receive a bachelor's degree. Exceptions to this requirement include active-duty military personnel, bachelor's degree students who transferred from a qualifying college at Northeastern University, or students who transferred from an approved academic partnership. Active-duty military personnel must earn 25 percent of their undergraduate credits at the College of Professional Studies. Students who transfer from another college at Northeastern must earn a minimum of 15% of their semester hours at the College of Professional Studies. Students who transfer from an approved academic partnership must earn the required percentage of undergraduate credits at the College of Professional Studies as detailed in their partnership agreement.

Active-Duty Military Personnel

As a member of the Service Member Opportunity Colleges, the College of Professional Studies' academic residency requirement is different for active-duty service members. Active-duty service members are required to complete 25% of the undergraduate certificate/degree program at the College of Professional Studies.

Academic Progression Standards

Faculty Advisor Communication Tool

FACT is a communication tool that provides faculty with a method for providing input to career and academic advisors and students for early intervention, coaching, and assistance. Faculty members are expected to submit input around the midpoint of each term/session.

EAB/Navigate

EAB/Navigate is a tool used by faculty and academic and career advisors to better service and communicate with learners. Learners can utilize EAB/Navigate to make appointments with academic and career advisors, while faculty can use it to provide academic and career advisors with information on learner progress in the classroom.

Academic Progress/Standing

To be in academic good standing, an undergraduate student must continuously maintain a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 2.000 on a 4.000 scale and must also make continuous satisfactory academic progress. To make SAP, a student must earn at least 66% of their cumulative attempted credits. Nonmatriculated students are required to be in good academic standing to be allowed to register for any subsequent classes.

Students are responsible for reviewing their grades and academic standing at the end of each term through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>). If there are any discrepancies, students should immediately contact the instructor(s) directly. Students have 30 calendar days after final grades are posted to appeal a grade.

Academic Probation and Dismissal

Notation of academic probation appears on a student's internal record but not on their permanent transcript.

An undergraduate student is placed on academic warning for low academic performance if their GPA is below 2.000 at the College of Professional Studies and/or if they do not earn at least 66% of their cumulative attempted credits. At this point, the student is strongly encouraged to consult with their academic and career advisor to develop an action plan to improve their academic standing. Attempted credits include all credits/courses for which the student registered and did not drop.

An undergraduate student is placed on academic probation if, after already having been placed on academic warning, their cumulative GPA remains below 2.000 at the College of Professional Studies and/or if they do not earn at least 66% of their cumulative attempted credits in their subsequent term of enrollment. The student is encouraged to consult with their academic and career advisor to develop an individualized success plan to improve their academic standing. Otherwise, a registration hold may be placed on the student's account.

A student whose cumulative GPA remains below 2.000, and/or does not earn at least 66% of their cumulative attempted credits in the term of enrollment subsequent to the one after they were placed on academic probation, will be academically dismissed. An undergraduate student who has been academically dismissed from the university is automatically dismissed from their major.

A student will be notified about their dismissal within one week following the end of the term and has the right to appeal the dismissal decision to the college's Academic Standing Committee if they can provide documented evidence supporting an appeal. The notification of dismissal will include the appeal deadline.

Students appealing a dismissal decision will not be eligible to enroll in classes the term following their dismissal to allow time for the appeal process.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

617.373.2675

617.373.7800 (fax)

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/drc/>)

Northeastern University and the Disability Resource Center are committed to providing disability services that enable students who qualify under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act to participate fully in the activities of the university. To receive accommodations through the DRC, students must provide appropriate documentation that substantiates a disability and demonstrates a current significant limitation. Accommodations are provided based on an evaluation of the information provided by students, and their clinicians, on a case-by-case basis. These services are available for, but not limited to, students with the following diagnoses:

- Learning disabilities and/or ADHD
- Autism spectrum disorders
- Chronic or degenerative disorders
- Hearing loss
- Mobility impairments
- Psychiatric disorders
- Traumatic or acquired brain injury
- Vision impairments

Students should provide documentation to the DRC at their earliest convenience to allow for sufficient time for review. After the documentation has been reviewed, a disability specialist will contact the student regarding appropriate next steps. Visit the DRC website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/drc/>) for additional information or contact staff at 617.373.2675.

Appropriate Use of Computer and Network Resources Policy

The information systems of Northeastern University are intended for the use of authorized members of the community in the conduct of their academic and administrative work. Northeastern's information systems consist of all networking; computing and telecommunications wiring; equipment; networks; security devices; passwords; servers; computer systems; computers; computer laboratory equipment; workstations; internet connection(s); cable television plant; university-owned mobile communications devices; and all other intermediary equipment, services, and facilities. These assets are the property of the university. This policy describes the terms and conditions of use for Northeastern information systems.

This policy applies to any and all users of these resources, both authorized and unauthorized.

The university's complete Policy on Appropriate Use of Computer and Network Resources is available through the Information Technology Services website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/its/policies/>).

Attendance Requirements

Class participation is essential to success no matter the course format or its delivery; therefore, attendance is mandatory. Individual instructors may have additional, course-specific, attendance policies. It is the student's responsibility to ascertain what each instructor requires. Failure to meet attendance requirements may force a student to drop the applicable courses. Students should not make conflicting commitments until the class schedules for each semester are final. Permission to make up work may be granted by instructors for reasonable cause. Requests must be made immediately upon a student's return to class. Laboratory work can be made up only during the hours of regularly scheduled instruction.

Absence Because of University-Sponsored Activities

Participation in university-sponsored activities, where the students are representing their university, college, or department, may cause absences from class that qualify as excused absences. Excused absences, with appropriate prior arrangement, are not subject to penalty, and missed work may be satisfied through agreement between the student and the instructor. University-sponsored activities that may justify excused absences include athletic competition, performing arts events, and research or other presentations.

Students must discuss absence(s) with instructors at least two weeks in advance of the university-sponsored activity, or as soon as possible if the activity is at the beginning of the term or is the result of an unforeseen circumstance. Instructors may require a written statement from the administrator in charge of the activity. Instructors are expected to make reasonable accommodations for these class absences, including administration of makeup assignments and exams whenever possible. It is expected that students seeking an excused absence will develop a plan and timetable to make up the missed coursework with their instructor(s). Note, however, that the requirements of some courses or programs may preclude such accommodations.

Absence Because of Religious Beliefs

Any student who is unable, because of their religious beliefs, to attend classes or to participate in any examination, study, or work requirement should be provided with an opportunity to make up such examination, study, or work requirement that they may have missed because of such absence on any particular day, provided that such makeup examination or work does not create an unreasonable burden upon the university. Students should make appropriate arrangements with the instructor in advance of the absence, preferably at least two weeks before the religious observance.

Absence Because of Jury Duty

Members of the university community are expected to fulfill their obligations to serve on a jury if called upon. A student selected for jury duty should inform their instructors. They will provide a reasonable substitute or compensatory opportunities for any required work missed. A student with such an absence will not be penalized in any way.

Absence Because of Military Deployment

See "Leave of Absence Due to Military Deployment (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/academic-policies-procedures/leaves-of-absence-withdrawal/#military>)."

Other Absences

Unforeseen events or circumstances, including illness, may cause a student to be absent from class. Students must notify their instructors and academic advisor, as appropriate, as soon as possible to apprise them of the circumstances leading to their absence, as well as how much time will be missed. Students must work with their instructors to develop a plan, with a timetable, to make up missed coursework. Students cannot be required to provide medical documentation. (Faculty and students should note that the University Health and Counseling Services does not provide sick notes or medical excuses except for long-term illness.) Instructors are expected to make reasonable accommodations for warranted class absences, including administration of makeup assignments and exams, whenever possible.

Extended Absences

A student who is absent from school for an extended period of time must inform their academic advisor by letter, email, or telephone. The expected length of the absence may determine whether the student should apply for a medical or emergency leave of absence (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/academic-policies-procedures/leaves-of-absence-withdrawal/#medical>). It is strongly recommended that the student contact their academic advisor to discuss potential next steps, which could include incomplete grades; withdrawal from classes; or, in the event of an extended absence due to a chronic medical condition or disability, consultation with the Disability Resource Center to explore potential accommodation.

Nonattendance

Nonattendance does not constitute official course dropping or withdrawal, which means the student is fully responsible for the academic and financial consequences. Like all grades for courses attempted and/or completed, a grade earned due to nonattendance impacts a student's academic progression, an international student's visa eligibility, and a federal financial aid recipient's aid eligibility and award.

Attendance Verification

“I Am Here” Process

After course registration, students are required to verify their intent to enroll in College of Professional Studies class(es) through their Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) account during the first week of each class start. This verification process is called “I Am Here.” Students who fail to complete this process on time will be dropped from their class(es), which may impact their financial aid or international student visa eligibility.

Students are responsible for ensuring completion of the “I Am Here” process, which requires that they do not log out of the system early. Students who do not receive a “Successful Completion” message have not reached the end of the procedure and must start again. Sometimes it may take 24 hours before students can restart the procedure.

A student who registers for a course and completes the “I Am Here” process but does not officially drop the course by the deadline, regardless of their level of participation or attendance/nonattendance, is responsible for paying 100% of the tuition charges and applicable fees and the final earned grade. A student in this situation may earn an F grade that will be part of their permanent academic record.

Students who experience difficulty with the process or have questions should email (registrar@northeastern.edu) the Office of the University Registrar.

Completing Program Requirements

Undergraduate Degree Programs

To earn an undergraduate degree at the College of Professional Studies, students must complete all courses as prescribed in the curriculum, the required number of credits as per the curriculum, and maintain a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 2.000 or as outlined by the specific program.

Undergraduate Certificate Programs

To earn an undergraduate certificate at the College of Professional Studies, students must complete all courses as prescribed in the curriculum, the required number of credits as per the curriculum, and maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.000 or as outlined by the specific program.

Time Limit on Program Completion

Although there is no set limit for an undergraduate student to complete their certificate or degree, there is a limit to how long a course may be used toward program completion. Science and technology courses expire after seven years unless an extension is approved by the program director.

At the time of reentry or readmission for an undergraduate student, the science or technology courses that were completed seven or more years ago cannot be used to satisfy the science or technology requirement for the degree. The student has to retake the course or take a different course in the subject area to satisfy degree requirements.

Note: The College of Professional Studies makes adjustments to its academic program offerings and curricula to stay current and to be able to offer students the most relevant courses and knowledge in the field. Examples of such changes include adding new programs, adding/adjusting course requirements, adding/adjusting courses, and adding/adjusting curriculum requirements.

When there is a change to a curriculum or program requirement, students already matriculated and actively enrolled in the program may continue to follow the program requirements at the time of matriculation or to follow the new curriculum/program requirements, unless it is otherwise specified by the academic program at the time of the announcement of said changes.

Students who leave the College of Professional Studies and then return at a later date will be required to follow the most current curriculum for their program of study. If the program into which the student is seeking readmission or reentry is no longer offered, the student may apply to another program and must meet the admissions requirements for that program.

Cooperative Education

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/coop/>)

Cooperative education is the cornerstone of Northeastern University's experiential learning approach, in which on-campus study is enhanced by real-world experience through full-time employment at locations all over the world. Through co-op, students alternate periods of academic courses with periods of employment in positions related to their academic or career interests. This combination provides an integrated learning experience that enhances both in-class studies and career development.

General Requirements

- Be a full-time student to participate in co-op.
- Complete all pre-co-op requirements as established by the college of the student.
- Make satisfactory progress toward degree completion, including grade-point average requirements, as defined by the university, the colleges, and the major program curricula.
- Have accurate information about the co-op placement in the university's official co-op placement system, including specific start and end dates and meeting the minimum hour and day requirements.
- Not participate in co-op in the final term unless it is specified in the curriculum requirements of the program in the catalog.
- Resolve any previous disciplinary or academic probation issues, or have the cooperative education coordinator approve a plan to resolve these issues prior to applying for co-op jobs.
- Have any self-developed co-op approved by the cooperative education coordinator before accepting the position.
- Comply with any preemployment checks required by the employer, such as drug testing, credit checks, physical examinations, security clearance, and criminal record checks.
- Participate in Title IX training, as required.
- Complete any additional requirements (<https://careers.northeastern.edu/students/student-co-op/global-co-op/>) if participating in a global co-op.
- Work with the cooperative education coordinator if an Unsatisfactory (U) grade has been received for a past co-op to reestablish eligibility in accordance with the policies and requirements of the college.

TRANSFER AND INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS:

- Transfer students from other universities must have met the same requirements in their major's co-op program as nontransfers and must have completed at least one semester of classes before starting co-op.
- International students must attend one academic year, or its equivalent, and obtain proper authorization from the Office of Global Services before engaging in co-op.

Academic Requirements

1. Be full-time while on co-op. Full-time status for co-op is defined as either:
  - a. One full-time co-op job; 32-40 hours per week
  - b. Two simultaneous half-time co-op jobs; 16-31.99 hours each
  - c. One half-time co-op job; 16-31.99 hours with graduate students taking 3 or more academic credits or undergraduate students taking 6 or more academic credits
    - i. Undergraduate students on co-op in a Summer 1 or Summer 2 term may be registered for one half-time co-op without acquiring a second job or taking an accompanying class.
2. Meet the minimum length requirements for an academic term:
  - a. Semester full-term: minimum of 11 weeks or 55 workdays
  - b. Quarter full-term: minimum of 9 weeks or 45 workdays
  - c. Summer 1 or Summer 2 term: minimum of 5 weeks or 25 workdays
3. Receive a grade of Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory for the co-op experience.

Registration for Co-op

Students are registered for co-op based on a complete job placement in the university's official co-op placement system with accurate start and end dates and meet the minimum hour and day requirements. Registration into the co-op experience class occurs one month before the term. Students need to be placed for co-op by the end of the add period, or they should be registered for classes if still searching for a job by this deadline. All co-op placements need to be approved by a co-op coordinator and entered into an official co-op placement system by the last day to drop without a W.

Co-op Financial Planning

- No tuition is charged while a student is on co-op only (students will pay room and board if they stay in university housing).
- If a student takes a credit-bearing class while on co-op, tuition will be charged at the per-credit rate.
- Students who wish to register for more than 4 credits while on full-time co-op must complete the Petition Registration form (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/9/form-pet-reg-14.pdf>).

- Financial aid will be distributed to match the student's tuition bill and other allowable expenses.
- Students on co-op are required to maintain the same health insurance coverage (either through a private provider or through the university program) as they would while attending classes.

Further Information

For more detailed information about co-op policies and procedures, see the Cooperative Education Student Handbook on the Cooperative Education website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/coop/>).

Course Credit Guidelines

Guidelines for Assigning Credit to Courses

The primary standard for establishing course credit at Northeastern University is the semester/quarter hour, or Carnegie Unit, the standard used by the federal government. One hour of credit is awarded for a lecture/seminar class meeting 50 minutes each week during a 15-week semester or 12-week quarter and also requiring a minimum of two hours of outside preparation each week by the student. An hour of contact time in the rest of the document is based on this 50-minute session.

- 2 semester/quarter hours (100 minutes per week of instruction plus 4–6 hours homework, or equivalent)
- 3 semester/quarter hours (150 minutes per week of instruction plus 6–9 hours homework, or equivalent)
- 4 semester/quarter hours (200 minutes per week of instruction plus 8–12 hours homework, or equivalent)

The Office of the University Registrar (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/>) maintains the official record for all courses. In the event of error in any publication, the academic record will reflect the correct semester/quarter hours applicable to any degree requirement.

On occasion, course titles change, while the course number remains the same. Despite such title changes, the course is still considered to be the same course. Students who have taken the course under the old title and then take the course again under the new title are considered to have repeated the course.

NOTE ABOUT HOMEWORK AND STUDENT PREPARATION FOR CLASS

The credit hour assumes a set proportion of two hours of student preparation or homework for every hour spent in class. Northeastern wishes to emphasize that the federal government has established this as the minimum amount of work expected, and assigning more work does not in itself justify an increase in the credit value of the course. We also wish to note that there is great variation in the amount of time each student will need to devote to each course or to a specific form of study (e.g., reading, writing, completing problem sets), and, therefore, it is not possible to enforce any exact accounting of student work outside of class.

CREDIT ASSIGNMENT PROCESS

Northeastern uses the Carnegie Unit to determine class meeting time requirements. The actual amount of academic work that goes into a single credit hour is calculated as follows:

- One lecture (taught) or seminar (discussion) credit hour represents one hour per week (50 minutes) of scheduled class/seminar time and two hours of student preparation time.
- One laboratory or studio credit hour represents one hour per week of lecture or discussion time plus one to two hours per week of scheduled supervised or independent work, or a total of three hours in the lab or studio.

DEFINED INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

- Traditional: meets fully on ground in a physical location with instructor present
- Hybrid: meets majority on ground in a physical location with instructor present with some online instructional component
- Live cast: meets fully on ground in a physical location with the instructor in a different location teaching synchronously and supported by an instructional assistant in the physical location
- Online: meets fully online

FULL-TIME AND HALF-TIME EXPERIENCES

Academic experiences integral to curriculum and requiring registration (but not credit bearing) have the following required hours of participation:

- Full-time experiences: 32–40 hours per week in a semester for a minimum of 11 weeks or 55 days, or in a quarter for 9 weeks or 45 days
- Half-time experiences: 16–31.99 hours per week in a semester for a minimum of 11 weeks or 55 days, or in a quarter for 9 weeks or 45 days (to achieve full-time status, graduate students must take 3 or more academic credits and undergraduate students must take 4 or more academic credits)
- Summer 1 or Summer 2 semester: minimum of 5 weeks or 25 workdays
- Summer quarter: 6 weeks or 30 workdays

International students must confer with the Office of Global Services to determine CPT requirements as appropriate.

Degrees, Majors, and Minors

Declaring an Undergraduate Major

A bachelor's degree student who was undeclared at the time of admission must declare their major before they earn a maximum of 75 credits inclusive of awarded transfer credits and credits earned at the College of Professional Studies. Failure to declare a major may result in a block on the student's record, preventing future course enrollment.

To declare an undergraduate major, a student must consult with their career and academic advisor before completing the appropriate form. The student is responsible for meeting all admission requirements for the intended program.

Previous transfer credit awards are subject to change as a result of a major declaration. Students on financial aid are responsible for understanding the impact that results from a major declaration.

Changing a Major/Program of Study

An undergraduate student matriculated in a certificate/degree program (with a declared major/program) may choose to enroll in a different undergraduate major/program, after consulting with their career and academic advisor. The student then completes the appropriate form and is responsible for meeting all admission requirements for the intended major/program.

Previous transfer credit awards are subject to change as a result of a major/program change. Students on financial aid or an international student visa are responsible for understanding the impact that results from a major change.

Declaring an Undergraduate Minor

Bachelor's degree students may add up to two minors to their programs of study.

An undergraduate minor requires a minimum of 15 but no more than 18 credit hours of undergraduate-level coursework, as specified by the individual minor program. A student may choose from among the undergraduate minor programs offered by the College of Professional Studies. The completed undergraduate minor appears on the student's official record.

The following rules apply:

- A bachelor's degree student may declare their intent to pursue a minor at the time of application for admission or after acceptance as an enrolled student, up until the beginning of their last term of enrollment. It is strongly encouraged that a student who wishes to pursue an undergraduate minor begins planning early and consults with their career and academic advisor.
- The program of study for their major and minor cannot be the same where the courses for the minor are a subset of required courses in the major, e.g., a Bachelor of Science student with a biology major cannot enroll in the biology minor; a Bachelor of Science student with a management major cannot enroll in the business minor.
- Courses used to fulfill requirements for the minor may be used to satisfy open electives of a major.
- A student must fulfill all requirements for the minor and major concurrently and may not extend their program of study to complete a minor.
- A student must adhere to the curriculum of the undergraduate minor(s) for which they have been approved. If a student wishes to request a course substitution to fulfill a requirement of an undergraduate minor, they must seek prior approval through their career and academic advisor. Deviation from the minor requirements without prior approval will result in nullifying the minor on a student's record.
- A student may apply up to 6 semester hours of transfer credits toward an undergraduate minor.
- A student in the Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies program may choose to complete courses specified for a minor as part of their major elective requirements.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

FERPA for Students—General Information

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act is a federal law that applies to educational institutions. Under FERPA, schools must allow students who are 18 years or over or attending a postsecondary institution:

- Access to their education records
- An opportunity to seek to have the records amended (see the Student Handbook for this procedure)
- Some control over the disclosure of information from the records

FERPA General Guidance for Parental Disclosure

When a student turns 18 years of age or attends a postsecondary institution, the student, and not the parent, may access, seek to amend, and consent to disclosures of their education records.

If you are an undergraduate day student and you choose not to share information with your parents, Northeastern will, if asked, indicate that you have restricted access to your records.

Release of Directory Information

The primary purpose of directory information is to allow Northeastern University to confirm attendance for employers, health insurance companies, and loan agencies. Northeastern may disclose appropriately designated “directory information” without written consent, unless you have advised the university to the contrary in accordance with the procedures below. If you choose not to release directory information, all communications with all third parties and agencies will need to be done through your written request to the university or in person.

As of June 30, 2016, Northeastern directory information includes:

- Student name
- Home address (city, state, country only)
- Major field of study
- College
- Class year
- Enrollment status (e.g., undergraduate or graduate, full-time or part-time)
- Dates of attendance
- Degrees, honors, and awards received
- Most recent educational agency or institution attended
- Sports activity participation, showing weight/height of members of athletic teams
- Participation in officially recognized activities

If Northeastern currently has permission to release data and you do not want the university to disclose directory information without your prior written consent, you must notify the university. Instructions are available at the Office of the University Registrar (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/family-educational-rights-privacy-act-ferpa/>).

Notification of Rights under FERPA

FERPA affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student’s education records within 45 days of the day the university receives a request for access. Students should submit to the registrar, dean, or head of the academic department (or appropriate official) written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The university official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the university official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.
2. The right to request the amendment of the student’s education record that the student believes is inaccurate or misleading. Students may ask the university to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write the university official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If the university decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the university will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of their right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.
3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception, which permits disclosure without consent, is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interest. A school official is defined as a person employed by the university in an administrative, supervisory, academic, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit and health staff); a person or company with whom the university has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or a person assisting another school official in performing their tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill their professional responsibility.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the university to comply with the requirements of FERPA. At Northeastern, the Office of the University Registrar, 271 Huntington Avenue, administers FERPA.

Additional Information

Additional information can be obtained at the U.S. Department of Education's website (<http://www.ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/fpco/ferpa/>) or by writing to:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20202-5920

Full-Time Status

A student is considered a full-time undergraduate student if they are enrolled in a minimum of 12 semester hours of undergraduate credit for the semester.

Note that full-time status may be defined differently for federal loan purposes. International students have other considerations/requirements to maintain their visa eligibility.

Course Load

Federal financial aid recipients must be enrolled in and successfully complete a minimum number of credits each semester to maintain eligibility. For more information, contact your financial aid counselor.

Students who are not studying in F-1 or J-1 status and who are eligible to study in the United States may be enrolled part-time or full-time. Applicants in B-1/B-2 status cannot enroll part-time or full-time; however, they may choose to apply for a change to a status in the United States and may enroll only upon approval by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

Course Overload

A maximum course load (not full-time status) for an undergraduate student is 18 credits taken across a 15-week semester, with no more than 9 credits per half-semester session.

To be eligible for a course overload (more than 18 credits per 15-week semester or more than 9 credits per half-semester session), an undergraduate student must:

- Have a record of successful study at Northeastern University—transfer students must wait at least one term to request an overload
- Have a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 3.000
- Provide a rationale to support the request

A student needs to complete the appropriate form and return it to their career and academic advisor. If approved, the student is required to pay the normal tuition charges for all attempted courses. They are responsible for informing their financial aid counselor, if applicable, and for making the necessary arrangements to manage the increased workload. Should an approved course overload impact an international student's degree completion date and their visa end date, the student is responsible for communicating with the Office of Global Services (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>) and obtaining the necessary approvals within the required timelines.

Global Partnership Programs

Students enrolled in a College of Professional Studies' global partnership or a dual-degree program are required to abide by the policies and procedures of both institutions or as specified in their program.

Dual-degree candidates must apply to graduate at each institution by following each institution's policies and procedures.

Graduation Requirements

Graduation Procedures

The following information is for degree-seeking students only. Certificate students should refer to the "Certificate" section below.

Only students who complete the graduation application process by specified deadlines will be considered for graduation and included in the graduation ceremony program. All qualified students must submit a graduation application in order to receive their diploma, regardless of whether they plan to attend the graduation ceremony.

Note important definitions: "Degree conferral date" and "graduation ceremony date" are not the same. Degree conferral date refers to the date of the university's official recognition of degree completion. For the purposes of the graduation application that is accessed via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>), the "Expected Graduation Date" is the same as the degree conferral date. Northeastern University confers degrees three times each academic year: at the end of the fall, spring, and summer terms. The graduation ceremony date is the date that the college hosts the annual graduation ceremony.

Each fall, the Office of the Registrar sends an email notification to students who may be eligible to graduate that academic year about applying to graduate. Eligibility is based on the number of earned credits at the beginning of the fall term. This email notification informs and instructs students to complete the "Apply to Graduate" process, accessed via the Student Hub. (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) Students are prompted to verify and provide critical information, e.g., spelling of the student's name on the diploma, intent to participate in the graduation ceremony, and mailing address.

An accurate EGD is required to gain access to the graduation application. The EGD is also used by clearinghouses to determine loan deferment schedules. A student who needs to update their EGD should contact their career and academic advisor.

Diploma

Information that will be printed on diplomas includes:

- Degree.
- The major will be printed on diplomas for nonspecified degrees (Associate in Science, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts) only. Minors are not printed on any diplomas.
- Honors designation, for those who qualify.

Changes made to a student's name after the diploma has been printed may be subject to a $50 fee and take more than one month to reprint.

Changes made to a student's degree information and name submitted after the program deadline will not be noted in the graduation ceremony program.

Certificate

The College of Professional Studies confers undergraduate certificates at the same time degrees are conferred each year in fall, spring, and summer terms. Students must submit a completed Request to Declare Certificate Completion form (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/student-resources/academic-forms.php>) to their career and academic advisor in order to have their academic record audited to receive their certificate. Deadlines apply. Students should contact their career and academic advisor for more information.

Academic Transcripts

Currently enrolled students may obtain unofficial transcripts and also order official transcripts from the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu/>). For further information on transcript requests, visit the Office of the University Registrar website (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/transcript-requests/>). All questions concerning transcript requests should be directed to 617.373.2300, TTY 617.373.5360.

Academic information noted on official academic transcripts include degree/certificate name; major; minor (if applicable); academic history, including transfer credits; and graduation honors designation (if applicable).

Leaves of Absence and University Withdrawal

Students may request to take the following types of leaves of absence:

- Personal or Academic
- Medical or Emergency
- Military Deployment or Missionary Service

Students in Prematriculation and Pathway programs (including N.U.in, Foundation Year, NU Immerse, NU Bound) do not fall under the leave of absence policy below. Students in these programs with emergent, medical, or personal circumstances that require a conversation about their ability to continue with their program of study should reach out to We Care (https://studentlife.northeastern.edu/we-care/#\_ga=2260687946268200191621858812-17152695181613325628) for further guidance.

General Leave of Absence Policy

Students who wish to take a leave of absence should complete a request through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) (or via University Health and Counseling Services for a medical leave of absence, as described below) before the last day to drop without a W in a term. Please consult the Academic Calendar (https://registrar.northeastern.edu/group/calendar/#\_ga=222318140315109033061621260160-17152695181613325628) for the last day to drop without a W in the term.

Students can request a leave until the last day to drop with a W in a term but should review the financial implications of withdrawing from courses on the Student Financial Services website (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/policies-procedures/withdrawalleave-of-absence/>).

Students can take up to one year of leave.

Any leave of absence type, if approved, is subject to the following conditions:

- International students must make an appointment with the Office of Global Services (<https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/>) to discuss leave of absence procedures in accordance with federal regulations.
- Students who do not return at the end of the leave will be withdrawn and must contact their college for reentry prior to the term start.
- Students must return to a university-sponsored activity that contributes toward the satisfaction of outstanding program requirements, such as registration for academic coursework.
- Students must be considered active in the period for which they are requesting a leave. Students are considered active when they are currently engaged in university-sponsored activity, such as academic coursework and co-op. If a student is withdrawn for personal reasons, the withdrawal can be reversed and a request for a leave of absence can only be processed if it is before the last day to drop without a W in a term. If the student has been administratively withdrawn, a request for leave of absence cannot be considered until the withdrawal is resolved.
- If a leave extends more than six months, students who have taken loans for education expenses may be required to begin repayment of those loans. Students who receive financial aid should meet with a financial aid counselor before going on a leave. Please see Return of Title IV Aid (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/expenses/financial-aid/>) for the possible financial aid impact of a leave of absence.
- Students in university housing should refer to the Office of Housing and Residential Life for policy information.
- A student's enrollment status cannot include more than one academic year of consecutive nonclass enrollments. Students on leave for more than one year will be withdrawn from the university.
- If a student has taken multiple leaves, resulting in the postponement of expected graduation date of a calendar year, the next leave request will be processed as a withdrawal.
- While on leave, students are not allowed to take classes for credit toward their Northeastern University degree, either at Northeastern or at an outside institution.

Students on a leave of absence are considered active students and are able to register for classes in an upcoming term in a leave status. If a student is unable to register because they are inactive, the student should contact their college for reentry at the time of registration for the return term. Students are expected to register for classes upon returning from a leave of absence.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

PERSONAL OR ACADEMIC LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Personal leaves of absence are general leaves of absence that do not meet the criteria of more specific leaves outlined in the catalog. Academic leaves are applied to a student record in the rare cases when a student has fulfilled the last remaining requirements abroad but final grades have been yet to be received at Northeastern; or are taking a leave of absence from Northeastern to pursue other academic work. A student interested in requesting a personal or academic leave of absence should speak with an academic advisor.

MEDICAL OR EMERGENCY LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Medical leave is an option available to those Northeastern students who develop a major medical condition that precludes class attendance, completion of requirements, and/or participation in co-op. Medical leave of absence requests must be initiated at UHCS (<https://> www.northeastern.edu/uhcs/forms/medical-leave-of-absence/). Students can request from their college an exception to take classes elsewhere while on a medical leave based on extenuating circumstances.

Students on a medical leave will no longer have Husky Card access to the Marino Center, libraries, dining services, residence halls, and UHCS. If a student is in treatment at UHCS, they will be provided with referral resources for care in the community where they will reside during their medical leave. Students are not to be participating in student groups while on medical leave.

Emergency leaves may be granted when a student cannot continue attending class after the start of the term due to life-changing situations beyond the student's control. Students interested in requesting emergency leave are encouraged to contact We Care (<https://studentlife.northeastern.edu/wecare/>). Students can request an Emergency Leave of Absence via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>).

Please consult Refunds for Withdrawal from the University—General Information (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/expenses/bill-payment/>) concerning tuition charged for the term in which the leave has been granted. The student may appeal for consideration of their financial circumstances; appeal information can be found at Student Financial Services (<https://studentfinance.northeastern.edu/policies-procedures/withdrawal-leave-of-absence/>). If the appeal is approved, housing and other fees will not be included in the appeal decision; please refer to the Residence Hall and Dining License Agreement (<https://www.northeastern.edu/housing/license-agreement/>). Outstanding balances (including unpaid balances) for the academic term in which the leave is taken are still due the university.

Financial aid recipients must contact their financial aid counselor to understand the effects on aid received.

If the leave extends more than six months, students who have taken loans for education expenses may be required to start repayment of those loans.

Students enrolled in the Northeastern University Student Health Plan will remain enrolled in the plan for the plan year, ending August 31.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE DUE TO MILITARY DEPLOYMENT OR MISSIONARY SERVICE

When a student is called to active duty or missionary service, they must request the leave by filling out the proper request form through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>). Proof of official deployment or call to service paperwork will be required as an attachment when filling out the leave of absence request.

When a student is called during the term, the university will:

- Excuse tuition for that term. Any payment made will be credited to the student's account.
- Post a leave of absence for the term to hold a place for the student when they return.

If a student is called near the end of the term, the student and faculty members may determine that incomplete (I) grades are more appropriate. In this case, tuition will not be waived.

When a student returns to the university after completion, they will notify the college academic student services office if the leave was longer than one year; that office will in turn notify the registrar's office. The college academic student services office will assist the student with reentry and registration. If the leave was less than one year, the student should register for classes for the upcoming term prior to returning to campus.

International students who must take a leave of absence to engage in military service in their home country must also complete a form for leave of absence with OGS.

RETURNING FROM A LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Students on a leave of absence are considered active students and are able to register for classes in an upcoming term in a leave status. If a student is unable to register because they are inactive, they should contact their college for reentry at the time of registration for the return term. Students are expected to register for classes upon returning from a leave of absence.

Students who are withdrawn and are applying for Commencement may be reentered on a leave of absence, pending the college's approval, prior to the term in which they will graduate. International students returning from a leave of absence should contact OGS regarding the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System procedures three to four months prior to anticipated return date.

Students who wish to reenter the university following a medical leave must contact UHCS. Reentry from a medical leave requires receipt of all documentation delivered to UHCS approximately one month prior to the start of the term they wish to return. Once all documentation is received by UHCS, it will be reviewed and the student will be notified of the decision. Requests for reentry from medical leave must be completed no later than one week prior to the beginning of a term. Students must be enrolled in Northeastern classes for the term in which they wish to return from their medical leave of absence. More specific information about the reentry process can be found at the UHCS website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/uhcs/forms/medical-leave-of-absence/>).

University Withdrawal

Students seeking to withdraw from the university for any reason should meet with their academic advisor before completing the university withdrawal form online. Students should review the financial implications of withdrawing from all classes on the Student Financial Services website.

Students may be withdrawn from the university for financial, disciplinary, or academic reasons. Students looking to withdraw for medical reasons should reach out to UHCS (mloa@northeastern.edu) to review medical leave of absence.

Personal Information

Change of Name

Report all name changes to the Office of the Registrar immediately. Official documentation of the name change is required.

Change of Address

Report all address changes via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>). Both the permanent home address and the local address are required. International students must report any changes of address or phone number via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) within 10 days in order to ensure compliance with immigration regulations.

Readmission to Program

A new admission application is required of students whose studies were interrupted for more than three years.

Students are expected to meet the requirements of the program curriculum current at the time of the approved readmission term. If the program into which the student is seeking readmission is no longer offered, the student may apply to another program and must meet the admissions requirements for that program.

If readmitted, College of Professional Studies and transfer credits that a student was previously awarded will be reevaluated. The seven-year time limit on science and technology courses may have expired. It is at the discretion of the academic program to determine applicability of courses previously completed.

For students whose studies were voluntarily interrupted, once they have reapplied, their application should be vetted by the academic advising team and the appropriate lead faculty.

For students who were academically dismissed over three years ago, once they have reapplied, their application should be vetted by the associate dean of undergraduate academics and the appropriate lead faculty. If readmitted, the student needs to develop an academic plan and have monthly meetings with their advisor to monitor progress.

Reentry to Program

Application for reentry into any academic program is required of students whose studies are interrupted voluntarily for a period of one to three years. Students seeking reentry must fill out the Request for Reentry form (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academic-resources/academic-forms/>).

Students who are dismissed must wait at least one academic term before applying for reinstatement.

Students are expected to meet the requirements of the program curriculum current at the time of the approved reentry term. In addition, College of Professional Studies and transfer courses will be reevaluated. The seven-year time limit on science and technology courses may expire. If a student does not enroll in the term in which they were approved for reentry, they must follow the curriculum requirements for the term in which they resume coursework. If a student waits for more than one year to resume their studies after being approved for reentry, they will have to apply for reentry again.

If the program into which the student is seeking reentry is no longer offered, the student may choose to enroll in another program if they meet the admissions requirements for that program.

Registration and Taking Courses

Course Registration

For course registration information, visit the College of Professional Studies website (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/class-registration/registration-instructions.php>).

Course registration procedures are as follows:

- Newly accepted and returning students add or drop courses through the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) any time during the registration period.
- Certificate- and degree-seeking students whose studies have been interrupted voluntarily for one to three years need to first apply for reentry through the Office of Academic Advising. Once a student is accepted for reentry, they will register via the Student Hub.
- Students who have been absent voluntarily for more than three years must apply for readmission.
- Students interested in taking undergraduate-level courses for personal professional enrichment may register using the Express Registration form (https://prod-web.neu.edu/wasapp/CPSCourseReg/?form=expressReg#\_ga=2.266146767.1316488288.1617619412-1715269518.1613325628). Students who study under the PPE status:
  - Are responsible for satisfying course prerequisites and corequisites, if applicable, before enrolling in courses
  - May elect to apply to an undergraduate certificate or degree program by completing the online application process
  - Understand that up to 8 qualifying credits earned while on PPE status may be applied to the intended undergraduate certificate program and up to 16 credits may be applied to the intended undergraduate degree program

All students need to be mindful of the college's course add/drop policies and deadlines to register as early as possible with the intent to secure a spot in the preferred course and to avoid being charged in full for withdrawing after the deadline.

Auditing a Course

Undergraduate students are permitted to audit undergraduate courses, but they must complete the usual registration process and pay regular tuition fees. There is no reduction in fees for auditing.

An auditor may participate in class discussions, complete papers and projects, and take tests and examinations for informal evaluation. Regardless of the amount or quality of work completed, however, no academic credit will be granted for an audited course. In addition, an audited course may not be used in the determination of enrollment status for financial aid purposes and does not count toward program completion.

The student's decision to audit a course must be communicated in writing to the Office of the University Registrar before the fourth class meeting for full-semester courses. For half-semester courses, requests must be received by the second class meeting. No exception to this procedure may be approved without the authorization of the college's academic standing committee.

The student should inform the instructor of their status as auditor of the course.

S/U (Pass/Fail) System

An undergraduate student may elect to take courses on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory (commonly known as pass/fail) grading scale. The following rules apply:

- Undergraduate degree students may register for one open elective course per semester on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory (S/U) basis and may not take more than a total of four S/U courses at the College of Professional Studies.
- To be eligible for S/U status, the student must be in good academic standing and also must meet all prerequisites for the course.
- To be graded on an S/U basis, the student must file an S/U petition prior to the fourth class meeting for full-semester courses.
  - For half-semester courses, petitions must be received by the second class meeting
- The grades recorded on the basis of the S/U system will not figure in the computation of the GPA.
- An "incomplete" in a course taken on an S/U basis is designated by the letter X on the permanent record and must be treated according to the normal procedure for incomplete grades.

Course Selection and Planning

Students should refer to their degree audits for program curriculum information, to select courses, and to monitor their progress toward degree completion. Students should access their degree audits through the Student Hub or request an audit from their career and academic advisor.

Degree audits are unofficial records of academic progress. Students are encouraged to consult with their career and academic advisor about their academic planning.

Course Prerequisites

Course prerequisites are courses that are required to have been completed prior to enrolling in another course. Before registering for a course through the Student Hub, students, regardless of matriculation status, should consult the College of Professional Studies website (<http://www.cps.neu.edu/degree-programs/prerequisites.php>) to determine whether they have completed the course prerequisites.

Course prerequisites may be met by taking the prerequisite course(s) for undergraduate courses, by taking college-level or proficiency examinations for undergraduate courses, or by obtaining credit in specific academic disciplines for knowledge gained through prior learning experiences for undergraduate courses. Some courses have two parts. It generally is not possible to take part two before successfully completing part one.

Course Corequisites

Course corequisites are courses that are required to be taken concurrently; e.g., College Writing 1 (ENG 1105) and Lab for ENG 1105 (ENG 1106), which are part of the undergraduate written communication core requirement, must be taken at the same time. Before registering for a course through the Student Hub, students, regardless of matriculation status, should read the course description to determine what the corequisite is and register for both courses.

Repeating a Course

If a student wishes to improve their cumulative grade-point average by repeating a course, they may do so. A student may take the same course up to three times to earn a better grade. Only the grade earned in the last attempt is used to compute the GPA, while all grades remain part of the student's permanent academic record. A student is required to pay the normal tuition charges for all repeated courses.

Financial aid recipients must be mindful that repeating a course could impact their aid eligibility. As per financial aid regulations, students may repeat a course only once and be eligible for aid. Students with questions about this possible impact should contact their financial aid counselor.

Course Substitution and Course Waiver

In some cases, a student has taken a similar course for transfer credit, so the student may request a course substitution to satisfy degree requirements. The substituting course must be comparable in content and rigor. Students may request a maximum of four course substitutions for a CPS undergraduate degree program.

A course substitution may be awarded to a student who has completed an equivalent course at an accredited institution other than the College of Professional Studies in the past seven years. The substitution will replace the required course, meeting the program requirement. A student must complete a Request for Course Substitution form and submit it to their career and academic advisor, who will work with the academic program for review and approval/denial.

A course waiver is used in more unusual circumstances, such as when the original course is no longer being offered by CPS. In these situations, the required course may be waived, and the student will complete another course, as approved by the program, to satisfy the number of credits required for the program. Students requesting a course waiver must meet with their career and academic advisor to ensure a waiver is appropriate and to make the request.

Directed Study

Directed studies are offered when a course is required for a student's program of study but said course is not available in a given academic term and there is immediacy for a student to complete said course. Academic deans/directors will make the decision if there is a compelling need to run a course as a directed study.

Independent Study

Independent study is an opportunity for a degree student to work independently under the supervision of an instructor to undertake special research, literature review, or experimental study projects in areas related to their program of study that they cannot accomplish as part of a standard course in the curriculum. A degree student may take up to two independent studies. The work to be done for an independent study is usually crafted by the student, with faculty input. Independent studies are entirely optional and not needed to graduate. A completed Request for Independent Study form (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/current-students/academic-forms/>), signed by both the student and the faculty member, must be submitted to the academic program for review and approval.

Course Add/Drop Policy

Refer to the academic calendar (<http://www.northeastern.edu/registrar/calendars.html>) for specific dates. Students should consult with their academic and career advisor before adding or dropping classes.

Students may add a half-semester course within the first week of the course. For full-semester courses, students may add a course within the first two weeks of the course. Students who add a class during the add/drop period are responsible for all assignments missed prior to enrolling. Enrolled students are responsible to attend classes during the add/drop period, and any absences will be held accountable to the instructor's attendance policy.

Students who drop a course before the deadline will not be charged for the course and will not have a W (withdrawal) on their transcript. Thereafter, students are responsible for 100% of the tuition charges and applicable fees, and the earned grade will be on their permanent academic record. All such dates are specified in the academic calendar (<http://www.northeastern.edu/registrar/calendars.html>).

Students must add/drop courses using the Student Hub.

Students who experience difficulty adding, dropping, or withdrawing from a course should promptly email (registrar@northeastern.edu) the Office of the University Registrar. If it is determined that there is an issue with Student Hub access, they need to contact the Service Desk at the following:

617.373.4357 (HELP)

help@northeastern.edu

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/its/audience/students/>)

Students with holds (e.g., financial, judicial) may have restricted access to add, drop, or withdraw from a course. In such instances, students are responsible for resolving the hold immediately and to meet the established course registration deadlines.

A reduction in a student's course load could affect a student's international student visa status or financial aid eligibility.

Course Withdrawal Policy

Reference the academic calendar for specific dates by which students may withdraw from a course.

Students who withdraw from a course after the add/drop deadline and before the last day to withdraw will receive a W grade and will be responsible for 100% of the tuition charges and applicable fees. The W grade does not affect the calculation of the cumulative GPA but it does impact a student's academic progression, which may result in the student being placed on academic probation or dismissal.

Students must withdraw from courses using the Student Hub.

Students who experience difficulty withdrawing from a course should promptly email (registrar@northeastern.edu) the Office of the University Registrar. If it is determined that there is an issue with the student's Student Hub access, they need to contact the Service Desk at the following:

617.373.4357 (HELP)

help@northeastern.edu

Website (<http://www.northeastern.edu/its/audience/students/>)

Students with holds (e.g., financial, judicial) may have restricted access to add, drop, or withdraw from a course. In such instances, students are responsible for resolving the hold immediately and to meet the established course registration deadlines.

A reduction in a student's course load could affect a student's international student visa status or financial aid eligibility.

Students who fail to withdraw from a course by the deadline, regardless of their level of class participation or attendance, are financially and academically responsible. A student's lack of participation/attendance will likely result in a final grade of F.

All students are encouraged to consult with their career and academic advisor prior to withdrawing from a course. Withdrawals may impact a student's time to degree completion.

Reinstatement after Academic Dismissal

A student who is academically dismissed from the College of Professional Studies is not eligible to register again for courses at the college until they are approved for reinstatement. A student may apply for reinstatement after a minimum of one academic term if they can provide documented evidence supporting the application (e.g., completed two courses with a grade of B or higher at another accredited college or relevant professional development opportunities during the minimum one-term absence). The application must be made in writing by submitting the appropriate form and providing supporting documentation to the Office of Academic Advising (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academic-resources/advising/>).

If reinstatement to the college is approved, a student is expected to meet the most current requirements for program admissions and curriculum.

A student approved for reinstatement but who does not meet the admissions requirements for the intended program of study, or if the intended program of study is no longer available, may apply to another program.

Seeking More Than One Certificate or Degree

An undergraduate student can be enrolled in only one undergraduate program at a time.

Undergraduate students seeking more than one certificate or degree after having completed a program should note that undergraduate credits earned toward:

1. A certificate earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a bachelor's degree, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.
2. A certificate earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a second certificate with a cap of 6 credits, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.
3. A bachelor's degree earned at the College of Professional Studies may be used to satisfy the requirements of a second bachelor's degree with a cap of 50% of the requirements for the second degree, if the contents are determined to be applicable per the program director.

Student Academic Appeals Procedures

It is the policy of the university that all students shall be treated fairly in evaluations made of their academic performance, standing, and progress. The university presumes that academic judgments by its faculty are fair, consistent, and objective. Students must understand that the substitution of a different academic judgment for that of the original evaluator is a serious intrusion upon teaching prerogatives.

Nonetheless, the university believes it is essential to provide an appeals mechanism to students who believe that they were erroneously, capriciously, or otherwise unfairly treated in an academic or cooperative education determination. This includes claims of misinterpretation or inequitable application of any academic provision of the university's Undergraduate or Graduate Catalog, Student Handbook, or Faculty Handbook.

In all cases, students are encouraged to informally discuss concerns with the faculty member who taught the course to see if it is possible to reach an agreement on the issue(s). If the student is not satisfied with the outcome of this discussion, or if the student is not comfortable discussing the issue with the instructor, the student should request a meeting with their academic and career advisor who can help facilitate the process to resolve the issue(s). If these informal attempts to resolve the issue(s) fail, the student can enter the formal procedure at the college level as outlined below.

Though students are always entitled to seek the advice of legal counsel, a student's lawyer cannot be present in the informal or formal academic appeals procedures. A student may consult their academic and career advisor at any point in these procedures for advice or assistance. University officials may take whatever steps they deem reasonably appropriate to achieve resolution of the issue at any stage of these procedures.

If a student feels that they have been the victim of harassment or of discrimination prohibited by law or by university policy, they should consult with the Office of University Equity and Compliance as soon as they become aware of alleged prohibited harassment or discrimination and are not required to wait until a term grade or determination is received before seeking advice or redress. If OUEC is advised of such alleged prohibited conduct as part of an academic appeal, the appeal shall be pursued and investigated by OUEC first. In such cases, the student should contact their academic and career advisor regarding the next appeal steps. Following a resolution of the harassment/discrimination issues, any remaining academic issues will be addressed, at the request of the student, according to the academic appeals procedures.

The Academic Standing Committee may not consider appeals on the basis of medical claims; students are encouraged to meet with their academic and career advisor to determine the best course of action for any disputes on the basis of medical or personal issues.

FOR DISMISSAL APPEALS

If the appeal concerns academic dismissal, the student should contact their academic and career advisor regarding appealing to the college ASC.

FOR GRADE DISPUTES

Students are encouraged to contact their instructor regarding all grade disputes within 15 calendar days of the assignment or course grade being awarded. If resolution cannot be achieved within 15 calendar days of initial contact, the student may submit a formal appeal no more than 30 calendar days following the end of the term the grade was awarded. The student must contact their academic and career advisor to start the formal appeal process. Resolution that is not attempted within this time frame is no longer eligible for appeal.

The program level has 30 calendar days to respond with a decision and brief explanation of that decision. If the student does not receive a response within 30 calendar days of their appeal at the program level, the student may appeal to the ASC. If a decision has been rendered at the program level, the student may only appeal to the ASC if they have new/additional evidence and documentation to present that would not have reasonably been available at the time of the program-level appeal. The student should contact their academic and career advisor before appealing any decision to the ASC.

Once a grade change has been made in response to an appeal, that change is final.

FOR ALL OTHER APPEALS/DISPUTES

The student should contact their academic and career advisor with questions and information regarding next steps.

APPEALING BEYOND THE ASC

In appeals that arise from a violation, misrepresentation, or inequitable application of the academic provisions of the Student Handbook or Undergraduate Catalog or Graduate Catalog, the ASC serves as the final decision maker within the college.

Issues concerning admission or readmission into a program cannot be appealed beyond the ASC at the college level.

Outside of issues concerning admission or readmission into a program, if the student or faculty member is not satisfied with the ASC's decision at the college level, they may further pursue the matter at the university level by requesting in writing within 14 calendar days that the university convene an Academic Appeals Resolution Committee to review the appeal. Students may obtain information on this process through the Office of the Provost (110 CH). The AARC has been designated as the final authority on appeal matters. This request must be made within 14 calendar days of the finding of the ASC.

1. Academic Appeals Resolution Committee

The AARC includes:

- The vice provost for graduate education or a designee.
- The student's faculty advisor will be appointed by the appropriate vice provost except in cases where no specific advisor exists or where the faculty advisor is involved in the dispute. In those cases, a faculty member from the student's major college, department, or area of specialization will be appointed.

- Two faculty members appointed by the Faculty Senate Agenda Committee (if the appeal is based on a cooperative education determination, one of the faculty members shall be a member of the cooperative education faculty but not from the student's area of study) and a representative of the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion (if the appeal had at any point involved a matter of sexual harassment/discrimination).
- The chair shall be elected from among the committee's three faculty members but cannot be the student's faculty advisor.

2. Preliminary Matters

If the AARC determines, by a majority vote, that the appeal is patently without substance or merit, it may dismiss the appeal.

3. Investigation

The AARC shall investigate the matter under appeal as quickly as possible by studying the relevant documents, interviewing the parties (especially the student and the involved faculty member), and taking any other action it deems appropriate. At no time shall the committee be bound by rules of evidence but shall at all times conduct itself in a manner that is not arbitrary or capricious. The AARC may, but is not required to, hold a hearing prior to resolving the issues. However, in all instances, the student and the involved faculty member shall have the right to appear and testify separately and privately before the AARC. The student shall have the right to have an advocate from the university community present during their testimony to the AARC.

4. Authority to Act

The AARC has been designated as the final authority on these matters. At the conclusion of its investigation, the AARC shall resolve, by majority vote, the issue by either upholding the finding of the ASC or dean, in which case no further appeal is available, or granting such relief to the student as the AARC deems appropriate.

- a. The AARC may not determine a resolution that contradicts the prior findings or actions of the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion with respect to elements of this appeal.
- b. In the event of a tie vote, the action of the ASC or dean shall be considered upheld.

5. Resolution

All direct parties to the appeal, including but not limited to the student, the provost, the dean, the department chair or equivalent supervisors, graduate coordinator or equivalent supervisor, and the faculty member shall be promptly informed in writing of the decisions and actions taken (i.e., the Report) during this academic appeals procedure.

6. Report

A written Report of the appeal and its resolution shall be submitted by the chair of the AARC to the student, the involved faculty member, the Faculty Senate Agenda Committee, the vice president for student affairs, the appropriate vice provost, the registrar, and the dean, as appropriate.

7. Action

The dean(s) or their designee in the involved college(s) shall take whatever action is necessary to implement fully the resolution of the AARC. This includes reporting the change of grade to the registrar.

8. Appeal

No further appeal can be instituted by the student or the involved faculty member with respect to the issue(s) raised at any level of the formal appeals resolutions procedures once adjudicated.

Student Bill of Academic Rights and Responsibilities

This bill was drafted by the Student Senate, the Vice President for Student Affairs, and members of the Faculty Senate. It was passed in the spring of 1992. It was then updated by the Student Body President, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and passed by the Student Senate in the Fall of 2017 and Faculty Senate in the Spring of 2018 for adoption in the Undergraduate Student Handbook (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/code-of-student-conduct/>) for the 2018–2019 academic year.

We, the students of Northeastern University, believe that a quality education is the paramount goal of all students. In order to fulfill this goal, the university recognizes certain rights and responsibilities, which follow below.<sup>1</sup> Northeastern University students recognize and accept that redress of complaints arising from these rights is limited to the procedures specified in “Student Academic Appeals Procedures”.<sup>2</sup>

Course-Related Rights

Article 1

Students have the right to instructors who attend classes on time.

Article 2

Students have the right to receive grades and feedback in a timely manner, particularly in the case of sequentially related assignments. At least one summative assessment should be given and returned a week prior to the end of the withdrawal period. Students also have the right to view work they submit to satisfy course requirements after it is graded and receive their instructor’s rationale for grades received on said work.

Article 3

Students have the right to adequate access to instructors. This includes instructors replying to communications from students in a timely manner, suggested to be within two business days, with the exception of during university recesses, as well as maintaining consistent office hours for in-person courses, occurring at the same time at least once a week. Instructors may change office hours by notifying students in a timely manner, suggested to be within two business days, barring extenuating circumstances.

Article 4

Students have the right to receive a course outline, which includes a fair and explicit grading policy, at the beginning of each course. Changes to the course outline that result in a deadline, assignment, major exam, or similar course event being introduced to or moved earlier in the schedule shall be communicated to students in a timely manner, suggested to be at least 10 business days prior to the new deadline.

Article 5

Students have the right to instructors who communicate the material pertaining to the course effectively in the English language except in the case of foreign language instruction.

Article 6

Students have the right to participate in and have access to Student Government Association teacher/course evaluations.

Article 7

Students have the right to have a list of all course materials that must be purchased. Possible substitutions for said course materials, (i.e., acceptable previous editions of textbooks, digital versions, library owned resources, etc.) should be made available to students at least a week prior to the start of the academic term.

Article 8

Students have the right to alternative grading arrangements if they are unable to attend a graded activity that takes place outside the scheduled class time.

Rights to University Academic Services

Article 9

Students have the right to adequate access to effective academic services, including academic and co-op advising, as described in the student handbook and other university publications, provided by the university.

Article 10

Students have the right<sup>3</sup> to an environment conducive to learning and to faculty who respect students’ academic freedom<sup>4</sup> in the classroom. When exercising academic freedom, students are expected to comply with all applicable university ethics, anti-harassment, and nondiscrimination policies.

Article 11

Students have the right to access university health resources provided by University Health and Counseling Services (<https://www.northeastern.edu/uhcs/>) (UHCS), and in accordance to Massachusetts State Law, to have access to a medical plan that they can purchase (Northeastern University Student Health Plan (<http://www.northeastern.edu/nushp/>)).

Article 12

Students have the right to access university resources provided by the university's Disability Resource Center in accordance with the Policy on Equal Opportunity (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Equal\_Opportunity.pdf). Students have the right to pursue informal and formal grievances through the procedures outlined by the Disability Resource Center (<https://drc.sites.northeastern.edu/>).

Scheduling Rights*Article 13

Students have the right to final exam schedules in accordance with established university policy, including non-conflicting final exam schedules.

Article 14

Students have the right to attend any course session held prior to the end of the add/drop period so long as permission from the instructor is obtained in advance and all duly registered students have proper access to seating and other course resources.

Article 15

Students will not be penalized for excused absences, with the understanding that students may need to make up for the academic commitment from which they were excused. Reasons for an excused absence include religious, medical issues, jury duty, bereavement, and military service. See this catalog (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/academic-policies-procedures/attendance-requirements/>) and other applicable policies (http://gonu.com/sports/2013/7/15/SASS\_0715134535.aspx?path=sass) for the full attendance and excusal policy.

General Academic Rights*Article 16

Students have the right to be informed, in a timely fashion, of proposed action to be taken against them.

Article 17

Students have the right to the redress of academic grievances through the processes provided by the university.

Article 18

Students have the right to university support and resources, such as the Office of Global Services (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ogs/>), with regard to their visa status.

Article 19

In accordance with the Northeastern University's Nondiscrimination Policy (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Equal\_Opportunity.pdf), students have the right to a learning environment free of discrimination or harassment, including as provided for in Northeastern University's Title IX Policy (<http://www.northeastern.edu/titleix/title-ix-policy-2/>).

Article 20

Northeastern University's policy on student produced intellectual property can be found under Copyrightable Materials in the Undergraduate Student Handbook.

Article 21

Students have the right of access to their academic and financial aid records and maintenance of the privacy of these records, as provided by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.

Student Responsibilities*Article 1

Contribute to a climate of open inquiry and honesty in all aspects of the university's academic life. This includes reviewing, and becoming familiar with, the Academic Integrity Policy on the OSCCR website.

Article 2

Commit sufficient time and effort for study and for use of library, studio, laboratory, and computational facilities, as appropriate for each course.

Article 3

Contribute to the classroom/laboratory/studio learning environment through discussion and active participation.

Article 4

Acquire the necessary prerequisites for full participation in each academic course.

Article 5

Attend scheduled classes regularly and on time, and arrive to class prepared, having completed all the readings and other assignments.

Article 6

Seek out faculty and teaching assistants outside of class time, to obtain help with problems encountered in a given course.

Article 7

Respect the academic freedom<sup>4</sup> of each faculty member and student.

Article 8

Assist the university in its various self-evaluations (e.g., TRACE, surveys) by responding honestly and conscientiously.

Article 9

Maintain effective communication with the university by providing permanent and local address information to the university through a system designated by the university, and by reading university email on a frequent and consistent basis.

Article 10

Act as positive representatives and genuine ambassadors of the university when studying and working in domestic and international settings associated with Northeastern University.

Article 11

Complete an entry (including itinerary, accommodation information, and contact information) using 'My Travel Plans,' located via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>) or other system as required by the university, prior to all university-sponsored travel outside of Massachusetts, including but not limited to: Study Abroad, Dialogues of Civilization, Foreign Exchange Programs like BSIB, Alternative Spring Break, Engineers without Borders, Co-op Placements outside of Massachusetts, etc.

Article 12

Complete all required activities prior to attending classes for their entrance date (including alcohol education, violence prevention programming, required reading, etc.).

Article 13

Have in their possession at all times the officially approved and properly validated photo identification card.

Students who fail to comply with these responsibilities could lose certain student privileges as well as face possible disciplinary sanctions under the Code of Student Conduct.

The student rights, through their representatives in the Student Government Association (SGA), described in these sections arise from faculty and staff employment responsibilities and obligations to the university. Northeastern University students recognize and accept that it is the sole prerogative of the university to enforce these obligations and responsibilities and to determine whether and to what extent they are being carried out or violated in specific instances. Northeastern University students recognize and accept that their ability to effect redress of complaints arising from these rights is limited to the procedures specified in the current Undergraduate Student Handbook.

The articles shall be interpreted by the Office of the Provost in conjunction with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, and shall be monitored by the Student Government Association. Further, should any student discover that they have been subject to any violation of the principles stated herein, the student should follow the appropriate complaint resolution procedure in the Undergraduate Student Handbook (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/code-of-student-conduct/>). The Student Government Association, if requested by the student, will monitor the progress of any student academic grievances.

Because the university operates on a twelve-month calendar in an urban environment, many construction, remodeling, renovation, and repair projects must take place while the university is in session, and other potential distractions from the learning process arise from the surrounding urban environment on which it is dependent but over which it exerts little or no control. Thus, though the university is committed to maintaining an appropriate learning environment for its students, Northeastern University students recognize and accept, as part of their relationship with the university, that the conditions described above may cause occasional disturbances to that environment.

Student Evaluation of Courses

Students play a critical role in the university's commitment to quality teaching and academic excellence when they participate in the evaluation of courses, an online survey students complete anonymously. Students are expected to participate in the course evaluation process with constructive feedback that is relevant to teaching and course content.

Students may access the course evaluation summary results from previous terms via the Student Hub (<https://me.northeastern.edu>). Courses with three or fewer students enrolled are not surveyed.

Student Records, Transcripts, and Related Policies

Grade Table

Grades are officially recorded by letters, evaluated as follows:

Letter Grade	Numerical Equivalent	Explanation
A	4.000	Outstanding achievement
A–	3.667
B+	3.333
B	3.000	Good achievement
B–	2.667
C+	2.333
C	2.000	Satisfactory achievement
C–	1.667
D+	1.333	Undergraduate only
D	1.000	Undergraduate only/Poor achievement
D–	0.667	Undergraduate only
F	0.000	Failure
I		Incomplete
IP		In progress
CR		Credit (School of Law only)
HH		High Honor (School of Law only)
H		Honor (School of Law only)
P		Pass (School of Law only)
NE		Not enrolled
NG		Grade not reported by faculty
S		Satisfactory (pass/fail basis; counts toward total degree requirements)
U		Unsatisfactory (pass/fail basis)
X		Incomplete (pass/fail basis)
L		Audit (no credit given)
T		Transfer
W		Course withdrawal

An I, IP, or X grade shows that the student has not completed the course requirements.

The IP grade is intended for courses that extend over several terms. The time restrictions on the incomplete grade do not apply to the IP grade. While the IP grade is left unchanged, it is not included in computing the grade-point average. If the IP grade is never changed, the course does not count toward graduation requirements.

Course Comments

The following notations may also appear on the student's transcript:

E	Course excluded from GPA
HON	Honors-level course
I	Course included in GPA

Northeastern University Course Numbering

0001–0999

Orientation and basic

No degree credit

UNDERGRADUATE

1000–1999

Introductory level (first year)

Survey, foundation, and introductory courses, normally with no prerequisites and designed primarily for students with no prior background

2000–2999

Intermediate level (sophomore/junior year)

	Normally designed for sophomores and above but in some cases open to freshman majors in the department
3000–3999	Upper-intermediate level (junior year)
	Designed primarily as courses for juniors; prerequisites are normally required, and these courses are prerequisites for advanced courses
4000–4999	Advanced level (senior year)
	Designed primarily for juniors and seniors; also includes specialized courses such as research, capstone, and thesis
GRADUATE
5000–5999	First-level graduate
	Courses primarily for graduate students and qualified undergraduate students with permission
6000–6999	Second-level graduate
	Generally for master's and clinical doctorate only
7000–7999	Third-level graduate
	Master's- and doctoral-level courses; includes master's thesis
8000–8999	Clinical/research/readings
	Includes comprehensive exam preparation
9000–9999	Doctoral research and dissertation

Clearing an Incomplete or Changing Other Grades

The period for clearing an incomplete grade or for changing a grade other than an incomplete or failure (F or U) is restricted to one calendar year from the date it is first recorded on the student's permanent record. An incomplete grade may be reported by the instructor when a student has failed to complete a major component of a required course, such as homework, a quiz or final examination, a term paper, or a laboratory project. Students may make up an incomplete grade by satisfying the requirements of the instructor or, if the instructor is absent, the chair of the department. Be aware that instructors' policies on the granting of incomplete grades may vary and that the final decision on an incomplete grade is up to the instructor.

To request an incomplete grade, the student must obtain and complete in consultation with the instructor an Incomplete-Grade Contract (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/incomplete-grade-contract/>) on which the precise agreement for clearing an incomplete grade is specified and which is signed by the student and the instructor. Copies of the form are kept by the student, the instructor, and the Office of the Dean of the college in which the course is offered. Any exception to this policy on change of grades must be recommended by the Academic Standing Committee (ASC) of the college in which the course was offered and must be forwarded in writing by the ASC to the registrar for implementation. (Finishing the agreed-upon coursework must be completed within one calendar year from the end of the term in which the course was offered.)

University policy states that any grade outstanding for 12 or more months cannot be changed. Any exception to this policy on change of grades must be recommended by the ASC of the college in which the course was offered and must be forwarded in writing by the dean to the Office of the Registrar for implementation.

Retaking Courses

When the appropriate course is available, students may retake a nonrepeatable course to earn a better grade. In all cases, the most recent grade earned in a course is the one used in calculating the overall GPA followed by the retake notation I, indicating the course grade is included in the overall GPA; however, previous grades remain on the transcript followed by the retake notation of E, signifying that that course grade has been excluded. Consult your academic advisor before retaking a course. Students are required to pay normal tuition for all retaken coursework.

When the course description for the student's registration term indicates that the course may be repeated up to a certain number of course completions, each completion of the course (up to the limit stated in the course description) will appear on the student's transcript, and the grade for each such completion will be used in the calculation of the student's overall grade-point average.

Substituting Courses

In some cases, it may not be possible to retake a course if a student wishes to do so. In unusual circumstances, students may petition to substitute one course for another they have already taken, as long as the subject matter of both courses is substantially alike. With the approval of the student's academic advisor and the agreement of the department that offered the first course taken, a grade received in the new course will be labeled "Substitute" on the transcript and will be treated in the grade-point-average calculation as a "retake" grade, as described above. The original grade will remain on the student's Northeastern transcript. Students should consult with their academic advisor before enrolling in any proposed substitute course. Students are required to pay normal tuition charges for all substitute coursework.

Clearing an Academic Deficiency

An academic deficiency occurs when a student fails to complete a course with a satisfactory grade. The deficiency may occur because the student has failed the course or because the student has passed the course but with a grade that does not meet the minimum required by the student's program.

Students who have academic deficiencies may be required to clear them before progressing within the curriculum, especially if a given course is a prerequisite for future coursework. Deficiencies may affect the student's expected year of graduation.

With the approval of the appropriate program faculty and/or academic advisor, students can clear deficiencies in the following ways:

1. Retake the same course at one of Northeastern's colleges, which will result in a "retake" grade (see "Retaking Courses" policy above).
2. Substitute a comparable course at one of Northeastern's colleges, which will result in a "retake" grade (see "Substituting Courses" policy above).
3. Under special circumstances, if the course is not currently offered at Northeastern, a student may be advised to take a preapproved course at another institution outside Northeastern. The original grade will remain on the student's Northeastern transcript and will still be used in the calculation of the GPA.

Appeal of Final Grades

Under certain circumstances, students have the right to appeal final grades given by either academic faculty or cooperative education coordinators. Criteria and procedures for such appeals are available as follows:

- For undergraduate day students: the Undergraduate Student Handbook (available at this site (<http://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/code-of-student-conduct/>))
- For College of Professional Studies undergraduate students: the Student Academic Appeals Procedures page (p. 64) within the CPS Undergraduate section of this catalog
- For graduate students: the Academic Appeals Policies and Procedures page (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/academic-policies-procedures/appeals/>) within the graduate section of this catalog.

GPA

Numerical equivalents for scholastic averages are weighted according to the number of hours the course carries. For example, suppose a student receives a grade of B in a course carrying 4 semester hours and a grade of A in a course carrying 1 semester hour. The weightings for these example courses are as follows:

Grade	Numerical Equivalent	Semester Hours	Weight
B	3.000	4	12
A	4.000	1	4
Totals:		5	16

The GPA for both courses would then be the total weight (16) divided by the total semester hours (5), or 3.200. Grades of I, IP, S, U, and X are not included in the calculation of the GPA. See Grade Table (p. 71) for a complete list of grades and numerical equivalents.

Grade Reports

Grades are available to students approximately three days after the end of each term via the Student Hub. A missing grade means that none was received from the instructor. Grades received late from faculty are processed as they are received.

Transcripts

Currently enrolled students may obtain unofficial transcripts from the Student Hub and may also order official transcripts through the Student Hub. For further information on transcript requests, visit the transcript requests webpage (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/transcript-requests/>).

Student Right-to-Know Act

For information about the Student Right-to-Know Act, visit the Office of the University Registrar's website. (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/student-right-to-know-act/>)

University Academics

- NUpath (p. 75)

Learning, Knowing, Doing, Leading

NUpath is Northeastern University's set of institutionwide general education requirements for all students in all majors. The goal of NUpath is to develop in our students the knowledge and skills to be lifelong learners with success in many careers, to be thoughtful global citizens, and to be fulfilled human beings. It offers students the flexibility to integrate general education learning into their individual educational journeys while maintaining the rigor of high standards through defined learning outcomes, making NUpath a unique tool for personalized enrichment. NUpath is competency based rather than course based. It is built around essential, broad-based knowledge and skills—such as understanding societies and analyzing and using data—integrated with specific content areas and disciplines.

NUpath requirements are met throughout a student's program of study and can be fulfilled through major, minor, or concentration requirements as well as through general electives. NUpath is required for all freshmen who entered in fall 2016 and later. It does not apply to students already admitted with a different set of core requirements or to transfer students whose entry year was earlier than the fall of 2016.

- Requirements (p. 75)
- Learning Goals (p. 76)
- Writing-Intensive Courses (p. 79)

NUpath Requirements

NUpath requirements are a set of 10 competencies designed to prepare students for personal success in an ever-evolving global society regardless of their chosen field of study. NUpath requirements are as follows:

- Engaging with the Natural and Designed World
- Exploring Creative Expression and Innovation
- Interpreting Culture
- Conducting Formal and Quantitative Reasoning
- Understanding Societies and Institutions
- Analyzing and Using Data
- Engaging Differences and Diversity
- Employing Ethical Reasoning
- Writing Across Audiences and Genres
- Demonstrating Thought and Action in a Capstone

Because NUpath is competency based rather than course based, students have many options of courses to fulfill the requirements. Students can use the Dashboard tool (<https://www.northeastern.edu/core/dashboard/?cps>) to find courses both in and beyond their major requirements that satisfy NUpath. Courses that meet major, minor, or concentration requirements can also meet NUpath requirements. There are no level restrictions or semester-hour restrictions. A single course can count for up to two of the following requirements:

- Engaging with the Natural and Designed World
- Exploring Creative Expression and Innovation
- Interpreting Culture
- Conducting Formal and Quantitative Reasoning
- Understanding Societies and Institutions
- Analyzing and Using Data
- Engaging Differences and Diversity

- Employing Ethical Reasoning

The two additional requirements (writing-intensive in the major and capstone) are not limited. So, for example, a course may have two out of the first list (such as Differences and Diversity and Societies and Institutions) and also fulfill writing-intensive in the major and capstone.

Transfer credit and placement tests can also be used to meet the NUpath attributes of the Northeastern course equivalents. Up to five of the following eight requirements can be met by transferred or placement test credits:

- Engaging with the Natural and Designed World
- Exploring Creative Expression and Innovation
- Interpreting Culture
- Conducting Formal and Quantitative Reasoning
- Understanding Societies and Institutions
- Analyzing and Using Data
- Engaging Differences and Diversity
- Employing Ethical Reasoning

Transfer credits cannot be used to fulfill the capstone or experiential requirements. Of the writing requirements (p. 79), only the first-year writing requirement can be met by transferred or placement test credits.

NUpath Learning Goals

Established and assessed learning goals ensure rigorous opportunities for students to achieve the essential skills and competencies of NUpath regardless of the context or course within which the learning occurs. Any course that meets a NUpath requirement incorporates the learning goals of that requirement. The requirement short name and/or user code is what will appear in course descriptions and student audits.

Engaging with the Natural and Designed World

Short Name: Natural and Designed World

User Code: ND

Students study and practice scientific investigation and/or engineering design in order to understand the natural world and to effect changes in it to meet human and societal needs and wants. They learn critical thinking and analytical problem solving; the biological, chemical, and/or physical principles that govern the natural world; and the efforts that underlie the origins, development, acceptance, and applications of those principles.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- Formulate a question that can be answered through investigation or a challenge that can be addressed through research or design.
- Develop and use models based on evidence to predict and show relationships among variables between systems or components of systems in the natural and/or designed world.
- Use and question scientific principles and practices to evaluate issues raised by the interplay of science, technology, and society.

Exploring Creative Expression and Innovation

Short Name: Creative Expression/Innovation

User Code: EI

Students study and practice creative expression and innovation. They learn about traditions of creative expression and innovation in any of a number of modes (texts, image, sounds, design, etc.) and products (poems, paintings, prototypes, business plans, games, apps, medical devices and procedures, etc.) and develop their own creative processes and products as a means of seeing and experiencing the world in new ways and communicating those experiences to others.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- Describe creative processes in one or more disciplines (e.g. art, business, writing, science, engineering).
- Generate an artifact (e.g., design, poem/essay, application, visualization, musical composition, product, prototype) through a creative process.

C. Evaluate experimentation, failure, and revision in the creation of innovative projects.

Interpreting Culture

Short Name: Interpreting Culture

User Code: IC

Students study and analyze cultural practices, artifacts, and texts (e.g., visual art, literature, theatrical performances, musical compositions, architectural structures). They learn critical reading and observation strategies and how traditions of theoretical, aesthetic, and/or literary criticism provide different lenses for the interpretation of cultural objects and practices.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Recognize and identify a variety of cultural practices and creations, their forms of production, and development over time.
- B. Acquire and assess techniques of interpretation (including critical reading and observation techniques), criticism, and analysis of cultural practices, texts, and/or artifacts.
- C. Formulate arguments for and against different theories and interpretations of cultural practices, texts, and/or artifacts.

Conducting Formal and Quantitative Reasoning

Short Name: Formal/Quantitative Reasoning

User Code: FQ

Students study and practice systematic formal reasoning using either the symbolic languages of mathematics and logic or the combinations of text and symbols characteristic of computer software. They learn when and how to apply formal reasoning to particular problems and subject matters.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Recognize when examination of a phenomenon or situation can benefit from problem-solving techniques and analyses that use formal reasoning.
- B. Use their expertise in some applications of formal reasoning and know when to call upon domain experts when a problem is beyond their personal expertise.
- C. Generate artifacts that require formal reasoning and planning. These artifacts might include logical proofs, mathematical computations, software, simulations, problem solutions, or plans/analyses in a variety of disciplines that require a formal, systematic component.

Understanding Societies and Institutions

Short Name: Societies and Institutions

User Code: SI

Students study and practice social science, historical, and/or literary methods of inquiry and theories in order to understand human behavior and cultural, social, political, and economic institutions, systems, and processes. They learn theories of social behavior as they relate to phenomena such as globalization, social change, and civic sustainability.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Describe current theories of how social, political, or economic institutions, systems, and processes work.
- B. Explain the historical and cultural contingency of many descriptions and explanations of human behavior, institutions, systems, and processes.
- C. Evaluate social, political, or economic theories by applying them to local and global phenomena.

Analyzing and Using Data

Short Name: Analyzing and Using Data

User Code: AD

Students study and practice methods and tools of data analysis and use. Students learn about the structure and analysis of at least one type of data (e.g., numbers, texts, documents, web data, images, videos, sounds, maps) and acquire the skills to examine, evaluate, and critique such data; extract patterns; summarize features; create visualizations; and provide insight not obvious from the raw data itself. Students also learn to be sensitive to ethical concerns associated with data: security, privacy, confidentiality, and fairness.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Describe how data may be acquired, stored, transmitted, and processed.
- B. Analyze at least one important type of data and summarize the results of an analysis in ways that provide insight.
- C. Use mathematical methods and/or computational tools to perform analysis.
- D. Evaluate and critique choices made in selection, analysis, and presentation of data.

Engaging Differences and Diversity

Short Name: Differences and Diversity

User Code: DD

Students study and practice methods for recognizing and understanding human diversity of various kinds in global, local, and organizational contexts. They learn theories and perspectives of human difference; civic sustainability and multiculturalism; how social arrangements shape and are shaped by difference; and the histories, cultures, and interactions of diverse groups.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Describe how notions of human difference have changed over time and across local and global contexts.
- B. Discuss the value in recognizing, respecting, and embracing human diversity and how diversity contributes to culture and society, including civic sustainability.
- C. Evaluate and compare two or more theories of human difference and approaches to cultivating and leveraging diversity.
- D. Connect theories of human difference and approaches to diversity to one's own experience

Employing Ethical Reasoning

Short Name: Ethical Reasoning

User Code: ER

Students study and practice methods of analyzing and evaluating the moral dimensions of situations and conduct. They learn ethical theories and frameworks; explore how conceptions of morals and ethics shape interpretation of concepts such as justice, fairness, rights and responsibilities, virtue, and the good life; and apply these to personal, professional, social, political, historical, or economic questions and situations.

LEARNING GOALS

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Describe the moral and ethical elements of an issue, problem, or situation.
- B. Explain at least two key ethical theories.
- C. Apply ethical theories to moral dilemmas and personal positions.

Writing Across Audiences and Genres

Short Name: Writing Across Audiences/Genres

User Code: WF/WD/WI

Note: This requirement is met by four courses. See more details under Writing-Intensive Courses (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/undergraduate/university-academics/nupath/writing-intensive/>).

Students study and practice writing for multiple public, academic, and professional audiences and contexts. They learn to use writing strategies, conventions, genres, technologies, and modalities (e.g., text, sounds, image, video) to communicate effectively.

Learning goals for first-year writing:

- A. Adapt writing for multiple academic, professional, and public occasions and audiences.
- B. Identify and practice writing conventions of various genres.
- C. Identify credible, relevant sources and engage and cite them appropriately in their written work.
- D. Draft, revise, and edit their writing using feedback from readers.

Learning goals for Advanced Writing in the Disciplines:

- A. Adapt writing for multiple academic, professional, and public occasions and audiences.
- B. Display familiarity with the writing conventions of genres in an academic field or profession.
- C. Identify credible, relevant sources and engage and cite them appropriately in their written work.
- D. Draft, revise, and edit their writing using feedback from readers.

Learning goals for writing-intensive courses in the major:

- A. Demonstrate facility with the writing conventions of genres in the academic field or profession.
- B. Identify credible, relevant sources and engage and cite them appropriately in their writing work.
- C. Draft, revise, and edit their writing using feedback from readers.

Integrating Knowledge and Skills Through Experience*Short Name: Integration of Experience*User Code: EX

Students study and practice the principles and strategies of experiential learning. Through direct experience and reflection on that experience, they learn to recognize and articulate their knowledge and skills, to apply the knowledge and skills they learn in one context to another context, and to determine what knowledge and skills they need to develop to meet their goals.

Learning Goals: By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- A. Apply knowledge and skills in new, authentic contexts.
- B. Gain new knowledge and develop new skills to successfully engage in unfamiliar tasks and activities.
- C. Integrate and use the deepened knowledge and skills as well as the newly gained knowledge and skills to continue to learn in their academic programs.
- D. Articulate how and what one learns across a range of contexts.

Demonstrating Thought and Action in a Capstone*Short Name: Capstone Experience*User Code: CE

Each student must take at least one course designated as a capstone experience. Capstone courses may be designed for a specific degree program, for a department, or for a college. The learning goals for a capstone will be developed by the unit that is designing the capstone. Students must complete a capstone in their major. In cases where a student has multiple majors (such as in a combined or double major), the units may specify in which major to take the capstone or may leave the choice to the student.

Writing-Intensive Courses

The faculty expects all students to become effective writers and achieve the learning goals of the Writing Across Audiences and Genres NUpath attributes. To this end, students are given opportunities to improve their writing throughout their curriculum. Learn more about the Online Writing Labs here (<https://cps.northeastern.edu/academics/online-writing-center/>).

First-Year Writing Requirement

All first-year students must satisfy a first-year writing requirement by completing one of the following courses:

Code	Title	Hours
ENG 1105 and ENG 1106	College Writing 1 and Lab for ENG 1105	4
ENG 2105 and ENG 2106	Writing Workshop and Lab for ENG 2105	4

Students must earn a C or better in the required writing course to satisfy the first-year writing requirement.

Advanced Writing Requirement

Students must satisfy the advanced writing requirement by completing one of the following courses. Transfer credit cannot be used to satisfy this requirement. Students must earn a C or better to satisfy the advanced writing requirement:

Code	Title	Hours
ENG 3105 and ENG 3106	Writing for the Professions: Science and Engineering and Lab for ENG 3105	4
ENG 3107 and ENG 3108	Writing for the Professions: Business and the Social Sciences and Lab for ENG 3107	4

Writing-Intensive Courses in the Major

Each major includes at least two additional writing-intensive courses. These courses are characterized by frequent and regular writing, assessment, and revision of student work and the opportunity for students to improve their work.

Global Pathways Program

Global Pathways is designed for academically qualified international students who need additional preparation to achieve the required English language skill level to enter a CPS (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/programs/>) graduate program or select graduate programs (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/programs/>) offered by other Northeastern University colleges. The duration of the program (one, two, or three terms) for each individual student depends on English language proficiency. Global Pathways helps international students to strengthen their academics, transition to American culture and an American classroom, and improve their English skills. After successful completion of Global Pathways and its degree progression requirements listed under each of the program pages (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/programs/>), participating international students can transfer up to 4 credits toward their master's degree in the area of their interest.

CPS Graduate Programs Entrance Requirements

- Academic record equivalent to a grade-point average of at least 2.500
- Minimum iBT score requirements:
  - Three terms = 55
  - Two terms = 61
  - One term = 74

Other Graduate Programs Entrance Requirements

To enter this Global Pathways program, you must meet each of the College of Professional Studies' established admissions requirements listed under each of the college/program pages (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/programs/>). Please note, most colleges offer one- and two-term Global Pathways, and your English language score will determine the length of your Global Pathways studies.

Program Benefits

- Select from three entry points each year: fall, spring, and summer
- Complete the program in one, two, or three terms depending on qualifications
- Benefit from academic advising, transferable credit, tutoring, and student support services and extracurricular activities
- Enjoy access to all university facilities
- Choose from a wide range of graduate degree programs
- Be guaranteed entry to a Northeastern University graduate degree program upon successful completion of Global Pathways and its degree progression requirements listed under each of the program pages (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/programs/>)

Visit the Global Pathways website (<https://international.northeastern.edu/global-pathways/>) for more information about the programs, admissions process, and curriculum.

Bachelor of Science Degree Programs

Business and Social Sciences Programs:

- Finance and Accounting Management (p. 83)
- Interdisciplinary Studies (p. 87)
- Management (p. 90)

Finance and Accounting Management, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Finance and Accounting Management degree program offers students an opportunity to obtain a broad understanding of the role that business plays in the world economy along with a strong focus on accounting and financial management. Students also take courses in the major areas of business so that, as they move into managerial positions, they have the understanding and skills to work across functional areas.

Students take courses such as financial reporting, managerial accounting, intermediate accounting, and cost accounting, as well as tax and audit. They also complete courses in the key areas in finance: corporate and managerial finance, working capital management, and investments.

Graduates may pursue careers in the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. They work in the cost accounting and budgeting areas, in short-term or long-term asset management, and in financial planning and security analysis.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Universitywide Requirement

Minimum 120 total semester hours required.

Minimum 2.000 GPA required.

Students must earn a minimum of 60 Northeastern University semester hours in order to receive a bachelor's degree.

Note: Individual program requirements may exceed the above minima.

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath requirements (p. 75).

Foundation Courses

54 semester hours required

Interdisciplinary Studies, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies allows students to design a social science-, science-, and humanities-based program of study that reflects their academic passions and strengths. Students have the unique opportunity to choose an area of academic specialization while engaging with the diverse array of disciplines—such as history, music, philosophy, literature, math, science, and psychology—that constitute a liberal studies education, while fostering practical skills essential to the workplace and graduate education—critical thinking, analysis of large bodies of information, problem solving, and effective written communication.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Universitywide Requirement

Minimum 120 total semester hours required.

Minimum 2.000 GPA required.

Students must earn a minimum of 60 Northeastern University semester hours in order to receive a bachelor's degree.

Note: Individual program requirements may exceed the above minima.

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath requirements (p. 75).

The NUpath requirement Creative Expression/Innovation (EI) is not explicitly satisfied by required courses in the curriculum at this time. Students are responsible for satisfying this requirement, and if this is not fulfilled in required major courses, they should use general electives to do so.

No more than 27 total credits of business courses (ACC, FIN, MGT, MKT) are permitted for the degree.

Management, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Management program is designed to equip students to dive into the world of business with real-world, experiential opportunities to develop the skills they will need to manage resources, solve problems, and oversee staff on a daily basis. The program provides the opportunity for students to acquire the tools needed to respond effectively to complex business challenges, including accounting, business strategy, law, marketing, communications, project management, international business, and entrepreneurship. The coursework is flexible, and students can adjust their academic program to meet the demands of their schedules. From the fundamental principles of management to the critical questions of diversity, corporate responsibility, and the impacts of globalization, this program provides both the theoretical background and the practical proficiency needed to succeed.

The program also provides students with an opportunity to focus on the industry or skill set that most interests them by selecting electives offered in a variety of business disciplines or by choosing among the program's optional concentrations. Graduates of this program work as management analysts, human resource budget analysts, cost estimators, market and survey researchers, operations research analysts, and more.

This bachelor's degree completion program is online and is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB (<https://www.aacsb.edu/accreditation/>)).

Analytics, BS

Analytics is an increasingly important skillset utilized in a wide range of occupations and more frequently in Analyst specific positions, and is projected to increase faster than the average growth rate across all occupations from 2018 to 2028.

Employers seeking analytics professionals with “moderate” levels of data analysis skills - typically positions at the bachelor's level – most often prefer candidates with Analytics as a field of study. Skills frequently required in candidates are data analysis and the ability to interpret and communicate data analysis results to others, problem solving, mastery of spreadsheets, analysis tools, statistical software, relational databases as well as programming language. The general demand for Teamwork/Collaboration and Project Management reflects the need for employers to find analytics professionals with general business skills which can be used in a variety of function areas.

The Bachelor of Science in Analytics (BSA) helps to meet the demand from employers with an undergraduate program and entry level education requirements that prepares learners as data analyst practitioners capable of applying data analysis methods, technological, professional, and strategic expertise necessary for supporting decision making in organizations. With emphasis on experiential learning, the program provides dynamic opportunities for learners with varying degrees of work experience to practice their knowledge both globally and collaboratively while implementing effective data analysis concepts to real-life company demands.

The BSA has general foundation courses (including mathematical and philosophical logic), specific data analysis foundation courses, major required courses (such as Introduction to Analytics, Predictive Analytics, Introduction to Programming, Data Visualization and Communication, Data Warehousing, SQL and Data Mining), as well as a variety of elective courses on diverse domain areas.

Graduates of the BSA will have the opportunity to demonstrate their range and depth of skill to

- Investigate theories, tools, and approaches in data analytics to identify and communicate data-driven insights for informed decision-making.
- Articulate and defend the significance and implications of the work in data analytics in terms of challenges and trends in a local, national or global context.
- Complete a project that requires the application of the principles, tools and methods of analytics to a comprehensive real-world problem.
- Apply the principles, tools and methods of analytics to a project within a sponsoring organization to assist with the extraction, development, delivery, and/or translation/implementation of data analysis for tactical and/or strategic decision-making.

Biological Science, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Biological Science program is designed for students who wish to pursue a science-based career or continue their education by obtaining a graduate degree in a health- or science-related field. The program offers the mathematical, chemical, and physical background necessary for understanding biology along with the oral and written communication, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills necessary for success in the workplace. The program fosters a basic understanding of the organization and the processes of life, from molecules and cells through organs and organ systems to populations, species, ecosystems, and evolution. Graduates of the program pursue careers in areas such as research and development or sales and marketing in biological and pharmaceutical companies. Students may also choose to continue their education in graduate or medical school.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Biotechnology, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Biotechnology seeks to prepare graduates for entry-level positions in diverse occupations within the biotechnology industry. Building on a strong foundation of liberal arts and sciences, courses focus on state-of-the-art biotechnology principles and delivery. The curriculum promotes effective oral and written communications skills, critical thinking, and problem solving to promote professional competency in a variety of high-tech industries related to pharmaceutical manufacturing, vaccine production, medical device creation and fabrication, clinical drug and medical device trials, and governmental regulatory agency oversight.

Graduates of the biotechnology program pursue careers in bench research and development, regulatory affairs, sales and marketing, public relations, or communications at domestic and international biotechnology-related companies or governmental organizations.

Digital Communication and Media, BS

The Bachelors of Science in Digital Communication and Media prepares students for jobs in the expanding market for digital based communications. Students are exposed to the digital channels and technology at the core of today's positions in corporate and marketing communications.

Students start with foundation courses in such areas as English and Ethics. These are followed by major course selections in Management, Marketing, and Visual Media.

Students then move to the heart of the program to develop digital competencies. These courses cover communication research methods, digital communication strategy, and inbound marketing fundamentals. From here, students enter a unique virtual public relations firm to design, implement, and manage a digital communication campaign for a real-world client.

Successful graduates of the program should possess the competencies for digital communication jobs in a wide range of fields, including corporations, public relations and marketing agencies, and nonprofit organizations.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Universitywide Requirement

Minimum 120 total semester hours required.

Minimum 2.000 GPA required.

Students must earn a minimum of 60 Northeastern University semester hours in order to receive a bachelor's degree.

Note: Individual program requirements may exceed the above minima.

NUpath Requirements

All undergraduate students are required to complete the NUpath requirements (p. 75).

NUpath requirements Understanding Societies and Institutions (SI) and Natural and Designed World (ND) are not explicitly satisfied by required courses in the curriculum at this time. Students are responsible for satisfying these requirements, and if these are not fulfilled in required major courses, they should use general electives to do so.

Health Science, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Health Science seeks to help develop competent professionals who combine a solid understanding of the science underlying healthcare with the principles of healthcare management. Courses in biology, microbiology, chemistry, pharmacology, and pathophysiology provide an understanding of the science of the human body. These courses may be combined with courses in the management of healthcare organizations; health law; public health; or, for students interested in a medical career, additional science courses.

The program seeks to provide preparation for a career in healthcare management in a community, hospital, or private-sector setting or for graduate school for advanced training in areas such as medicine, nursing, and public health.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Healthcare Administration, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Administration seeks to foster an understanding of management-related concepts in the health industry. The degree offers students an opportunity to learn from experienced professionals how to effectively use communication, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills and techniques to establish competency in the principles relating to the operational, financial, and regulatory management of a health setting.

Students pursue coursework in healthcare operations and systems, healthcare law and policy, and the financial and regulatory aspects of healthcare management.

Successful graduates of the program are prepared to pursue a wide range of careers in the management of healthcare systems in community, hospital, and private-sector healthcare settings.

Information Technology, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Information Technology focuses on the skills and knowledge needed to promote career advancement and pursue advanced degrees in information technology and to provide the critical-thinking and information technology skills needed by local, national, and global employers.

Students have the opportunity to develop strengths in the analysis, applied design, development, implementation, and management of modern information technology systems. Courses cover the critical technology areas of programming for traditional, web, and mobile applications and for networking, database, and information security. The curriculum also includes courses focused on key business areas needed to integrate and manage technology and technology projects in the workplace.

Students may develop the technical and problem-solving skills that allow them to pursue careers in the professional areas of applications development, web and multimedia design, systems and network administration, database administration, and business analysis.

Mechatronics, BS

The Bachelor of Science in Mechatronics is designed to provide students with an interdisciplinary set of skills that will enable them to successfully compete in today's fast-changing manufacturing environment. The program is designed to equip students with the knowledge and relevant experience in the four major areas that compose mechatronics and to help students play key roles in the Fourth Industrial Revolution—mechanical systems, electrical systems, control systems, and computer engineering. Successful graduates will understand in-depth the engineering fundamentals, the related technologies, and their integration in robotic and mechatronic devices and automation systems.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Universitywide Requirement

Minimum 120 total semester hours required.

Minimum 2.000 GPA required.

Students must earn a minimum of 60 Northeastern University semester hours in order to receive a bachelor's degree.

Note: Individual program requirements may exceed the above minima.

NUpath Requirements

Project Management, BS

Program Mission—The Bachelor of Science in Project Management in the College of Professional Studies provides students opportunities to apply project management processes; foundational knowledge; and the technical, professional, and strategic expertise necessary to lead projects successfully from inception to completion. With emphasis on experiential learning, the program provides dynamic opportunities for learners with varying degrees of work experience to practice their knowledge within each course and beyond the classroom while implementing traditional and innovative project management concepts to real-life and complex projects. Courses align to all three components of the PMI Talent Triangle,<sup>1</sup> which encompasses technical project management skills, leadership-related skills, and strategic and business acumen and skills.

The increasingly important role of project managers is becoming clear as companies orient more of their work in a projectized fashion. This has been made evident through the creation of industry certifications, such as the Project Management Professional (PMP®) and the Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM®) credential by the Project Management Institute.<sup>2</sup>

PMI's Job Growth and Talent Gap, 2017–2027, notes that on an annual basis, there will be the demand to fill 2.2 million new project-management-oriented jobs worldwide per year through 2027.<sup>3</sup> The Bachelor of Science in Project Management program seeks to provide learners with the tools, techniques, and interdisciplinary skills necessary to work successfully in any environment. Students in this program have an opportunity to train in those skills that are most critical to their success: project management processes and tools, financial analysis, strategic and leadership skills, and communication skills and strategies.

Psychology, BS

The psychology degree at the College of Professional Studies is designed to prepare students with the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed to serve individuals, groups, organizations, and communities in the 21st century.

The degree provides students with a strong foundational knowledge within the discipline of psychology, including relevant theory and research that promotes social consciousness and intellectual and interpersonal growth. With an emphasis on scientific thinking, ethical behavior, and respect for diversity, students are offered an opportunity to cultivate insight about human behaviors and mental processes and demonstrate concern for the well-being of their surrounding and global communities. Students can opt to major or minor in the degree and choose from specific tracks preparing for careers in applied behavioral analysis and work across a wide range of settings and populations, including educational and clinical settings.

Accounting, Undergraduate Certificate

The certificate program in accounting seeks to provide a broad base of knowledge in accounting principles, including how to compile, analyze, and prepare critical business and financial records. The program is well suited for those who are interested in improving their accounting skills for a current management or bookkeeping position or for those who are seeking an entry-level position in the accounting field.

Students enrolled in the Bachelor of Science in Finance and Accounting degree program are not eligible for this certificate program. A maximum of 12 semester hours of course work may be transferred into the program.

Advanced Accounting, Undergraduate Certificate

The certificate program in advanced accounting is designed for those individuals who already possess an understanding of accounting principles and would like to prepare for an accounting-related career such as auditing, financial analysis, taxation, budgeting and control, cost accounting, or asset management.

This program can be paired with additional course work to meet the minimum CPA educational requirements for those possessing an approved bachelor's degree and meeting all other CPA exam requirements. In addition, the certificate provides nonaccounting managers with a solid foundation in accounting practices relative to new legislation that requires executives to be responsible for the financial statements and internal controls of their organizations.

Students enrolled in the Bachelor of Science in Finance and Accounting Management degree program are not eligible for this certificate program.

Analytics, Undergraduate Certificate

The certificate in analytics is designed to assist and inform students looking to change careers or to upskill the current workforce in appropriate industries. The certificate is designed to meet the needs of people currently working in finance, accounting, system networking, computer programming, or related fields who will benefit professionally by developing skills in data analytics. The curriculum offers students an opportunity to obtain a basic understanding of data literacy; data structure; and management, statistical literacy, and analytical thinking. Credits earned toward the certificate may be used to satisfy the requirements of a bachelor's degree in the College of Professional Studies.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses and requirements listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Healthcare Administration, Undergraduate Certificate

The Certificate in Healthcare Administration is designed to assist learners looking to change careers and upskill the current workforce in the healthcare industry. Additionally, this certificate creates a formal way for learners in other bachelor's degree programs, such as management and analytics, to specialize in the healthcare field. The certificate is designed to meet the needs of people currently working in healthcare, finance, technology, management, policy, or related fields who will benefit professionally by developing skills in healthcare administration. The curriculum provides learners with a basic understanding of organizational communication, public health, health law and regulation, healthcare operations, and human resource management.

Credits earned in this certificate may be used to satisfy some of the degree requirements of the Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Administration. For further information, see Seeking More Than One Certificate or Degree (p. 9).

Pre-Medical Studies, Post-Baccalaureate Undergraduate Certificate

If you already hold an undergraduate degree in a science discipline and are interested in pursuing a career in medicine, the the Postbaccalaureate in Premedical certificate may be ideal for you. Enabling you to enhance your existing academic record by completing premedical courses, this innovative program prepares you to successfully apply to a medical, dental, osteopathic, nursing, or other program to prepare for a career in a health professional field.

Designed for students who require all or most of the basic premedical courses, this program offers one-on-one advising, tutoring, success coaching, and other academic support services.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Designed to enhance and build on your previous academic record through additional premedical course work, this postbaccalaureate certificate covers concepts in biology, chemistry, and physics. You will have the opportunity to tailor your learning experience by choosing from optional electives in human anatomy, microbiology, genetics, cell biology, immunology, endocrinology, biochemistry, statistics, emergency medical technician (EMT) basics, and calculus. As a result of your learning experience, you will be well equipped to apply to medical, dental, osteopathic, or a health professional school.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Students should check with the school(s) and programs of their choice to determine which courses they need to apply for admittance. Additional work in biology, the behavioral sciences, clinical experience, or research experience may be recommended by different schools.

Undergraduate Minors

Eligibility Requirements for Bachelor's Degree Minors

An undergraduate minor requires a minimum of 15 but no more than 18 semester hours of undergraduate-level coursework. You may choose from the undergraduate minors below, and your completed minor will appear on your academic transcript.

If you do not declare a minor at the time of application for admission, you will need to complete the appropriate minor form in consultation with your designated academic and student support specialist.

Eligibility Requirements

- The student must be accepted or enrolled in a bachelor's degree program.
- The program of study for the student's major and minor cannot be the same where the requirements for the minor are a subset of requirements in the major, e.g., a BS student with a biology major cannot enroll in the biology minor; a BS student with a management major cannot enroll in the business minor.
- The student must fulfill all requirements for the minor and degree concurrently and may not extend their program of study to complete a minor. However, courses used to fulfill requirements for the minor may also be used to complete undergraduate degree requirements.
- The student may declare their intent to pursue a minor at time of application for admission or after acceptance as an enrolled student, up until the beginning of their last term of enrollment. It is strongly encouraged that a student who wishes to pursue an undergraduate minor begin planning early and to consult with their designated academic and student support specialist.
- The student may apply to pursue up to two undergraduate minors.
- The student must adhere to the curriculum of the undergraduate minor(s) for which they have been approved. If the student wishes to request a course substitution to fulfill requirements of an undergraduate minor, they must seek prior approval through their designated academic and student support specialist. If the student does not complete the courses as prescribed in the curriculum and did not seek prior approval for an exception, such actions could lead to the minor not appearing on the student's transcript.
- The student may apply up to 6 semester hours of transfer credits toward an undergraduate minor.

Accelerated Bachelor/Graduate Degree Programs

The College of Professional Studies offers a number of bachelor's/graduate degree programs that allow students to accelerate the attainment of the graduate degree by applying graduate credits taken as an undergraduate toward both the undergraduate and graduate degrees. Degrees are earned sequentially, with the bachelor's degree attainment followed by coursework to complete the graduate degree. See additional information on accelerated bachelor/graduate degree programs (<https://registrar.northeastern.edu/article/plusone-program-accelerated-bachelorgraduate-degree-programs/>).

General Information

The Northeastern University Catalog contains the university's primary statements about approved academic programs and degree requirements, as authorized by the president or the Board of Trustees.

The Northeastern University Catalog contains current information about the university calendar, admissions, degree requirements, fees, and regulations; however, such information is not intended and should not be regarded to be contractual. Course information was current as of June 17, 2022. For updated course information, students and advisors should consult the Banner course catalog (<https://nubanner.neu.edu/StudentRegistrationSsb/ssb/term/termSelection/?mode=courseSearch>).

ACCREDITATION

Please visit the Accreditation (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/appendix/statements-accreditation/>) page of this catalog for details of Northeastern University's accreditation status.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Northeastern University permits its students to inspect their records wherever appropriate and to challenge specific parts of them when they feel it is necessary to do so. Specific details of the law as it applies to Northeastern are discussed in this section of the catalog (<http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/academic-policies-procedures/ferpa/>).

PERSISTENCE RATES UNDER THE STUDENT RIGHT-TO-KNOW ACT

TUITION DEFAULT POLICY

In cases where the student defaults on their tuition, the student shall be liable for the outstanding tuition and all reasonable associated collection costs incurred by the university, including attorneys' fees.

NONDISCRIMINATION POLICIES

Northeastern University is committed to providing a living, learning, and working environment free from discrimination and harassment and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, genetic information, sex, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, national origin, ancestry, disability, or veteran status in admission to, access to, treatment in, or employment in its programs and activities. The university will not tolerate any conduct that violates rights guaranteed by law, or any of the university policies that prohibit discrimination, including the Policy on Equal Opportunity (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Equal\_Opportunity.pdf), Policy Prohibiting Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_Prohibiting\_Sexual\_and\_Gender-Based\_Harassment.pdf), Policy on Rights and Responsibilities Under Title IX (https://cpb-us-w2.wpmucdn.com/sites.northeastern.edu/dist/b/620/files/2020/09/Policy\_on\_Rights\_and\_Responsibilities\_Under\_Title\_IX.pdf), and the Policy on Non-Fraternization (https://www.northeastern.edu/policies/pdfs/Policy\_on\_Non-Fraternization.pdf). Furthermore, university policy also includes prohibitions of retaliation for filing complaints of discrimination with the Office for University Equity and Compliance. Links to the university's nondiscrimination policies and its grievance procedures are available at the OUEC (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>). Inquiries regarding the university's nondiscrimination policies may be directed to:

Office for University Equity and Compliance (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>)

Northeastern University
Boston, Massachusetts 02115
617.373.4644
ouec@northeastern.edu

The university strongly encourages any person to report information relating to alleged discrimination or harassment to the OUEC (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>) by completing the form available here (https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?NortheasternUniv&layout\_id=7) or through any of the contact options listed above. OUEC's policies, as well as other helpful information, can be found at the OUEC website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ouec/>).

DISABILITY RESOURCE CENTER

The Disability Resource Center provides a variety of disability-related services and accommodations to Northeastern University's students with disabilities.

Northeastern University's compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 are coordinated by the senior director of the Disability Resource Center. Persons requiring information regarding the Disability Resource Center should contact the center at 617.373.2675 or drc@northeastern.edu.

CLERY ACT

Northeastern University is committed to assisting all members of the university community in providing for their own safety and security. Information regarding campus security and personal safety, including topics such as crime prevention, university police law enforcement authority, crime reporting policies, crime statistics for the most recent three-year period, and disciplinary procedures, is available in the Annual Security & Fire Safety Reports, located on the NUPD website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/annual-reports/>).

EMERGENCY INFORMATION

The university is prepared to respond to emergencies and urgent situations that require immediate action with a trained team of police officers, EMTs, health and counseling experts, student affairs and residential life staff, and other professionals from a coordinated group that is able to manage a wide range of potential situations.

In case of emergency or crisis situations that require immediate notification, university officials will deploy the NU Alert system, which sends email, voice mail, and text messages to students, faculty, and staff. NU Alert is intended to communicate pertinent information and, when appropriate, provide directions to those in the affected area(s).

A record of past Timely Warning and NU Alert Emergency Notifications for our campus community can be found on the NUPD website (<https://nupd.northeastern.edu/safety-notifications/>).

Examples of crisis situations range from snowstorms to national emergencies that have a local impact.

MISSION STATEMENT

To educate students for a life of fulfillment and accomplishment.

To create and translate knowledge to meet global and societal needs.

Accreditation

Northeastern University has maintained its status as a member in good standing of the New England Commission of Higher Education, Inc. (NECHE), previously New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC), since it was awarded its initial accreditation in 1940. The university was last reviewed by NECHE in 2018 and will be reviewed again in fall 2028.

Northeastern University possesses degree-granting authority in Massachusetts, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education.

Campus Locations and Regulatory Agencies

In addition to accreditation by the New England Commission of Higher Education, Northeastern University is regulated by local authorities for its global campus network locations. These agencies are as follows:

- Arlington, Virginia
  - State Council of Higher Education for Virginia
- Charlotte, North Carolina
  - Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina
- Portland, Maine
  - Maine State Board of Education
- Oakland, California
  - Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education
- San Francisco, California
  - Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education
- San Jose, California
  - Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education
- Seattle, Washington
  - Washington Student Achievement Council
- Toronto, Ontario, Canada
  - Ministry of Colleges and Universities
- Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada
  - Ministry of Advanced Education and Skills Training

VIRGINIA

Northeastern has processes in place to ensure that student grievances are treated with respect and addressed in a fair and professional manner. Students can report concerns to the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution (<https://www.northeastern.edu/osccr/>) or the University Ombuds (<https://provost.northeastern.edu/ombuds/>). At the Arlington campus, students can contact the on-site student support specialist or the campus principal.

If a student's problem has not been resolved in pursuance of the Northeastern grievance policy, they may contact the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia. SCHEV representatives can be reached via telephone at (804) 225-2600; via fax at (804) 225-2604; at this website (<https://www.schev.edu/index/students-and-parents/resources/student-complaints/>); or by mail at 101 N. 14th Street, 10th Floor, James Monroe Building, Richmond, VA 23219.

NORTH CAROLINA

Northeastern has been evaluated by the University of North Carolina and is licensed to conduct higher education degree activity in the state. The university's guaranty bond for unearned prepaid tuition is on file with the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina and the Office of the General Counsel at Northeastern. North Carolina students may view a copy of the Tuition Guaranty Bond by contacting Northeastern's Risk Services at 716 Columbus Avenue (Columbus Place), Suite 301 CP, Boston, MA 02120.

If students are unable to resolve a complaint offered by the Northeastern grievance procedures, they can submit a complaint through the online student complaint form at <https://studentcomplaints.northcarolina.edu/form> (<https://studentcomplaints.northcarolina.edu/form/>), or by mail to North Carolina Post-Secondary Education Complaints, 140 Friday Center Drive, Chapel Hill, NC, 27517. <https://www.northcarolina.edu/post-secondary-education-complaints/>.

CALIFORNIA

Any questions a student may have regarding this catalog that have not been satisfactorily answered by the institution may be directed to the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education (<http://www.bppe.ca.gov>), 1747 N. Market Blvd. Ste 225, Sacramento, CA 95834; P.O. Box 980818, West Sacramento, CA, 95798-0818, (888) 370-7589, or by fax (916) 263-1897.

NOTICE CONCERNING TRANSFERABILITY OF CREDITS AND CREDENTIALS EARNED AT OUR INSTITUTION

The transferability of credits you earn at Northeastern is at the complete discretion of an institution to which you may seek to transfer. Acceptance of the degree you earn in the educational program is also at the complete discretion of the institution to which you may seek to transfer. If the credits or degree that you earn at this institution are not accepted at the institution to which you seek to transfer, you may be required to repeat some or all of your coursework at that institution. For this reason you should make certain that your attendance at this institution will meet your educational goals. This may include contacting an institution to which you may seek to transfer after attending Northeastern to determine if your credits or degree will transfer.

WASHINGTON

Northeastern is authorized by the Washington Student Achievement Council and meets the requirements and minimum educational standards established for degree-granting institutions under the Degree-Granting Institutions Act. This authorization is subject to periodic review and authorizes Northeastern to offer specific degree programs. The council may be contacted for a list of currently authorized programs. Authorization by the council does not carry with it an endorsement by the council of the institution or its programs. Any person desiring information about the requirements of the act or the applicability of those requirements to the institution may contact the council at P.O. Box 43430, Olympia, WA 98504-3430 or by email at degreeauthorization@wsac.wa.gov.

The transferability of credits earned at Northeastern is at the discretion of the receiving college, university, or other educational institution. Students considering transferring to any institution should not assume that credits earned in any program of study at Northeastern will be accepted by the receiving institution. Similarly, the ability of a degree, certificate, diploma, or other academic credential earned at Northeastern to satisfy an admission requirement of another institution is at the discretion of the receiving institution. Accreditation does not guarantee credentials or credits earned at Northeastern will be accepted by or transferred to another institution. To minimize the risk of having to repeat coursework, students should contact the receiving institution in advance for evaluation and determination of transferability of credits and/or acceptability of degrees, diplomas, or certificates earned. The Washington Student Achievement Council has authority to investigate student complaints against specific schools. WSAC may not be able to investigate every student complaint. Visit <http://www.wsac.wa.gov/student-complaints> (<http://www.wsac.wa.gov/student-complaints/>) for information regarding the WSAC complaint process.
